Message to the Teacher

You are about to explore, with your students, the beauty and diversity of the Cree language and culture. The Cree people are the largest First Nations group in Canada, with over 80,000 Cree speakers. A significant number of Métis also speak Cree.

Cree-speaking people are spread over a vast geographic area, so there is a remarkable diversity in the language. Any language spoken over a large area develops regional differences in pronunciation, vocabulary and grammar. Adaptations of the language materials in this Guide may need to be made for your community.

Your students need to be aware that Cree speakers have political and economic advantages, both at regional and national levels, in being able to communicate in more than one language. Cree is also now accepted at several Canadian universities and colleges for second language entrance requirements in certain faculties.
Encouraging authentic voices in the classroom is crucial to the success of this language program. Whenever possible, use Elders and other community Cree speakers to enrich the language learning. Having students interact with other Cree speakers helps students bring their language knowledge out of the classroom and into the realm of communication.

Language learning and retention takes place through using the language. Students need to hear, speak and communicate in the language to maintain the language. Therefore, it is important to involve parents and community resources to build a supportive relationship for Cree language learning. Most of all, as a teacher, model using Cree as much as possible.

Please familiarize yourself with the important information in this introduction. It will help you implement a successful Cree language and culture program in your classroom.

Cree Worldview

Ka-kî-kiskêyihtêtan ôma, namoya kînwês mâka aciyowês pohko ôma ôta ka-hayayak wasêtam askihk, êkwa ka-kakwêy miskêtân kiskêyihtamowin, iyinisiwin, kisiyitowin, mîna nânisitotâtowin kakiya ayisîniwak, êkosi ôma kakiya ka-wahkôtowak.

Realize that we as human beings have been put on this earth for only a short time and that we must use this time to gain wisdom, knowledge, respect and understanding for all human beings, since we are all relatives.

– Cree proverb

The Cree, Nêhiyaw, worldview is not a polarized view but a holistic view. It is not this or that, it is this and that. It holds that all life forms are interconnected and that life is sacred. Human beings are not at the top of a ladder but are one part of a sacred circle. Emotional, physical, mental and spiritual realms are not separate but are recognized as part of the whole.

Traditionally, responsibility within the Nêhiyaw culture primarily involved contributing to the well-being and success of the group—the family, extended family and community. Leadership was developed through service to the community; cooperation and helping others was crucial to survival. Traditional Nêhiyaw culture still revolves around the connection to Mother Earth and the relationship with family and community.

The concept of Mother Earth in the Cree worldview not only encompasses the land but also all of the animals, minerals, rocks, plant life and all of its interconnectedness with humans. Cree people do not use the products and materials of Mother Earth as commodities, but instead regard them as relatives and treat them with utmost respect.
Four aspects common to Mother Earth in the Cree worldview that can be honoured in the classroom are:

- the interconnectedness of all things
- connection to the land and community
- the dynamic and changing nature of the world
- strength that develops in power with, not power over.

Language proceeds from the worldview of a culture. The Nêhiyaw worldview and philosophy is imbedded in the language and culture. This is also evident in the pedagogy or ways of learning.

Many aspects of the Circle of Life contain sacred knowledge. To explore the circle in Cree, it is necessary to consult with an Elder in your community.
Cree Values

The underlying foundation for all elements of this Cree Language and Culture Nine-year Program Guide to Implementation, Grades 4–5–6 is Cree values—those viewpoints and ways of being that characterize the Cree way of life. They are as important today in educating students in the Cree language and culture as they have ever been.

The most important value incorporates the worldview that God, Creator, Kisêmanitow, Omâmâwohtawêmâw—the higher power called many names in Cree prayers—permeates all activities in life. In the Community Membership section of each grade level, this is expressed as an overarching value in the outcome “Students will live (wâjwêtina(hk) (peacefully) with Kikâwînaw Askiy (Mother Earth*), others and themselves, guided by Omâmawi Ohtâwîmâw (the Creator*).”

Cree values are spiritual in nature and not necessarily religious, although one can practise spirituality through religion. The underlying Cree spiritual values in education is an issue to be dealt with by each education authority or jurisdiction of the community.

These values mark the Cree worldview and concern for Mother Earth. They underpin the way the Cree expect people to act in the world. These values are fundamental to the way Cree parents, Elders and the Cree community intend their children to be brought up and educated.

The primary Cree values are:

- Wâhkôhtowin – kinship
- Miyo wîcêhtôwin – getting along together
- Mâmahwohkâmâtowin – working cooperatively
- Manâtisiwin and manâhcihitowin – respect for self and respect for each other
- Pikiskwêstamowêwin – speaking on behalf of others
- Kiskinwahasimôwêwin – accepting guidance
- Kiskanowapâhkêwin – a keen sense of observation
- Nanahihtamowîwin – obedience, to listen with an open heart
- Kisêwâtisiwin – compassion, loving kindness
- Tâpwêwin and kanâcîsowin – honesty and clean living
- Wîcihitowîwin – sharing
- Okihtowihîwêwin – generosity
- Tapâtêyimisôwin and èkakistêyimisowin – humility.

First and foremost is the concept of Kinship or Wâhkôhtowin. Who is your family? Wâhkôhtowin involves respect for one another and a way of interacting. This is often dictated by how you are related to others, especially in small Cree communities.

From Wâhkôhtowin or Kinship flow other key values. Getting along together or Miyo wîcêhtôwin is what makes a community work, and the way we get along together is by working together cooperatively or Mâmahwohkâmâtowin, meaning that people help each other. This occurs in the community and with students in the classroom. In cooperative learning, students work together in pairs, small groups or as a class, learning more from that process and from trusting one another than from doing something alone. This is learning in which positive feedback, not negative, is given; in which competition, if it exists, is friendly and does not involve a win for one person or group, and a loss for another; in which students are encouraged to take risks only when they are ready, and not before.

Respect, with its many shades of meaning (Manâhcîhitowîn, Manâtsîwin and Kîhcêyihtowîn), is one of the most highly regarded values in the Nêhiyaw culture and drives every aspect of relationships, whether they are traditional kinships to each other and Mother Earth or more modern personal friendships and professional associations. Showing respect for self, all people and every living thing is an important value to share with the world. Respect should be seen in the classroom and must reflect the way respect is seen in the community. Specific examples include listening attentively, keeping quiet, sitting silently without fidgeting, greeting Elders appropriately and answering when requested.

A Nêhiyaw value that is rapidly being lost is the value of humility or humbleness—Tapâtéyîmisîwîn or Namôyà kîstêyîmisîwîn. In traditional Cree culture, you do not speak about your accomplishments. You do not need to boast or brag about what you have done; you let your life speak for itself. You also wait to speak until someone asks you to speak. Included within the value of humility is the praising of other people’s work and accomplishments. Humility is also connected with Nanahíhtamowîn—obedience and listening with an open heart.

Pikiskwêstamowêwîn is speaking on behalf of other people. Leaders and Elders use it in advocacy—speaking on behalf of others or speaking to the Creator in prayer. It is used in kinship relations and negotiations. In the classroom, this may appear as shyness. A student may have the expectation that another older student or those with more authority should speak on his or her behalf when asking for permission or for a favour. This value is not appreciated by modern culture, where people are expected to speak for themselves.

The value of sharing is expressed in various Cree communities as Wîcîhitowîn, Pahkwênamâtowîn-wîcîhitowîn or Nîsohkamâtowîn. Sharing food is a common outward expression and also ties in with generosity—Okihtowîhiwêwîn.

Kisêwâtisiwîn is compassion and loving kindness, a value that Elders make part of their highest goals.

Cree values focus on a keen sense of observation—Kiskanowapâhkêwîn—about the world around us. This observation may last longer than is acceptable in school situations and must be accommodated and facilitated in the Cree language and culture classroom as a valid way of learning. As students, as community members, as Elders, the Cree gather information about what is seen, then draw conclusions about it without making assumptions or rushing to judge. This characteristic is fully supported by another value—the ability to ask for, receive and accept guidance (Kiskinwahasimôwêwîn) from parents, Elders, teachers and other members of the community.
Nêhiyaw Pedagogy

Traditional Cree pedagogy—methods of teaching and ways of knowing and learning—is based on the principle of oneness with nature. It is a holistic approach that encourages the idea that everything interconnects. It involves mutual respect, attention and the desire to learn. It is important to view the classroom as an extension of this philosophy and as a vibrant part of the community.

The language used in the classroom needs to be inclusive, gentle and encouraging. Traditional Nêhiyaw education took place in small groups with extended family and community involvement. Teaching and learning involved observation, listening, modelling and demonstration with multi-sensory and hands-on experiences. It was daily task-based learning that engaged children’s curiosity. It was Kiskonohamâsôwin, encouraging critical thinking in which children listened, observed and analyzed a task until they felt ready to do it themselves. Oral tradition was highly developed in Cree culture in comparison to modern European cultures, where teaching and learning is often based largely on written material.

From an early age, Cree children were taught the art of listening and remembering. Oral tradition and memory development helped people to become self-reliant in a land where one mistake could cost them their lives. Children learned how to survive in their environment by listening to the stories of the Elders (Kih téyâyak).

Traditional pedagogy relied on the idea, “If children ask, they are ready to know.” Children went to Kih téyâyak and community adults to gain knowledge and skills in areas where they were interested and willing to learn. Children were also invited by Kih téyâyak to come and listen and observe, as Kih téyâyak and parents sensed when a child was ready and needed certain knowledge. In line with Kiskonohamâsôwin, the Kih téyâyak and community adults balanced education between instructing the children and providing enough information for children to learn for themselves.

In the classroom, having students help decide what they wish to learn fits closely with Cree pedagogy. The teacher sets the learning environment by planning ahead and being fully prepared. Instruction builds on what students already know and what they are curious about. Units and lessons are planned but open to student input. This task-based learning underscores the current educational philosophy and traditional Cree pedagogy of focusing on student needs, abilities and interests.

Cree communities view curriculum development and pedagogy as a means of promoting relevant and successful experiences for Cree students in any school system. The policy paper Indian Control of Indian Education, 1972, written by the National Indian Brotherhood/Assembly of First Nations, states:

Unless a child learns about the forces which shape him: the history of his people, their values and customs, their language, he will never really know himself or his potential as a human being. Indian culture and values have a unique place in the history of mankind. The Indian child who learns about his heritage will be proud of it. The lessons he learns in school, his whole school experience, should reinforce and contribute to the image he has of himself as an Indian.
Oral Tradition

In Nêhiyaw culture, oral tradition has been the most important method for passing information and knowledge from one generation to another. Students need to be taught to value and respect oral tradition.

The initial lesson in oral pedagogy was to respect the teacher and storyteller by learning how to listen (mental awareness). The lessons would be in an environment conducive to learning (physical). The place of learning would be safe and caring (emotional) with proper protocols relating to Mother Earth—humans, animals, plants, rocks—and the Creator (spiritual).

Storytellers have always been respected within traditional Nêhiyaw culture. Storytellers carry within their stories the legends, spiritual truths and history of the Cree people. Stories pass on the values and beliefs that are important to Cree people and preserve the language. Storytellers speak from the heart and the listener listens from the heart. In traditional oral cultures, children who show an aptitude start their training in the art of storytelling at an early age.

There are many types of stories. Sacred stories are only told in the winter unless special permission is given through ritual and ceremony. Some stories are short with a particular ending or moral and all are full of humour. Many stories are open ended, long extended stories with many levels of meaning. Stories are repeated over and over and change over time to reflect life in the community. As listeners mature and gain life experience, the meaning and lessons in the stories reveal themselves in different ways. What you discovered in a story as a child can be very different when you are an adult. A story written on paper becomes frozen in time, while the beauty of an oral story is that it remains a living, flexible and dynamic part of culture and language.

Stories can expand a student’s world. Storytelling is not just ancient legends and stories but present-day stories about daily events and activities. Stories can include show and tell or retelling stories with connections to other curriculum areas, such as geography, social studies and science. Where did this story come from? What animal characteristic does this explain?

Stories told in a community belong to that community and usually to a specific storyteller. A story can be given to someone as a gift, but most often the story is passed from one generation to another within an extended family. It is important to be sensitive to story ownership and to seek permission to use a story in the classroom or, even better, have the storyteller come and tell his or her story.

Protocol with Kihtêyâyak (Elders)

Cree Kihtêyâyak (Elders) are men and women who are the keepers and teachers of oral tradition, traditional knowledge and spirituality. Kihtêyâyak are vital to the survival of the culture and should always be treated with respect and honour.
Inviting Kihtéyâyak from your community to speak of traditional ways, tell appropriate stories, describe or perform traditional ceremonies and interact with students will add meaning and richness to learning Cree. Different Kihtéyâyak have different gifts and have a key role in transmitting knowledge in all areas of language and culture.

Issuing invitations to Kihtéyâyak, especially in traditional communities, requires following the correct protocol. Find out about the specific procedures in your community, since they can vary from area to area. It is important that students be prepared in advance about expected behaviours. It is also important to check with your school administration for any rules your school may have for inviting speakers or guests into the school.

By interacting with other Cree language speakers, such as Kihtéyâyak and other community knowledge keepers, language learning can be maintained and brought to life.

Language Variation

Cree is spoken in many areas across Canada. The Cree language, with five major dialects or variants, is the most widely spoken language of the Algonquian language family. Other Algonquian languages include Blackfoot, Ojibwa and Michif. Most Cree speakers can understand each other but differences in vocabulary, pronunciation, spelling and language use can affect comprehension. Linguists refer to the variations in a language as dialects. Many languages have multiple dialects and Cree has five such distinct variations:

- Atihkamek – R
- Moose Cree – L
- Plains Cree – Y
- Swampy Cree – N
- Woodland Cree – Th.

For example, in the five Cree dialects the word you varies:

- Atihkamek – kîra
- Moose Cree – kîlâ
- Plains Cree (Northern Plains Cree and Southern Plains Cree) – kîya
- Swampy Cree – kîna
- Woodland Cree – kîtha.

The Cree contained in this Guide is the Plains Cree Y dialect, which has two distinct variations: Northern Plains Cree (NPC), known also as Bush Cree (Sakâw Nêhiyawêwin), which is spoken north of Edmonton, and Southern Plains Cree (SPC), known also as Prairie/Plains Cree (Paskwâw Nêhiyawêwin). You may experience one or both of the two variants in your community and should feel free to adapt the language taught based on the language used in your region.
The Y dialect uses 10 consonants (p, t, c, k, s, m, n, w, y, h), three short vowels (a, i, o) and four long vowels (â, î, ô, ê). Both pronunciation and spelling may vary between regions.

Although a syllabics system was the traditional form of Cree writing, this Guide will use the Standard Roman Orthography (SRO). It is advisable to use a standardized way of writing to assist students in developing literacy, whether using SRO or syllabics.

Traditional Cree is a nature- and relationship-based language. With over 30% of Cree people now living in urban centres, teaching students the rich variety of Cree language vocabulary relating to nature can be a challenge. A walk in the schoolyard or a trip to a nearby park may be the closest experience some students will have with nature. However, like all living languages, Cree is growing and changing, with new words being created and becoming part of everyday use.

Using This Guide

This Guide will provide you with the tools needed to plan a successful Cree language and culture experience in your classroom.

As a teacher, you will choose appropriate activities with your students from the Sample Teaching and Learning Activities. The activities and assessment strategies are samples you can add to and adapt to fit your classroom situation. Choose activities that students are most interested in and ones that will work with the resources available to you.

The activities are divided into four sections, each with its own emphasis: Applications, Language Competence, Community Membership and Strategies. It is advisable to integrate activities from all four sections when planning year, unit and lesson plans. There are more activities listed than you could use in a single lesson, so it is important to plan ahead and select those that will work best.

Various teaching and learning strategies are included in the sample activities and assessments and noted in the Strategies section.

The Appendices at the end of this Guide provide additional information, vocabulary, background, tools and resources.

Communicative Language Competence

The Cree Language and Culture Nine-year Program Guide to Implementation, Grades 4–5–6 is based on a communicative competence program. This means teaching and learning should increase each student’s ability and comfort in using Cree. Communicative competence means being able to use the language in many situations with ease and with minimal errors.

“We use the Cree of our forefathers to create new memories for our students.”

Loretta J. Pete Lambert, Director of Education Miyo Wahkohtowin Education Authority

Is there fluency, comfort and ease in using Cree in a variety of settings and situations? Is there accuracy? Is the student using the language—vocabulary, pronunciation, grammar, social appropriateness—correctly?

However, with beginning learners it is more important to have them be comfortable with the language than concerned with accuracy.
Developing Cree Language Competence

Developing Cree language competence is best done through activities and tasks that integrate the Cree language with Cree culture.

The focus of the Cree classroom is to promote as much language learning in Cree as possible so that minimal use of English is required. Anyone entering the Cree language classroom should hear Cree being spoken.

In the Cree language classroom, students will engage in three kinds of language learning:

Students learn Cree: Cree is learned by students through meaningful activities and tasks using the language. They learn Cree by sharing ideas, conversations, dialogues, discussions, rituals, ceremonies, songs and stories. By using Cree in different contexts, with topics interesting to students, language learning and retention is nourished and maintained.

Students learn through the Cree language: As students listen to Cree spoken live and recorded, read books in Cree, explore Cree Web sites and view Cree materials such as posters, photographs, videos and similar items, they use the Cree language to increase their knowledge of Cree culture and the world. This also helps them develop greater literacy and thinking skills in the language.

Students learn about the Cree language: Students learn how the Cree language works so that they become effective communicators. When they learn vocabulary, phrases, dialogue, rules and grammar in context, the Cree language becomes real, meaningful and useful in their lives. Grammar is modelled, not taught in isolation. Students begin to use language patterns, grammatical rules and discourse information to engage more actively in their own Cree language learning.

Teaching for Cree Language Competence

Communicative language teaching uses speech as its organizing principle; e.g., asking questions, commenting, apologizing, complimenting, reporting, storytelling, giving directions and making requests. Communication includes speech as a whole, whether nonverbal, body language or what is actually being said. The goal in the Cree classroom is to encourage students to speak, interact, socialize and be understood in, and understand, Cree. The context determines what is said, how it is said, to whom, where and why.

Wherever possible, include students, individually, in pairs or in small working groups, in defining and choosing activities that will develop their language competence and promote a sense of pride and ownership in what they are doing.
As a teacher, you review, reinforce and develop Cree language learning by exposing students to the vocabulary and structure many times and in many different ways. Give the students opportunities to apply the language continuously over an extended period of time.

Developing Students’ Listening Comprehension

To acquire the language, it is important for students to hear the Cree language spoken fluently and in the proper context. The more students hear Cree spoken in a variety of situations, the better they will understand what is being said. They will also pick up on body language and other nonverbal strategies a Cree speaker may be using to communicate. Limited exposure to Cree and continual translation into English will slow down language development. The more a teacher uses Cree, the more readily students will follow suit.

Sometimes students may go through a silent period before being willing to try Cree themselves. They are listening and learning. If the teacher continues to speak and model Cree, students will develop a stronger comfort level. As confidence increases, students become willing to speak and participate more fully.

To maximize the learning of Cree, especially in the very early stages, the following points are worth considering.

- Use authentic texts produced for and by speakers of Cree.
- Use short, simple and meaningful sentences.
- Use vocabulary in common use in the local Cree community.
- Use gestures, facial expressions, visuals or appropriate objects to help students understand.
- Use humour.
- Use topics and content that are familiar and of interest to students.

Developing Students’ Speaking Skills

How do you develop Cree language speaking skills so effectively that a student has the opportunity to engage in useful dialogue with another person or group? When developing this area of communicative competence, the following suggestions may be of value.

- Work in cooperation with the students to choose dialogues and sentences that mean something to them and to which they can relate.
- Have the language be so useful to students that they are encouraged to apply it inside and outside the classroom setting.
• For any planned language activity, make sure there is a model, proposed dialogues, sentence patterns or examples so that the students clearly understand the expectations for that activity.

As students become more proficient in Cree, you can add more challenging dialogues, encouraging them to try different sentences on their own. This follows the findings of Lev Vygotsky, the Russian languages expert who said that “to continue to learn, the language students are exposed to should always be just a little beyond their current capabilities. A student should be able to do a task with help today and be able to do it on his or her own tomorrow.”

Developing Students’ Literacy Skills

Development in Cree language learning includes the key literacy skills of reading, writing and representing, including drawings, dioramas, posters and cartoons.

Students come with different strengths, learning styles and habits. The following practices may be helpful in developing their literacy skills.

• Allow students to work from their own strengths.

• Choose the most effective form of literacy to promote student growth and understanding of Cree language forms and patterns, Standard Roman Orthography (SRO), syllabics and phonetic spelling.

• Use representation methods, such as drawing, working with the computer and displaying different types of art forms and crafts. Representations could include beadwork, cartoons, ceramics, carvings and other forms of literacy significant to Cree and Métis communities.

• Besides reading and writing, use storytelling, drama, role-play, syllabics and humour to enhance language development.

How Grammar Fits

Grammatical patterns provide the students with a scaffold to build upon as they learn to manipulate language and create their own patterns. Grammar, however, must be placed in the appropriate context and integrated into language dialogues and patterns to facilitate learning. Smart practices for teaching grammar include:

• Never teach grammar in isolation—it is more difficult to understand if not contextualized properly. Students will come to understand grammar elements through the use of the language in meaningful and relevant contexts.

• Understand that a particular structure, pattern, rule or code will not be mastered after a single lesson. Review and reinforce a grammar element by engaging students with the structure in many different ways over an extended period of time.
• Have activities or tasks focusing on grammar integrated into daily learning activities and classroom routines. The routines should be integrated properly into the theme or topic, such as colours, animal names and numbers, so that students do not repeat meaningless isolated patterns.

• Integrate grammar into all activities.

An Effective Cree Language Learning Environment

In entering the Cree language classroom, students bring with them their own particular background knowledge of the Cree language and culture. Before students can build on that knowledge, the teacher has to determine what that level is and use it as a starting point for instruction.

Some students may come to the classroom with no Cree language background. Some may be reluctant to speak because they are afraid they will not be able to do it well enough. There may be shame around speaking the language and fear of being laughed at. Building student self-esteem regarding Cree language learning is part of creating an effective Cree language and culture program.

The classroom is intended to be a safe environment where students are free to learn, experiment and take risks with the language as a natural part of the learning process. It is primarily the Cree teacher’s responsibility to make sure that the classroom is an encouraging, supportive environment for using the Cree language. It is equally important that the Cree classroom have the resource support of the school and the community.

For the best possible learning to take place, Cree language teachers should have their own space—a classroom designated for Cree language teaching—to provide a consistent and welcoming place for learning a valued language.

A minimum of 150 minutes per week should be devoted to Cree language learning. Dividing the time into daily lessons is the most effective way of teaching so that students retain what they have learned. If Cree language is to be retained and be a vital part of the lives of students, it must be used on a regular basis. Integrating Cree language into other areas of the curriculum is also an effective way of increasing language learning.

Within the Cree classroom environment:

• Cree is the language of status in the classroom.

• Students have the opportunity to learn Cree and gain cultural knowledge through meaningful interactions with peers, community members and Elders.

• Classroom experiences are linked to practical life experiences and use the natural environment.
• Teaching and modelling language strategies that students can use to learn on their own is a part of daily instruction.

• Language learning activities are relevant to students and focus on topics of interest to them.

• Teachers encourage and bring forth personal responses to oral, print and multimedia texts.

• Students are actively involved in constructing meaning and engage in concrete hands-on activities.

• Students are involved in setting criteria for assignments and assessments and are encouraged to take ownership of and evaluate their own learning.

• The sharing circle is used as a primary teaching strategy to promote discussion and common understanding.

• Students are encouraged and given opportunities to express their ideas and opinions.

• The classroom is a safe, nurturing and inviting community, where errors are seen as a natural part of language learning.

Suggested Teaching and Learning Strategies

Reflecting traditional Cree pedagogy, teaching and learning strategies have been organized into the following categories:

• cooperative learning
• modelling and imitation
• memorization and recall
• observation and reflection.

The categories are not rigid and some strategies may belong in more than one category.

Using a variety of strategies and discovering the most effective strategies to use with your particular group of students will make learning Cree language and culture an interesting and dynamic process.
Combined Grades in the Cree Language and Culture Classroom

The Cree way of teaching is to teach to the interest level of the students and not intentionally separate them because of age. Ensure the group is small enough so no one will be left out of the modelling and instruction given to the group. If the size of your group is too large, some students may not receive quality instruction.

A combined grade is defined as grouping more than one grade level at the same time with one teacher. This situation is common in the Cree classroom, especially if the program is new. Studies consistently show that there is no significant difference in achievement between students in a one-grade classroom and those in a combined-grade classroom.

The goal of combined classes is to improve the learning of Cree in the classroom. Students who work well together will assist each other with language learning; therefore, student groups should be organized for success with the language. If peers feel comfortable and are able to take risks with each other, this will be beneficial for the group. If students are afraid to take risks with each other, a different arrangement may be required.

Some benefits of a combined-grade classroom are:

- Social interaction takes place between students of different ages. Older students often develop a sense of responsibility, while younger students can be challenged and given opportunities to move ahead.

- Students of the same age can work at different levels in a way that is less obvious to other students. For example, an older student with less developed skills can participate effectively and contribute to the group at the same level as younger students.

- Older students are able to review and internalize their learning through participation in cooperative learning groups.

- When a new concept is introduced to one grade level, it is practised or reinforced by the other grade level.

The key to a successful combined-grade experience is the use of effective strategies for instruction and planning. These strategies include:

Cycling Areas of Experience

Different areas of experience are covered each year for the class as a whole. For example, the Grade 4 Cree class will cover certain themes one year and different themes the following year. This will work well if you know that a combined-grade class will continue together for a few years.
Combining Concepts

Areas of the curriculum that have similarities and overlap from one grade to the other can be combined, allowing students to work together.

When grammatical elements or certain concepts do not match and a particular group needs the teacher’s attention, adjustments are required. For example, you may give one grade a task while instructing the other grade. Alternatively, each grade may have a long-term project that can be worked on independently while you instruct the grade requiring help.

Using Cooperative Learning Groups

When organizing cooperative learning groups, you can often put different grades together. In this way, students can work together in a manner that benefits them all.

Building an Inviting and Positive Atmosphere

The best classrooms have a learning environment that is accepting of differences. In these classrooms, students of all levels feel that their opinions are valued and that they have an important place in the class. One way to build this sense of community is through activities that encourage students to participate and work as a team.

Assessment and Evaluation in the Combined-grade Classroom

Assessment practices do not differ between single-grade and combined-grade classes, although certain methods may have to be adapted. Teachers will still need to teach grade-specific concepts separately and monitor student progress accordingly.

Why Plan?
A year of working with students in the classroom is a major commitment. To ensure that the year is as well-organized and stress-free as possible, a good advance plan that is realistic helps make the learning process easier for everyone and provides flexible guidelines for action. Goals and activities are chosen with the knowledge that they may change depending on the students’ needs and feedback.

The benefits of advance planning are that it helps the teacher:

- understand curriculum outcomes and student needs
- integrate learning with the community calendar
- meet the expectations of the curriculum, school, students and parents
- ensure that topics are sequenced in a logical way for student learning
- anticipate individual student needs and unexpected situations that can arise in the classroom
- reduce management problems in the classroom
- determine needed resources and how to access them
- reduce preparation time and increase effectiveness
- collaborate with colleagues about curriculum, best practices, individual student needs and the effective use of resources.
Sample Planning Procedure

1. Planning usually begins with a year plan. Choose a year plan format.

2. Check the Areas of Experience list for topics or themes to suit your grade level and students.

3. Look at the various general and specific outcomes for your grade level. Decide where they would fit best into your year plan.

4. Consult calendars for seasonal, holiday, school and community events during which students would have exposure to and be able to use Cree. Note these events on your year plan.

5. Choose themes, activities, goals and assessment strategies best suited to your students and place them in time frames within the year.

6. From within the year plan, pull out suitable units. Choose a unit plan format.

7. Plan units with ideas for possible time lines, activities and assessments. Each unit should include teaching and learning activities from all four sections in this Guide—Applications, Language Competence, Community Membership and Strategies. Check on what resources are available.

8. Be sure to check with your community as to the protocol and contact time required for involving Elders.

9. Choose a lesson plan format. There are many ways to plan a lesson. Choose one that suits your needs and style.

10. From your unit plans, develop specific lesson plans for each day of the unit. As daily lesson plans progress, you will note the various learning styles of your students and adapt your plans.

Remember that your plans are working documents. They need to be solid enough to provide a framework to guide instruction but flexible enough to be easily adapted to suit student interests and needs.

Key Elements of the Year Plan

When creating a long-range plan or year plan, look at students’ background knowledge, elements of curriculum, the school’s goals and timetable, the seasonal round, community calendar and the year ahead. Based on this information, make a tentative sequence of classroom instruction units that would be meaningful and effective for students.

Long-range planning involves making decisions about the direction of your programming based on your best professional judgement. To create a useful plan, risk-taking, continual monitoring and subsequent modifications are crucial. A realistic year plan will reflect changes and be a working document, not a finished product.

Community and relationships are very strong and important to Cree people. To ensure that Cree communities remain strong, educating young people in the Cree language and culture is fundamental. Any classroom plan must therefore reflect a past, present and future Cree heritage. Input from and recognition of the role of the community, particularly its Kihtéyäyak (Elders), needs to be part of any plan. It is often wise for a teacher to have as a mentor a Kihtéyäya (Elder) from the community.

The community calendar is a valuable tool in making a year plan. Community events can be excellent opportunities for students to use and practise Cree.
Classroom discussions and creative language activities based on real community events and experiences give meaning to language learning.

Four key elements important to a year plan are:

1. Curriculum Outcomes
2. Student Knowledge, Experience and Involvement
3. Assessment and Evaluation
4. Resources.

1. Curriculum Outcomes

What are the expected outcomes for the year and how can they be achieved?

In this Guide, both general and specific outcomes have been clearly identified for each grade level. The outcomes identify the knowledge, skills, strategies and linguistic competence that students are expected to achieve by the end of a grade. They integrate the six language arts: listening, speaking, reading, writing, viewing and representing. Students will develop knowledge, skills and strategies specific to oral, print and multimedia texts for a variety of purposes and applications.

The outcomes are the starting points for the year plan at each grade level. A good understanding of these outcomes assists the teacher in:

- establishing goals for learning, instruction and assessment in Cree
- selecting the appropriate learning outcomes from the curriculum based on the knowledge of his or her students
- focusing each unit and sequencing units into a year plan
- selecting teaching and learning activities that are meaningful for students and fit the communicative language approach
- selecting culturally appropriate learning resources and checking their availability
- incorporating appropriate assessment and evaluation
- monitoring student progress in achieving learning outcomes in Cree.

The general outcomes in the Cree Language and Culture Program of Studies are divided into four components:

- Applications
- Language Competence
- Community Membership
- Strategies.

Choosing outcomes and activities from each component for year plans, units and lessons will enrich student learning. Many outcomes will connect, overlap and support each other.
The Applications component deals with what students will be able to do with the Cree language. It is primarily an oral component. Students imitate the language, speak it, converse and discuss.

Language Competence deals with the technical side of the language. Students deal with the structure and organization of the language and use this knowledge to produce various texts.

Community Membership deals with culture and how the language is integrated with the culture.

The Strategies section includes skills and processes that help improve both learning and communication.

Âtiht ôhi isihcikêwina poko okiskinohamâkêwak ta âpacihtâcik (tâpiskôc miyâhkasikêwin) êkwa Kihtêyâyak ta mamisîtotâhcik.

(Some of these activities, such as smudging, require extreme care, caution and sensitivity on the part of the teacher. Teachers should consult Elders in their local community regarding traditional practices.)

2. Student Knowledge, Experience and Involvement

Students in the Cree classroom come to school with a wide range of individual needs, background knowledge and experiences that impact their learning. It is important to assess what you know about your students and incorporate this into your plans; e.g.,

- What are their strengths?
- What is their background knowledge?
- What learning abilities and disabilities might they have?
- What prior home and life experiences have they had?

For students to achieve the desired outcomes by the end of each grade level, they need to take ownership of their own learning and be involved in the decision-making process. Brainstorming at the beginning of the year to find out what students know and want to know can help you assess what they are bringing to the classroom.

Choosing teaching and learning activities with students’ interests, strengths and abilities in mind will assist them in achieving the outcomes of the Cree Language and Culture Program of Studies. Each specific outcome should be meaningful to your students and could potentially be met through a wide range of teaching and learning activities. This Cree Language and Culture Nine-year Program Guide to Implementation, Grades 4–5–6 contains numerous sample teaching and learning activities that can be helpful when planning for instruction. These are only meant to provide examples and you should feel free to create your own activities to meet the needs and interests of your students.

3. Assessment and Evaluation

When planning for meaningful learning, students need to provide input regarding assessment and evaluation. Students experience a high level of success with language learning if they are a part of the planning and assessment process. This promotes ownership and success with the language tasks. When encouraged to provide input, they are better prepared to work toward achieving the outcomes. Including students in planning for assessment will also ensure they receive quality and timely feedback regarding their achievements.

For more information on assessment and evaluation, see Chapter 4.

4. Resources

Students need to work with a variety of resources when studying Cree language and culture. Authentic resources selected and designed for and by Cree speakers are particularly useful and important. By using a variety of authentic resources, students gain experience in finding, exploring and interpreting different kinds of texts, and have models for producing texts of their own. Because of the importance of oral texts and the oral tradition in the Cree culture, keep in mind that community members, especially Elders, are an important resource for the classroom. Use the community calendar to note pipe ceremonies, feasts, powwows, cultural camps, drumming and other cultural events that could involve your students.
By using a variety of resources, teachers can better accommodate the diverse learning needs of students. Even though all students in the class may be working on the same task, they can be using different resources depending on their preferred learning styles, levels of proficiency or cognitive development. The availability of resources also varies. For example, online materials may be easily available in urban centres but not in remote communities. In planning, you need to be aware of what resources are available in your classroom, school and community.

Planning is important and there are many types of long-range plans. Choose a style that meets your needs and those of your students. Remember, there is no one right way to plan.

Developing Unit Plans

Unit plans flow from the year plan. To develop a unit plan, first brainstorm and discuss interests and needs with the students. Based on this discussion, organize strategies and select specific learning activities that match curricular objectives and learning outcomes. A particular task or project that can be worked on over several days or weeks often is a good basis for a unit.

A task-based or project-based approach to learning Cree allows students to develop language competence and communicative skills by doing things rather than by simply studying the language. The students do not begin by learning the form or grammar. Instead, they find themselves in a situation where they must use the language for a definite purpose to complete a clearly defined task or project. All content, activities and evaluation in a unit grow out of the task. Specific language content is determined once the task has been identified. Grammar is taught by using the language, not as a separate lesson, and it becomes a focus when students need to know elements of the Cree language to accomplish the task more effectively. The task provides the framework in which all skills, knowledge and attitudes are developed.

How to plan for a task-based unit

1. With the students, decide on a unit task of interest to students and within their capabilities. This task becomes the main element around which the unit is organized and can often take the form of a project to be worked on over several weeks.

2. Look for community resources that might be useful in preparing students to carry out the task. These may include Elders and other respected community members, content experts in the community and community organizations and events. Text resources should be attractive and rich in visual supports, such as charts, pictures, diagrams, videos.

3. Work with students to determine what is needed to carry out the task and the process to follow in producing the product; e.g., working in groups, doing research, interviewing people. Facilitate language function, vocabulary, grammar, historical and contemporary elements of the culture, strategies and general knowledge through a variety of activities, including drama, puppets, role-play, storytelling and sharing circle. Where possible, use community resources.

4. Outline a series of steps or mini-tasks directly related to the unit task to facilitate students' learning and use of language to carry out that task. Some of these mini-tasks might focus on building vocabulary, learning and practising specific grammatical structures, developing a cultural element, working on a learning strategy and so on.

5. Determine the specific outcomes for the unit, keeping in mind the need to include all four components—Applications, Language Competence, Community Membership and Strategies.

6. Decide how parts of the unit can be adapted to accommodate the needs, interests and abilities of different students. Use a variety of resources and activities to engage the various learning styles and capabilities of the students. Be prepared to be as flexible as possible without compromising the objectives and outcomes of the unit.

7. Involve your students in assessment and evaluation and integrate them throughout the unit.

Although unit planning has been presented as a series of steps, it will most likely involve going back and forth between steps, not straight through from step one to step seven. Some planning takes place beforehand, and some as the unit progresses.

Hints:

- Begin a unit with an exciting activity to capture the interest of your students. Encourage them to talk about what they know about the topic and what they expect to learn.

- Involve your students in planning the unit so they feel invested in the project and are more willing to learn.

- End the unit with an activity that encourages students to reflect on what they have just been through, discussing what they learned, the strategies they used and how their attitudes may have changed. For example, you might plan future units based on any gaps that show up in their knowledge and skills. This step drives independent learning and develops metacognitive strategies.

A well-written unit plan can provide specific lessons within the plan to assist with writing daily lesson plans.
Unit Plan Components

Checklist

• Have you selected the outcomes you wish to focus on in this unit?

• Have you considered student needs, interests and abilities and incorporated student input?

• Have you considered the relevance of this unit to:
  – students’ lives outside of the school context?
  – students’ language and learning experiences in other subjects?
  – students’ continued Cree language development?

• Can you identify the outcomes related to language competence and applications students will attain?

• Have you incorporated appropriate community membership outcomes into this unit?

• Can you identify the historical and contemporary elements of the Cree-speaking cultures present in the language competence content of the unit?

• Can you provide a rationale for the unit?

• Have you selected interesting, useful and varied resources and community resource people for the unit?

• Have you included a variety of instructional strategies, language experiences and activities?

• Have you provided opportunities for students to apply listening, speaking, reading, representing and writing skills in different contexts?

• Does the unit plan allow for flexibility and adaptation?

• Have you provided opportunities for student input and shared decision making?

• Have you included student input to determine appropriate assessment and evaluation techniques?

• Have you considered possible unit extensions and applications?
Developing Lesson Plans

Lesson plans map out, in detail, instructional and learning activities in support of one or more curricular outcomes. Usually lesson plans refer to daily plans. These daily plans should always review, reinforce and develop previous learning. New information should be presented in conjunction with familiar learning.

Activities that are incorporated into a daily lesson plan need to reflect real experiences as much as possible. Separating an activity from its community, social or spiritual context reduces the meaning, impact and usefulness of the activity. Connect activities with the underlying values and worldview of your Cree community.

Planning for Balance

Creating a balance between classroom-centred experiences and real-life applications of the Cree language is essential in preparing students for the world beyond the classroom. This can be achieved through a wide range of activities, such as interactions with Cree Elders, guest speakers and other visitors from outside the school, field trips, participating in community rituals, activities and celebrations. Students must be provided with a wide range of opportunities for using the Cree language in meaningful ways.

Planning for a balanced Cree language and culture program needs to take into account that:

- although students may reach the level of competence described by the learning outcomes at any time during the year, the learning outcomes describe end-of-year performance
- students need practice in many varied, meaningful contexts to learn new knowledge, skills and strategies
- students need to review, maintain and refine skills previously learned
- planning is ongoing and should change to meet student needs
- a variety of instructional approaches, classroom management techniques, assessment practices, tools and strategies, and learning experiences are essential
- students may be taught in a variety of organizational structures, including combined-grade classrooms.

Developing a balanced, integrated Cree program is a creative process. Instruction is shaped by the teaching style, resources and strengths of each teacher, the interests, abilities and talents that each new group of students brings to the classroom, and the needs of the community.

Some areas of balance to consider are:

- the four general outcomes: Applications, Language Competence, Community Membership and Strategies
- the six language arts: listening, speaking, reading, writing, viewing and representing
- different text types: oral, written and multimedia texts, including a variety of informational, narrative, poetic and dramatic texts; a variety of forms and genres, such as videos, magazines, letters, charts, Web sites, computer programs and board games
• different student groups: individual, pairs, small groups, large groups, whole class, heterogeneous, homogeneous, student-directed, teacher-directed

• the various Cree language backgrounds and experiences of students

• the various functions of language, such as exchanging information, expressing feelings and using Cree for fun.

Cree language and culture learning works best by taking a holistic approach. You may want to consider setting up your classroom as a circle to encourage cooperation and a sense of community.

When planning teaching and learning activities, plan for balance by considering the teachings of the learning circle—the medicine wheel.
In planning for instruction, it is also important to plan for language review. Repetition and review are vital parts of language learning. Students need many opportunities to review vocabulary, phrases and interactions in order to maintain and build their language skills. Use a variety of strategies and activities to make reviewing interesting and useful.

1. Introduce words or phrases at the beginning of the class.
2. Review the words and phrases at the end of the class.
3. Review the same words and phrases as part of the next lesson and build on what has been learned.
4. Review using Total Physical Response (TPR), clapping rhythms, movement.
5. Review using choral reading, rhymes, chants, role-play, drama.
6. Review using imagery.
7. Review in a new context.
Chapter 4
Classroom Assessment and Evaluation

Chapter Summary
What Is Assessment and Evaluation?
Cree Approach
Types of Assessment
Assessment and Evaluation Strategies

What Is Assessment and Evaluation?

Assessment in the classroom is determining what has been learned. Evaluation is estimating the quality of what has been learned. Assessment and evaluation from a Cree perspective are a process rather than a measurement of performance or evaluation of a final product. This process is one of continuous growth, facilitated in a safe and nurturing environment.

“Nohsih âhkâméyimoh kísi kiskinohamákosi, wahiyaw kétítôhtéyikon mákakaya wânikiskisih kinêhiyawêwin, Êkôh kâkîwêyitîyikon.

My grandchild, do not quit. Finish school. It will take you a long way but do not forget your Cree language—that will take you home.”

John Cabry, Samson Cree

The goal of any language program is to provide a positive and authentic learning environment that will instill and inspire the student to take ownership of the language learning situation.

Language learning in a Cree community where children are learning their first language, the mother tongue, is within a meaningful context. Since the aim of this program is language and culture fluency and competence, assessment and evaluation will focus on those aspects.

Context is crucial to the development of effective language use and evaluation. Dialogues, phrases and cultural information from the home, school and community, as well as the individual student and his or her preferences, are to be addressed as a part of planning, lesson delivery and evaluation. Language use will vary and change in each community and setting.
Assessment and evaluation must focus on the mental, emotional, spiritual and physical development and growth of the whole student and be within the appropriate context of peer socialization, home, school and community. It is important to match the context with the evaluation process and ensure that the dialogues, phrases and terms are used appropriately: that students are learning the culturally appropriate and acceptable ways of addressing different members of the family and community.

Cree Approach

“Our way is a valid way of seeing the world.”

—Western Canadian Protocol Aboriginal Languages Working Group

The traditional Cree teaching and learning model emphasizes mastery before evaluation, and within that process the student is set up for success. A student is given the opportunity to apprentice with someone to perfect a skill that he or she is interested in, shows some talent for and is needed in the community. The emphasis is on what a student can do rather than on what a student cannot do. Students are provided with repeated opportunities to observe, practise and master a skill. This model also facilitates language learning and should be used in the Cree language and culture classroom. Language needs to be meaningful and purposeful for the learner, otherwise the desire and motivation to learn will not be there.

Modelling

The modelling approach to learning and evaluation is an interactive process whereby Cree students are active participants in their own education. Enabling students to take ownership of their learning increases the probability of establishing connections between life at home and at school.

With modelling, students learn by imitating the duties, behaviours, skills and practices of role models. Students learn from Kihtéyâyak (Elders) and respected community members by interacting with people who are living the Cree way of life. These people live by Cree cultural behaviours, using the Natural Laws and the four areas of the medicine wheel to promote balance. This modelling works in contemporary society just as it did traditionally and will provide students with the ability to make meaning within the present educational system.

The modelling approach that is central to the teaching and learning method in Cree communities is interactive and participatory. Traditionally, modelling was nonverbal. No one told you how to do it; you observed and learned. Through observation, participation, experience and practice, students learn about the Cree cultural behaviours that are implicit in the Cree way of life. Assessment and evaluation are not removed from this learning process but are instead an integral part of it. It is advisable to involve Kihtéyâyak (Elders) or respected community members whenever possible in the language evaluation process.
Cree Assessment and Evaluation Suggestions

In assessing and evaluating Cree language skills, teachers may wish to try the following:

- Keep the evaluation of work gentle and encouraging. This needs a little more work. or It’s not quite there yet. or Have you tried this? instead of This is wrong. or You failed.

- Have the information gathered for evaluation or marks come from student self-evaluation and peer evaluation as well as teacher evaluation. Elders may also have input. The teacher is not alone in the evaluation process.

- Create opportunities for the students to share skills and talents in areas where they are gifted. Encourage students to do what they can do.

- Make rubrics and checklists together with the students, so they know what is expected and are responsible for their own learning.

- Choose activities to achieve a specific outcome based on cooperation rather than competition.

- Use the learning and sharing circle for providing feedback, both for the teacher and students.

- Cree culture values oral and observational learning. Students may be more comfortable demonstrating their learning in oral or presentation activities, rather than in written form.

- Give students the opportunity to demonstrate their learning in a variety of ways; e.g., oral, presentations, artwork, visual, music and written.

Role of Assessment and Evaluation

Assessment and evaluation are done for the following reasons.

Diagnosis: Before you begin teaching, it is important to determine what your students bring to your class and to build on those strengths. Diagnosis will help you identify language fluency levels, cultural knowledge, areas of interest and strengths and skills of your students. The primary value in using assessment and evaluation is to discover what students already know and where gaps in learning exist.

Fluency: It is vital for you as the teacher to evaluate the level of language fluency students bring to your class. Each child is unique therefore, to meet the needs of each of your students, your teaching delivery and presentation should facilitate and address the different levels of fluency. It is necessary to address fluency levels to prevent boredom, frustration and restlessness in the classroom, which can lead to classroom management issues.
Competence: As students learn the language, the focus should be on providing situations and context that make learning in Cree easier. Competence is achieved when a student can hold a conversation and communicate fluently in an authentic situation. As a teacher and an instructor, it is important that you establish rubrics and rating scales with your students. This will assist them in developing competence in the Cree language. In lower grades, competence may just mean being able to greet people properly and having a short dialogue.

Teacher Self-reflection

The teaching and learning process goes both ways. How well students learn depends mainly on how well the teacher facilitates and organizes the teaching and learning environment. There need to be opportunities for teacher self-analysis and self-reflection so you can adjust and adapt your delivery strategies and teaching methods.

Types of Assessment

Assessment can be subjective and objective, structured and unstructured. Whatever the process used, it needs to reflect respect for Cree culture.

Assessment and evaluation in a Cree language classroom requires an interactive and collaborative approach. This involves:

- self-assessment
- peer assessment
- group assessment
- teacher assessment.

Self-assessment

Students reflect on what they have learned and how they have learned. They get a better sense of themselves as speakers, readers, writers and performers. Self-assessment supports students in setting goals and seeing where they need help.

- What did I learn today?
- What is the best work I did?
- What don’t I understand?
- What do I need help with?
- What would I like to know more about?
- What do I want to work on next?

Peer assessment

Students share and discuss their work with partners or small groups. This helps students understand what other students are experiencing and builds confidence in their own work. Students ask each other questions and give positive and constructive feedback. A checklist can be helpful to focus these interactions.
Group assessment

This is useful when the class participates in an activity such as:

- group presentations
- field trips and nature walks
- group artwork, murals, photographs, videos
- class projects.

Group assessment can take place using talking circle, brainstorming and Venn diagram strategies.

Teacher assessment

Interviews, conferences, checklists and anecdotal notes are some of the tools teachers use to assess and evaluate where students are in the learning process. One of the main purposes of assessment is to see where instruction can be improved. Are students learning and applying what you are teaching them? If students are not progressing, you need to find out why and modify instruction; e.g., try alternative teaching strategies, give more opportunities for practice, reteach various concepts.

So that assessment and evaluation succeed:

- integrate assessment and evaluation into the planning process
- make sure expectations, directions, time lines and goals are clear
- work with a variety of evaluation strategies and assessment methods
- include time for reflection as part of evaluation
- include students in assessment and evaluation planning; e.g., creating rubrics and checklists
- demonstrate or show examples of work so students have an idea of expectations
- give students opportunities to practise so they can experience success before evaluation.

When undertaking assessment and evaluation, the following factors should be considered:

- Personality and nature of each student
  A student may be quiet and reflective because this is his or her nature and personality; it does not necessarily mean that the student is not learning.

- Fear of risk-taking
  A student needs to recognize the classroom environment as safe before he or she will participate. Sitting quietly does not mean the student is not learning; perhaps the child has not established enough confidence to take a risk in front of his or her peers.

- Pause time
  Pause time differs between cultures. For Cree students, pause time is longer than in an English classroom. The Cree teacher should keep this in mind. Assimilation has influenced our teaching methods and we may not give an adequate amount of time for our own students to give us feedback.
Attitude from the community, school, home
Attitudes from outside the classroom will influence a student’s desire to learn Cree. If a student is making negative statements, then it is important for the teacher to look for the source of these statements and do some active promotion to encourage support and validation for the program.

Validation
Validation of the student is crucial to his or her success. As teachers, it is our responsibility to ensure students are learning. If we do not see progress, we need to look for the root of the problem and seek ways of resolving it.

Assessment and Evaluation Strategies

Portfolios

The portfolio is a primary evaluation tool for the assessment and evaluation of Cree language programming. Student ownership of learning encourages the student to become part of the evaluation process. Portfolios allow the student to have input and exercise some decision making as to which activities and student work are to be evaluated for reporting purposes.

The portfolio can contain a chart that notes each piece of work. The contents should not be limited to written work but should allow for various forms of literacy and media, as well as audio and video recordings of actual language use.

Together, the student and teacher can set the contents and time frame. Assembling the portfolio can coincide with the formal reporting periods, unit assignments, projects and presentations as well as accommodate cumulative reporting. The folder could be an expanding one for the whole year or a specific portfolio could be sent home after each reporting period. Portfolios are ideal for sharing with parents at parent–teacher–student interviews.

The physical structure of a portfolio refers to the actual arrangement of work samples and can be organized according to chronology, subject, style, work or goal area. You may have students self-assess a work sample, self-reflect and then set a goal for future learning. The work sample, self-assessment and the goal sheet may be added to the portfolio.

Students generally choose the work samples to place in their portfolios. Have them explain why they are choosing particular work samples as part of their portfolios. You may also choose to have specific work samples placed in the portfolio; however, you should inform the student why you are choosing a specific work sample.

Use of the portfolio system in maintaining a collection of student work is a highly personalized way of involving the student in the learning–teaching process.
The focus in student portfolios is on:
• student thinking
• growth over time
• language and culture connections
• decision making and goal setting.
Anecdotal Notes

Anecdotal notes are systematically kept notes of specific observations of student behaviours, skills and attitudes in the classroom. These notes provide cumulative information regarding progress, skills acquired and directions for further instruction. Anecdotal notes are often written as the result of ongoing observations during the lessons but may also be written in response to a product or performance the student has completed. The systematic collection of anecdotal notes on a student provides excellent information for evaluation of learning patterns and consistency of progress.

Checklists

Checklists can be used to record whether or not students have mastered particular skills or gained specific knowledge. They are usually geared to a specific focus for assessment. Sample checklists can be found in Appendix E: Assessment Blackline Masters.

Conferences and Interviews

Conferences are usually short informal meetings held with individual students, or a small group of students, and involve diagnostic listening, questioning and responding. Conferences provide opportunities for discussion with students on learning strengths and areas for improvement, and to set learning goals. During conferences, it is possible to learn a great deal about the students’ understanding of information, attitudes toward learning and the skills and strategies they employ during the learning process. Conferences provide opportunities for individualized teaching, for guiding students to more challenging materials and for determining future instructional needs.

Interviews are conferences that are conducted to gather specific information. They may involve a set of questions you ask for a specific purpose. For example, you may need information about a student’s reading patterns and difficulties. An interview allows you to ask questions directly related to a particular aspect of the student’s performance.

Journals and Learning Logs

Journals and Learning Logs are primary assessment and evaluation tools for self-assessment and reflection.

Learning Logs allow students to reflect on what they have learned and how. It is a student commentary on his or her learning process.

- What did I do in class today?
- What did I find interesting?
- What did I learn?
- What did I not understand?
- What questions do I have?
Journals are more personal in that students use them to record events in their lives, explore ideas, questions, concerns and fears often not related to school. Journals are not private but are usually only shared with the teacher and close friends.

Learning Logs and journals can include drawings and diagrams. They are very useful for teachers in assessing student progress. The last five minutes of class are often the best time for making entries. The entries should be made frequently and are dated.

Rubrics

Rubrics are an effective form of assessment because they clearly and concisely convey expectations. They show the student both the goal and the steps to take in order to reach it. A well-constructed rubric is a scoring guide that describes what a successful piece of work looks like. Rubrics can be very specific to a particular assignment or project or they can be general and apply to a number of tasks. For a rubric to be a valuable assessment and evaluation tool, it is advisable to:

- present a rubric or, even better, construct it in partnership with the students prior to beginning related instructions and tasks to ensure that the rubric becomes an active guide to the learning process, rather than the destination itself
- show the students samples of work that meet the rubric’s various levels of criteria and discuss how these examples meet or don’t meet expectations
- give the students the opportunity to practise and revise work so they become familiar and comfortable with the criteria.

Rubrics are especially effective in assessing presentations, performances, visual work and complex activities. Sample rubrics can be found in Appendix E: Assessment Blackline Masters.

Talking Circle, Brainstorming, Venn Diagrams

Many of the teaching and learning strategies found in the Appendices can also be used for assessment and evaluation.

Video and Audio Recordings

Video recordings of students speaking, storytelling, performing and interacting allow them to assess their language skills and also look at their nonverbal body language.

Audio recordings allow students to hear their own word use and pronunciation. Having the students record dialogues is an effective way for them to engage in peer and self-assessment.
Chapter 5
Grade Level Samples

Chapter Summary

Introduction
Integrate for Efficiency and Motivation
Two-page, Four-column Format
Grade Level Samples for Grades 4, 5 and 6
- Applications
- Language Competence
- Community Membership
- Strategies

Introduction

The grade level samples section provides sample teaching and learning activities with complementary assessment strategies for each specific outcome in the program of studies. The prescribed general and specific outcomes for each grade level, which teachers are responsible for achieving with their students, appear in the same order as in the program of studies and are shaded.

The sample activities and assessment strategies are suggestions only. They are provided for the primary purpose of clarifying the intent of each specific outcome. Each sample provides a concrete example of how a specific outcome might be accomplished and assessed in the classroom. Teachers can use the samples to gain clarity as to the intent of each specific outcome and as a springboard for their lesson planning.
Integrate for Efficiency and Motivation

In the time allotted for each grade level of the program, it is impossible to complete an activity and assessment for each specific outcome as shown in the samples provided in this chapter. Teachers usually plan to cover several outcomes in each lesson. As teachers plan their units and lessons, they are encouraged to integrate outcomes from all four program components: Applications, Language Competence, Community Membership and Strategies. Such integration, coupled with a strong focus on Applications, motivates students to become active partners in learning and to take personal responsibility for their own learning.

Two-page, Four-column Format

General Outcome and Specific Outcome Cluster Heading

The general outcome is boxed at the top of each page; e.g.,

General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

The specific outcome cluster heading follows the general outcome at the top of each page; e.g.,

A–1 to share information

Column One - Specific Outcomes

Students will be able to:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>A–1.1 share factual information</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>a. share basic information</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Under the cluster heading, specific outcomes in column one are prefaced, as in the program of studies, with: Students will be able to:

Running vertically along the left side of the first page is the strand heading for the specific outcome.

Running horizontally is the detail of each specific outcome, indicated by the letters a, b, c ...
Column Two - Sample Teaching and Learning Activities

These activities illustrate the intent of each specific outcome. Cree words, phrases, sentences and examples provided in the body of the activities are followed by English translations.

Column Three - Sample Assessment Strategies

Assessment strategy suggestions for the teaching and learning activities are provided in this column. All assessment strategies cited are described in detail in Chapter 4: Classroom Assessment and Evaluation.

Column Four - Materials

This is a listing of the various items needed to implement the suggested teaching and learning activities in the classroom. Everyday items that students are expected to have, such as pens, pencils and paper, are not listed here.
Several activities and their corresponding assessment strategies and materials are listed for each specific outcome.

- Sharing Personal Information
  - Introduce and review basic question and answer phrases for sharing personal information, e.g.,
    - Tənisi kisâhkâdo? (What is your name?)
    - Níyya _____ nîstâhkotâsin. (My name is _____.)
    - Tən wîhta kisâhkâdo? (How old are you?)
    - wîhta kisâhkâdo? (I am ______ years old.)
    - Tən kisâh kisâh nîtau? (Where are you from?)
    - Níyya _____ ohc. (I am from _____.)

  Divide the students into pairs and have them take turns asking and answering questions. After a few rounds, allow the students to exchange partners and repeat the question-answer dialogue.

- My Favourite Things Collage
  - Ask the students to design personal collages using pictures of themselves, their families, extended families, friends, favourite activities, foods, books, likes and dislikes. Each picture is labelled in Cree. The collages are then presented orally. Provide the students with model sentences to assist them in their presentations.

  Suggested vocabulary words to use include:
  - nîmîn (my mom)
  - nîpêpî (my dad)
  - niwitâ (my older brother)
  - nîmîs (my older sister)
  - nîmnîn (my cat)
  - niwitâmis (my puppy)
  - niwitâmis (my food).

Examples of many of the assessment/evaluation tools listed here are included in Appendix E.
General Outcomes

General outcomes are broad statements identifying the knowledge, skills and attitudes that students are expected to achieve in the course of their language learning experience. The four general outcomes serve as the foundation for the program of studies.

★ The terms “Mother Earth” and “Creator” are identified as discretionary terms in the Cree Language and Culture Program of Studies. Communities may choose to use these terms or to use other related terms acceptable to them (e.g., nature, the environment) in order to teach the outcomes in this section.
Applications

A–1 to share information

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. share basic information

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Sharing Personal Information

Introduce and review basic question and answer phrases for sharing personal information; e.g.,

- Tânsî kîstíhkâson? (What is your name?)
- Nîya ______ nîtsîhkâson. (My name is _____.)
- Tân’ tâhto kîtahtopiponân? (How old are you?)
- ______ nîtahtopiponân. (I am ____ years old.)
- Tântê ohci kiya? (Where are you from?)
- Nîya ______ ohci. (I am from _____.)

Divide the students into pairs and have them take turns asking and answering questions. After a few rounds, allow the students to exchange partners and repeat the question–answer dialogue.

➤ My Favourite Things Collage

Ask the students to design personal collages using pictures of themselves, their families, extended families, friends, favourite activities, foods, books, likes and dislikes. Each picture is labelled in Cree. The collages are then presented orally. Provide the students with model sentences to assist them in their presentations.

Suggested vocabulary words to use include:

- nimâmâ (my mom)
- nipâpâ (my dad)
- nîstês (my older brother)
- nimîs (my older sister)
- nimînôsim (my cat)
- nicêmis (my puppy)
- nimîcowin (my food).
A–1 to share information

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment

Does the student:

• share basic information?

Observation Checklist

Create an outcome-based checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Use the checklist to assess if students are able to share basic information (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Observation Checklist).

Rubric

Collaboratively create an outcome-based rubric with the students. Use the rubric to evaluate how well students are able to share basic information (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Rubric or Rubric and Checklist).

MATERIALS

List of question and answer phrases in Cree such as those found in How to Say it in Cree by S. Ratt.

Magazines, photographs, markers, glue, tape, poster paper.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–1 to share information

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

b. identify familiar people, places and things

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

Role Models
Show the students photographs of local familiar people, places and things; e.g., Aboriginal role models, Elders, teachers, tribal council members, powwows. Show each photo to the class and have the students repeat statements about the photographs; e.g.,
- Jane awa ēyisîhkāsot. (Her name is Jane.)
- Nathanial awa ēyisîhkāsot. (His name is Nathanial.)

Divide the students into two groups. Hold up one picture and allow the students to come to a group consensus as to the identity of the person, place or thing in the photo. Choose one student to respond for the group.

Community Map
Ask the students to work as a class to create a map of the community that shows landmarks such as local stores, gas stations, schools, community centres and businesses. As they work together, introduce vocabulary associated with the community. Display the map at the front of the class. Point to different parts of the map and have the students describe each area; e.g.,
- Atāwêwikamik ēoma. (This is a store.)
- Ôta Jane wîkiw. (This is where Jane lives.)

Traditional Items
Invite the students to view and touch various traditional nehîyaw kikwaya (Cree crafts) such as mistikwaskihk (drums), pakhêkinwêsksîna (moccasins) and mîk’sihkâheïkëwin (beadwork). As you show each craft, have the students repeat its Cree name. Hold up each craft and ask the students,
- Kikwây ēoma/awâ? (What is this?)
Have the students respond by saying the Cree name of each craft.
A–1 to share information

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment

Does the student:

• identify familiar people, places and things?

Observation Checklist

Create an outcome-based checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Use the checklist to assess if students are able to identify familiar people, places and things (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Observation Checklist).

Informal Observation

Observe students as they participate in the activity. Make mental notes of the extent to which students are able to identify familiar people, places and things. Offer feedback, encouragement and praise as needed.

Materials

Photographs of various familiar people, places and things.

Map of community, photographs of community (optional).

Various traditional Cree crafts such as drums, moccasins and beadwork.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–2 to express emotions and personal perspectives

| a. express simple preferences | Use photographs or pictures to illustrate vocabulary from a lexical field; e.g., food, sports, colours. The photographs or pictures should include a statement of like or dislike and the word written in Cree; e.g.,
- Nimîwêyihten ôma _______. (I like this _______.) [thing]
- Nimîyiwêmâw awa _______. (I like this _______.) [person]
- Namôya nimîyiwêhtên _______. (I do not like _______.) [thing]

Ask the students to say whether or not they like the item as you hold up the photo or picture. Students may refer to vocabulary posted in the classroom. Have them continue the activity in pairs or small groups.

➤ Food Adjectives
Introduce various adjectives used to describe food; e.g., salty, tough, sweet, crunchy, chewy, delicious, sour. Bring in a variety of cultural foods; e.g., fish, berries, bannock, dried meats. Allow the students to sample a taste of each cultural food as they think of an adjective to describe it. Arrange the students into pairs and have them take turns sharing what they thought about each food item.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

➤ Anecdotal Notes
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Note the extent to which students are able to express simple preferences, and record anecdotal notes (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Anecdotal Notes).

➤ Learning Log
Students reflect on their learning and how well they were able to express simple preferences.

MATERIALS

➤ Photographs or pictures of various vocabulary words.

➤ Various cultural food items.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–2 to express emotions and personal perspectives

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES
Students will be able to:

b. express a personal response

| A–2.1 share ideas, thoughts, preferences |

➤ I Like …
Ask the students to draw themselves doing something they enjoy or with people they like. Have the students use phrases such as *nimiywiyihțę*n (I like) and ēkwa nimiywimâw (I love) to express personal responses to the drawings; e.g.,
- Nimiywiyihțę [inanimate] (I like _______.)
- Nimiywimâw. (I like her/him.) [animate]

➤ Responding to Music
Play a selection of music by Cree artists. Ask the students to respond to each selection, orally or in writing, using previously studied words and phrases.
A–2 to express emotions and personal perspectives

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
• express a personal response?

Observation Checklist
Create an outcome-based checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Use the checklist to assess if students are able to express a personal response (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Observation Checklist).

Informal Observation
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Make mental notes of the extent to which students are able to express a personal response. Offer feedback, encouragement and praise as needed.

None required.

Music selections such as “Kîspin Kimîywêyihtên” by Brian McDonald and “Nîpâpâ/Nôhtâwîy nîsâkihâw” by Jerry Saddleback.

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
- respond to, and express, basic emotions and feelings?

➤ Anecdotal Notes
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Note the extent to which students are able to respond to, and express, basic emotions and feelings, and record anecdotal notes (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Anecdotal Notes).

➤ Observation Checklist

MATERIALS

➤ Flash cards of people showing emotions, slips of paper with different emotions written on them.

➤ Pictures of people expressing different feelings.
A–3 to get things done

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

- a. indicate basic needs and wants

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

▶ Needs and Wants

Introduce the students to the concepts of “need” and “want.”

Brainstorm lists of needs and wants; e.g.,

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Wants</th>
<th>Needs</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>to play a game</td>
<td>to go to the washroom</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>a different coloured pencil</td>
<td>to sharpen a broken pencil</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>a can of pop</td>
<td>to get a drink</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Based on their brainstormed ideas, introduce the students to questions and requests in Cree related to their wants and needs in the classroom; e.g.,

- Nikakîwayâwân cî wayawêwikamikohk? (Can I go to the bathroom?)
- Nikakîminihkwân cî? (Can I get a drink?)
- Ninohtêwayawân. (I want to go to the bathroom.)
- Ninohteyâpâkwân. (I am thirsty.)
- Miyo≠ __________. (Give me __________.) [e.g., nipiy (water)]
- Pêtamawin __________. (Bring me __________.)
- Pêyitsinamâwin. (Pass it to me.)
- Ninitaweyîhtên __________. (I want/need __________.)
- Ay ay. (Thank you.)

Have the students repeat the phrases and post them for future reference. Encourage the students to use the phrases to make the requests based on their needs and wants.

▶ Needs and Wants Posters

Invite the students to work in groups to create posters listing basic needs-and-wants questions required to function efficiently in the classroom; e.g., Miyo≠ __________. (Give me __________.), Pêtamawin __________. (Bring me __________.) Display these posters for future reference.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A-3 to get things done

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES
Students will be able to:

b. ask for permission

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

Permission Circle
Review various vocabulary words and phrases related to asking for permission; e.g., Can I please sharpen my pencil? Can I please go to the office? Can I please open a window?

Ask the students to sit in a circle and have one student start by asking the person next to him or her for permission to do something. That person responds, then asks the next person for permission and so on until each student has had a turn.

Asking Permission
Teach the classroom rules and routines related to asking for permission; e.g., anything for which the student must leave the classroom, for example:

- Nikakîwayawan cî wayawêwikamohk? (Can I go to the bathroom?)
- Nikakîminihkwân cî? (Can I get a drink?)

Ask the students to divide into pairs and practise asking for permission. Phrases to use include:

- Nikâî ____? (Can/may/might I ____?)
- Kakî ____? (Can/might/could/would you ____?)

Extension
Have the students make and use puppets to practise asking for permission.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Invitations

  Ask the students to make community or school invitations using a template and give the invitations to two or three friends. The receivers respond with ehâ, ay ay or namôya, ay ay. Encourage the students to be aware of intonation and body language.

- Responding to Invitations

  Review a sample invitation to a community or school event. Have the students write a response to the invitation in a letter or an e-mail in Cree. Phrases to use include:

  Declining
  - kinanâskomitinân (we thank you)
  - mâka wiyakâc (but)
  - namôya nikakî tohtânân (we cannot go)

  Accepting
  - nikakî tohtânân (we can go)
  - ay ay (thank you)

- Offering

  Model offering items using inflection; e.g., Pikîs? (Gum?). Students respond with êhâ/îhî (yes) or namôya (no). Divide the students into pairs and have them practise offering things to each other; e.g.,

  Student 1: Pikîs? (Gum?)
  Student 2: Namôya. (No.)
  Student 1: Maskihkîs? (Candy?)
  Student 2: Îhî!/Éhâ! (Yes!)
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Follow Me

Teach the students how to follow your actions in a game of ay’sinawin (mimic/follow me). Provide basic instructions and demonstrate the corresponding actions, then point to the students, who say the instructions and do the actions. Instructions to use include:

- Ástam óta. (Come here.)
- Mîyin anima masinahikan(a). (Give me that book.)

Extension

Divide the students into small groups and have them do the actions described by group leaders.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
• respond to offers, invitations and instructions?

Informal Observation
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Make mental notes of the extent to which students are able to respond to offers, invitations and instructions. Offer feedback, encouragement and praise as needed.

MATERIALS
None required.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–3 to get things done

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

b. ask or offer to do something

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Classroom Responsibility
Collaboratively list classroom tasks students can perform. Post labelled pictures of daily classroom tasks around the classroom. Encourage the students to refer to these posters throughout the year. Introduce the vocabulary for each phrase; e.g.,
- Ni kâkî sâpapatân cî wâpakwaniya? (May I water the plants?)
- Ni kâkî kwayask astân cî masinahikana? (May I tidy the books?)
- Sâpapatâ wâpakwaniya ekwa kwayask astâ masinahikana. (Water the plants and tidy the books.)

➤ Sign Up!
Invite the students to sign up for a particular task for a week; e.g., watering the plants. Model a sentence pattern and the vocabulary for the various classroom tasks. Prepare and post the sentence pattern and new vocabulary for the classroom tasks. Ask the students to practise, in pairs, the pattern and new vocabulary for classroom tasks. Encourage the students to use these sentence patterns throughout the year.

➤ My Responsibilities
Guide the students in a discussion of the different responsibilities they have at home, in school and in the community. Introduce new vocabulary as necessary.

Ask the students to create, on paper or on the computer, mini comics that show them asking to help around the house, school and community, using phrases such as:
- Niwêpayhikân. (I sweep the floor.)
- Nikanâcihcikân. (I clean the house.)
- Nikâsiyâkanân. (I wash the dishes.)
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–3.3 manage group actions

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. engage in turn taking

Sharing Circle

Teach and model vocabulary for turn taking; e.g.,
- Kiya êkwa. (It’s your turn.)
- Niya êkwa. (It’s my turn.)
- Ay ay. (Thank you.)

Demonstrate when to use turn-taking vocabulary. Have the students sit in a sharing circle. Ask the students to use stuffed toys or puppets to practise vocabulary. Record the new vocabulary and post it.

Class Picture

Pick a general subject, such as my community or our field trip, and have the students take turns drawing a picture related to the topic. Have each student add to the picture, then pass the drawing to another student, using appropriate turn-taking vocabulary; e.g.,
- Kiya êkwa. (It’s your turn.)
- Niya êkwa. (It’s my turn.)
- Ay ay. (Thank you.)

Playing Games

Invite the students play board games of their choice while using Cree verbs to manage taking turns; e.g., one student says, Kiya êkwa, then the next student says, Niya êkwa and so on.

General Outcome for Applications

Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–3 to get things done

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

b. encourage other group members to act appropriately

A–3.3 manage group actions

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Puppet Shows
Using puppets, demonstrate a scene in which one puppet does not follow classroom rules; e.g., the puppet interrupts the teacher while he or she is giving instructions. Ask the students to use puppets to demonstrate how to correct the situation; e.g., encourage the puppet to be quiet while the teacher is talking, encourage the puppet to wait its turn.

Divide the students into groups and have them use puppets to act out similar scenarios, using phrases such as Kâmwayâtipi (Sit quietly).
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

➤ MATERIALS

Puppets.
A–4 to form, maintain and change interpersonal relationships

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. exchange simple greetings and simple social expressions

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Greetings

List greetings in the Cree language, then introduce them to the students; e.g.,

– Tân’si? (How are you?)
– Nâmôya nân ’taw, kiya mâka? (Fine, and you?)
– Pihtokwê. (Come in.)
– Tawâw. (Welcome.)

Divide the students into pairs and ask them to take turns greeting one another using these phrases. After a few minutes, ring a bell or clap your hands and ask the students to change partners. Students exchange greetings with their new partners and then change partners again and repeat this procedure several times. Place the greetings on the word wall for student reference.

➤ Mahti!

Model different uses of the expression mahti/mahtêsa (excuse me or please) in various contexts. Have the students imitate the appropriate use of the expression by role-playing situations in pairs or groups.

Encourage the students to use the expression in class. Record different uses of the expression on a word wall for student reference.

➤ Meeting the Parents

Before a school event, such as meet the teacher or an open house, teach the vocabulary needed to introduce parents; e.g., Nikâwiy nimâmâ awa. (This is my mother.) Have the students work in pairs to practise these phrases while pretending to be their family members or other significant adults. At the event, have the students introduce their family members or other significant adults in Cree.

General Outcome for Applications

Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–4  to form, maintain and change interpersonal relationships

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

b. exchange some basic personal information; e.g., their name, age

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Inside–Outside Circle
Teach vocabulary associated with asking for and giving personal information. Record and post commonly used questions for exchanging personal information; e.g.,

- Tân'isi kit'siyhkâson? (What is your name?)
- Niwîhowin ______. (My name is ______.)
- Tànitahito kitatahtoponân? (How old are you?)
- ______ nitahtoponân. (I am ______ years old.)
- Tân’té kwîkin? (Where do you live?)
- ______ niwîkin. (I live in ______.)

The class then assembles in an inside–outside circle (half the class creates an inside circle and faces the other half of the class, who are in the outside circle). The inside circle periodically moves in one direction, allowing the students various opportunities to exchange information.

➢ Family Album
Have the students design a collage of their families (Pêyakôshân – My Family) using pictures or drawings of themselves and their family members to acknowledge basic kinship relationships. Have the students label the pictures in Cree and present them orally. Provide the students with vocabulary such as:

- nôhkom (my grandmother)
- nimosôm (my grandfather)
- nikâwiy (my mother)
- nohtâwiy (my father)
- nisîmisak (my younger siblings)
- nistês (my older brother)
- nimis (my older sister).

Caution
Be sensitive to each student’s personal family situation when exploring kinship relationships.

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

- a. gather simple information

What Animals Eat

Introduce and teach vocabulary associated with animals; e.g.,
- mikisiw/kihêw (bald eagle/golden eagle)
- wawâskiisîw (elk)
- wâpos (rabbit)
- mîscâkanis (coyote).

Also teach the students the names of common food for animals; e.g.,
- maskosiya (grass)
- mînîsa (berries)
- mîtosak (trees).

Have the students collect basic information about animals and what they eat from their own experiences, interviews of Elders or others in the community and simple texts. Have them work together to create a classroom display of the information.

What Makes Up a House?

Divide the students into pairs and have them find images of houses—a picture from a magazine, a photograph of a house or, if available, a photograph of their own homes. Then, have them label the parts of the house in Cree. To access the vocabulary needed, encourage the students to consult a variety of reference materials; e.g., dictionaries, Internet. Before the activity begins, brainstorm a list of possible sources and note them on the board. Once the project is completed, discuss, as a class, strategies the students used to gather the information.

Object Inventory

Prepare a Cree vocabulary list of objects in the classroom; e.g., chairs, desks, windows, doors, boards, pictures, people. Divide the students into pairs and have them create simple graphs to indicate how many of each item can be found in the classroom.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment

Create an outcome-based checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Use the checklist to assess if students are able to gather simple information (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Observation Checklist).

MATERIALS

- Flash cards with Cree vocabulary related to animals and common foods.
- Pictures or photographs of houses, computer and printer (if available), Internet, dictionaries.
- List of various objects in the classroom.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–5 to enhance their knowledge of the world

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

b. organize items in different ways

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➢ Know Your Colours
Introduce and teach vocabulary related to the pîsimoyâpi (rainbow). Ask the students to record rainbow colours in their notebooks. Have each student record a personal significance for each colour. For example:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Inanimate</th>
<th>Inanimate object</th>

<td>wâposâwâw</td>
</tr>
<tr>

<td>askihtakwâw</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>blue</td>
<td>sipihkwâw</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Have the students combine the information about the colours in charts and graphs; e.g., showing students’ favourite colours.

➢ Nature Walk
Plan a nature walk and have the students collect and/or identify a number of objects in Cree. Have the students work with partners to categorize their items using criteria such as [animate/inanimate]:

- misikitiw/misâw (big) and apisisiw/apisâsin (little)
- kâwisiw/kâwâw (rough) and sôsikisiw/sôskwâw (smooth)
- cimisiw/cimâsin (short) and kinosiw/kinwâw (tall).

➢ Shoe Shuffle
Ask the students to sit in a circle, take off their shoes and place them in the middle. Invite the students to share their ideas on how to organize the shoes; e.g., kêtusinâstêk (by colour), pêyakwayi (in pairs), misi/apisâsin (big/small). Provide vocabulary as needed and record and post new words, phrases or expressions for future reference.

  - Kitotâhêpayan kikiskinohamâkosiwin. (You are late for class.)
  - Kinitawêyihtên sînihkomâkan. (You need a tissue.)

  Ask the students to work in pairs or small groups and give them problems to solve. Have them role-play the problems and solutions for the rest of the class.

- Which One Is Not Like the Others?
  Display items of a similar nature; e.g., clothing, food, animals, on a table or an overhead. Add several items that do not belong. Ask the students to decide which items do not fit and why, and name the items.

| b. respond sensitively to the ideas and products of others | Discuss with the class the importance of respecting the ideas and creations of other students. During the discussion, make it clear that laughing at or ridiculing other students’ ideas or creations is not acceptable behaviour. Display and frequently refer to a poster indicating, in Cree, appropriate responses; e.g.,
- Miy’wâsin. (It’s good.)
- Nimiy’wêhtên. (I like it.)
- Miyohtâkwân. (It sounds good.)
- Nimiyohtên. (I like the sound of it.) |

➤ Aboriginal Art Critique
Model appropriate comments and respectful questions students might use in regard to another student’s work. Record and post these examples for student reference. Invite the students to create a piece of Aboriginal art based on a specific group they are studying. Have them share their artwork in groups of four. Students in the group then respond to the sharing in a respectful and sensitive manner, making positive comments and asking respectful questions.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–5 to enhance their knowledge of the world

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
• respond sensitively to the ideas and products of others?

Informal Observation
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Make mental notes of the extent to which students are able to respond sensitively to the ideas and products of others. Offer feedback, encouragement and praise as needed.

Peer-assessment Checklist
With the students, collaboratively create an outcome-based peer-assessment checklist. Students use the checklist to determine if their peers are able to respond sensitively to the ideas and products of others (see sample backline master in Appendix E: Peer-assessment Checklist).

MATERIALS

• Poster indicating appropriate classroom behaviour.
• Pocket chart or word wall, materials needed for art project.
SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

- A–6.1 humour/fun

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- “The Wâhkôhtowin Song”
  Teach and practise singing the “Wâhkôhtowin” song by Jerry Saddleback with students.

  Extension
  Reinforce the concept of wâhkôhtowin using a kinship chart.

- Duck, Duck, Goose
  Play simple games such as Niska, Niska, Sîsîp (Duck, Duck, Goose). Every few rounds, have the students use new animal names.

- Charades
  Using the rules of the charades game, act out words while letting the students guess the words in Cree; e.g.,
  - sîsâwipahta (jog)
  - sipwêhtê (leave)
  - mêtawê (play)
  - nipâ (sleep)
  - pîmîpahtâ (run)
  - pâhpi (laugh)
  - atoksê (work)
  - mâto (cry)
  - ayamihcikê (read).
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–6 for imaginative purposes and personal enjoyment

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
• use the language for fun?

➤ Anecdotal Notes
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Note the extent to which students are able to use the language for fun, and record anecdotal notes (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Anecdotal Notes).

➤ Informal Observation
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Make mental notes of the extent to which students are able to use the language for fun. Offer feedback, encouragement and praise as needed.

➤ Learning Log
Students reflect on their learning and how well they were able to use the language for fun.

MATERIALS

➤ Recording of the “Wâhkôhtowin” song by Jerry Saddleback.

➤ None required.

➤ None required.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–6 for imaginative purposes and personal enjoyment

A–6.2 for creative/aesthetic purposes

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. use the language creatively; e.g., participate in activities that play on the sounds and rhythms of the language

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ “Kîspin Kimiy’wêyihtên”
Teach the words and actions to the song “Kîspin Kimiy’wêyihtên” by Brian MacDonald. Video record a class performance of the song and view it later as a class.

➤ Rap It Up: Your Own Version
Invite the students to rap or sing Cree songs, poems and/or nursery rhymes. Once they have mastered the tune and rhythm of the song, have them, in groups of two to four, create their own versions using words related to the theme being studied. Invite them to prepare posters based on the songs, poems or nursery rhymes and present them to the class. For example:

Éwapisksit atim, (A white dog.)
Éwapisksit atim. (A white dog.)
Kîkwây kiwâpamâw? (What do you see?)
Niwapamâw éwapisksit atim (I see a white dog)
Ékaniwâpimit. (Looking at me.)
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–6 for imaginative purposes and personal enjoyment

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
• use the language creatively?

Learning Log
Students reflect on their learning and how well they were able to use the language creatively.

Observation Checklist
Create an outcome-based checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Use the checklist to assess if students are able to use the language creatively (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Observation Checklist).

MATERIALS

> Recording of “Kispin Kimiy’wëyihtën” by Brian MacDonald, video recorder.
> Materials for creating posters.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–6 for imaginative purposes and personal enjoyment

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. use the language for personal enjoyment; e.g., listen to favourite songs

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

Puppet Show

 Invite the students to use puppets to act out a basic dialogue of their choosing; e.g.,
- Tân'si? (How are you?)
- Namôya nân'taw? (I am fine.)
- Tân'tê ohci kîya? (Where are you from?)
- _____ nîtsihkâson. (My name is_____.)
- Tân'si kit'sihkâson? (What is your name?)
- _____ ohci nîya. (I’m from_____.)

Song and Dance

 Introduce and teach the Cree vocabulary for the song “Niyanân Piyësîšak.” Model and perform the actions for the song. Have the students repeat the actions. Divide the students into groups and have them practise the song with their groups. Then have each group perform and share its actions with the rest of the class.

Extension

 Divide the students into groups and have them choose a favourite song or poem to perform for the rest of the class.

Game Time!

 Teach the students to play common board games (e.g., bingo, Snakes and Ladders, memory games) related to a theme being studied in Cree. Have them form small groups and play the games, using proper vocabulary for taking turns, rolling the dice and other game routines.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–6 for imaginative purposes and personal enjoyment

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
- use the language for personal enjoyment?

➤ Anecdotal Notes
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Note the extent to which students are able to use the language for personal enjoyment, and record anecdotal notes (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Anecdotal Notes).

MATERIALS

➤ Puppets.

➤ Words and actions to the song “Niyanân Piyêsîsak.”

➤ Board games, dice, game pieces.
LC–1 attend to the form of the language

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. recognize and pronounce basic sounds

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Syllabics Song
Have the students memorize and sing simple songs to practise the sounds from the Cree syllabic chart that highlight different phonological aspects of the Cree language. Have student volunteers point to specific sounds on a syllabic chart as the class sings.

➤ Echo Songs
Introduce and teach the vocabulary from echo songs, such as the “Tân’si Tân’si” song by Brian MacDonald. Have the students participate in the singing of these echo songs in groups or as a class. Use the model of the “Tân’si Tân’si” song to create songs that introduce correct pronunciation of common words and phrases to the class.
General Outcome for Language Competence
Students will be effective, competent and comfortable as Cree speakers.

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

- recognize and name some elements of the writing systems; i.e., letters of the standard Roman orthography and/or the syllabic system

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Alphabet Word Wall
  Create a display or word wall using the Cree alphabet and sample words for each letter of the alphabet. Have the students play a simple game in which you say a word and a student points to the word in the alphabet display. Refer to the alphabet display during other spelling exercises or games.

- Syllabics and Alphabet
  Review the Syllabics Chart with students and compare it to the Cree alphabet. Ask the students to identify what is similar and different between the two writing systems. It may be helpful to use a graphic organizer, such as a Venn diagram, for this task.

- Alphabet Book
  Ask the students to create alphabet books with a picture and word beside each letter. Teach the students various chants to help them remember the letter sounds.

- Acrostic Poem
  Have the students create acrostic poems using vocabulary words; e.g.,

  SKY
  Soaring high
  Keeps going endlessly
  Years pass and yet it stays the same.

  KÔNA
  Kiya mahti
  Øta
  Nipawi ēkwa

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. use a repertoire of words and phrases in familiar contexts, within a variety of lexical fields, including:
   - my family
   - my daily routines
   - my body
   - seasons
   - weather
   - clothing
   - my house
   - things around me
   - any other lexical fields that meet their needs and interests

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

▶ Everyday Vocabulary
Introduce words used for familiar situations; e.g.,

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Phrase</th>
<th>Situation</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>óta</td>
<td>as response during roll call</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>niya</td>
<td>when introducing themselves</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ay ay</td>
<td>when thanking each other or the teacher</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

▶ Body Parts Vocabulary Game
Introduce and post vocabulary for body parts. Invite the students to play a game in which a body part is called out and students point to the part on their own body. If a student points to an incorrect body part, he or she sits down.

▶ Familiar Objects
Review a series of familiar objects and ask the students the question Kîkwây awa/ôma? (What is this?) for each object as you pull it out of a bag. Ask the students to respond with ______________ awa/ôma. (This is ______________.)

▶ Ready for Recess?
Before recess, have the students partner up. Model the following sentence patterns and post them if necessary. Have one partner tell the other partner in Cree:

- Miska kiskotâkay. (Find your coat. Put on your coat.)
- Miskaw kitastisak. (Find your gloves. Put on your gloves.)
- Miska kitastotin. (Find your hat. Put on your hat.)
- Miska kimaskisina. (Find your boots. Put on your boots.)

Have the other partner repeat the instructions until both are ready for recess.

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. use, in modelled situations*, the following grammatical elements:
   • demonstrative pronouns awa, ôma, anima, ôki, aniki, ôhi, anihi singular, plural animate:
     awa / this one – ôki / these;
     ôma / this one – ôhi / these;
     ana / that one – aniki / those ones inanimate:
     anima / that one – anihi / those;
     nema / that one – nehi / those;
     nâha / that one – neki / those
   • nouns – animate (NA):

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ All about Me Booklets or Digital Slide Show Presentations
Have the students prepare small booklets or digital slide show presentations in which they create or import pictures or photographs to share information about themselves. Have the students use posted word lists, brainstormed by the students or created by the teacher, and follow the pattern:
   – Nimiwitên oma ________. (I like ________.) [singular]
   – Nimiwitên ohih ________. (I like ________.) [plural]

Divide the students into small groups and have them share their projects. Have the students take turns asking their classmates questions using the following pattern:
   – Kimiywitên ________? (Do you like ________?) [singular]

Extension
The students can take turns asking each other questions using the following pattern:
   – Kikawacin ci ________? (Are you cold?) [singular]
   – Nikawacin. (I am cold.)
   – Kinohtêkwasin ci? (Are you sleepy?)
   – Ninohtêkwasinan. (We are sleepy.)

★ Modelled Situations: This term is used to describe learning situations where a model of specific linguistic elements is consistently provided and immediately available. Students in such situations will have an emerging awareness of the linguistic elements and will be able to apply them in very limited situations. Limited fluency and confidence characterize student language.
General Outcome for Language Competence

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Questioner–Responder–Recorder (Advanced Activity)
  Have the students form groups of three. One student becomes the Questioner, one the Responder and one the Recorder. Provide contexts involving learned vocabulary and focusing on different grammatical elements; e.g., school bag, locker, favourite activity. Model the activity with two students; e.g.:
  - Questioner: Kikwiy astêw kimaskimotihk? (What is in your school bag?)
  - Responder: Nimasinahikanahîhtîkos, nimasinahikâna êkwa nitastotin. (My pencil, my book and my cap.)
  - Recorder (records all the items mentioned): Morgan pêtaw masinahikanahîhtîkos, masinahikâna êkwa tastotin. (Morgan brought a pencil, a book and a cap.)

  The questioner can also ask if the responder has other items in his or her bag and the responder replies with êha or namoya (yes or no). If the reply is no, the responder names an item that he or she does have in the bag.

  Have references readily available so students can look up any vocabulary they might not have previously learned. Instruct students to change roles so that everyone has an opportunity to be the questioner, the responder and the recorder.

- Modelled Situations: This term is used to describe learning situations where a model of specific linguistic elements is consistently provided and immediately available. Students in such situations will have an emerging awareness of the linguistic elements and will be able to apply them in very limited situations. Give each team a set of blank flash cards and have them write on each card a word that ends in –win; e.g., mîcisôwin (a meal), pimohtêwin (a walk), nikamôwin (a song). Then, ask one team member to pick a flash card and perform the specified action while the rest of the team guesses what action is being performed. If the team guesses the action within a specified time limit, the next member of the same team picks a new card and performs the action. If the team fails to guess, the other team gets a turn.

- Numbered pictures of different objects posted around the classroom.
LC–2  interpret and produce oral texts

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. produce simple words and phrases, orally, in guided situations

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Common Classroom Phrases
  Teach the vocabulary for basic classroom survival phrases. Have the students practise using these common classroom phrases in pairs. Phrases might include:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Situation</th>
<th>Phrase</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>The student needs to go to the</td>
<td>Nikakiwayawan či?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>washroom</td>
<td>(Can I go out?)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The student is thirsty.</td>
<td>Ni nohtē âpâkwân.</td>

</tr>
<tr>
<td>The student does not understand.</td>
<td>Namōya nisîtohtēn.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>(I don’t understand.)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Encourage the students to use these phrases as the appropriate situations arise.

- Vocabulary Review and Skits
  Review simple common expressions; e.g.,
  – Èhâ/Namoya. (Yes/No.)
  – Tân ’si. (Hello.)
  – Mahti/Mahtēsa. (Please)
  – Ay ay, kinanâskomitin. (Yes, thank you.)
  – Iskwēsis niya. (I am a girl.)
  – Nâpēsis niya. (I am a boy.)
  – ________ nit’sîh kâson. (My name is __________.)

Have the students use these expressions to create short skits based on familiar situations; e.g., two people meeting for the first time, a child helping in the kitchen.

- Thematic Collages
  Ask the students to cut out pictures from magazines and prepare collages related to the current theme. Divide the students into small groups and have them take turns describing one of the pictures in the collage. The other group members try to guess which picture is being described.

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
- produce simple words and phrases, orally, in guided situations?

Observation Checklist
Create an outcome-based checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Use the checklist to assess if students are able to produce simple words and phrases, orally, in guided situations (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Observation Checklist).

Anecdotal Notes
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Note the extent to which students are able to produce simple words and phrases, orally, in guided situations, and record anecdotal notes (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Anecdotal Notes).

LC–2 interpret and produce oral texts

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. engage in simple interactions, using short, isolated phrases

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Red and Blue Cards
Hand out blue cards to half the students and red cards to the other half. Ask the students with blue cards to find students with red cards and say, Tân’si? (Hello, how are you?) The students with the red cards respond by saying, Monan’taw/Namôya nân’taw. (I am fine.) After several exchanges, have students switch roles.

➤ Classroom Guests
Invite another Cree class to your classroom and have the students engage in simple interactions by asking questions such as, Tân’si kit’sihkâson? (What is your name?)

➤ Field Trip
Organize a field trip. Prepare and introduce simple questions and phrases; e.g.,
– Kîkwây kiwâpahtên? (What do you see?)
– Nîwâpahtên _____. (I see a ______.)
– Kîkwây ewako? (What is that?)
– Ôma _____. (That is a ______.)

During the field trip, ask the students questions about what they see. Encourage the students to ask simple questions of one another.

➤ Simple Cree Skits
Divide the students into groups of two. Allow 15 to 20 minutes for them to prepare a skit in which they use various expressions, such as those used in the above activities. Have each group act out its skit for the class. Sample scenarios to use include a short telephone call, running into a friend on the street or buying a small item at the store.

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
• engage in simple interactions, using short, isolated phrases?

Material: Red and blue cards.

➤ Anecdotal Notes
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Note the extent to which students are able to engage in simple interactions, using short, isolated phrases, and record anecdotal notes (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Anecdotal Notes).

Material: Cree-speaking class guests.

➤ Learning Log
Students reflect on their learning and how well they were able to engage in simple interactions, using short, isolated phrases.

Material: None required.

➤ Informal Observation
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Make mental notes of the extent to which students are able to engage in simple interactions, using short, isolated phrases. Offer feedback, encouragement and praise as needed.

Material: None required.

➤ Rating Scale
Create an outcome-based rating scale and share it with students before they begin the activity. Use the rating scale to assess how well students are able to engage in simple interactions, using short, isolated phrases (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Rating Scale 1, 2 or 3).

- Sentence Strip Stories

  Write a simple sequence of events to form a basic storyline. Record each event on a separate sentence strip. Ask the students to read the sentence strips and put them in the correct order, then post them on the wall.

- Play “I Spy” – Niwâpahtên ôma [inanimate]

  Teach the students vocabulary associated with colours. Ask them the question, Kîkwây mihkonâkwan? (What looks red?). Each of the students is to point at something inanimate; e.g., chair. Select items to use, e.g., wâskahikan (house), téhtapiwin (chair), mohkomân (knife), and ask, Tânisi tasinâstêw ôma? (What colour is this?). Have the students read back simple written sentences generated during the game; e.g.,

  - Mihkonâkwan wâskahikan. (The house is red.)
  - Mihkonâkwan téhtapiwin. (The chair is red.)
  - Mihkonâkwan mohkomân. (The knife is red.)

LC–3 interpret and produce written and visual texts

Specific Outcomes
Students will be able to:

a. produce simple written words and phrases in guided situations

Sample Teaching and Learning Activities

➢ Matching and Writing
Provide a list of simple Cree sentences and ask the students to match them with corresponding English sentences; e.g.,
- Nimâmâ awa. [NPC] Nikâwiy awa. [SPC] (This is my mother.)
- Nikîhcêyîhten Nêhiyaw niya. (I am proud I’m Cree.)
- Iskwêsis niya. (I am a girl.)
- Nâpêsis niya. (I am a boy.)

Have the students write simple introductions of themselves in Cree using the provided sentences as a model.

➢ Simple Story
Have the students use simple words and phrases to write a short narrative as a group. Before they begin, prepare a model narrative to support student learning and post it on the wall.

➢ Question and Guess
Have each student write a noun (e.g., name of a fruit) on a piece of paper and tape it to the back of a classmate. Have each student prepare questions designed to determine what noun has been posted on his or her back; e.g., Niya cî wâkâs? (Am I a banana?). Invite the students to then ask each other questions to see if they can guess the nouns they have posted on their backs.
LC-3 interpret and produce written and visual texts

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
- produce simple written words and phrases in guided situations?

➢ Self-assessment Checklist and Goal Setting
Create an outcome-based self-assessment checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Students use the checklist to determine if they are able to produce simple written words and phrases in guided situations. Encourage students to set goals for future learning (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Self-assessment Checklist and Goal Setting).

➢ Peer-assessment Checklist
With the students, collaboratively create an outcome-based peer-assessment checklist. Students use the checklist to determine if their peers are able to produce simple written words and phrases in guided situations (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Peer-assessment Checklist).

➢ Informal Observation
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Make mental notes of the extent to which students are able to produce simple written words and phrases in guided situations. Offer feedback, encouragement and praise as needed.

LC–3 interpret and produce written and visual texts

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. derive meaning from visuals and other forms of nonverbal communication in guided situations

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Art Walk
Arrange a field trip to an art gallery or view an art gallery on a Web site. Have the students quietly observe the art displays and then have them answer questions based on the experience. For example:
- Kimiywâpisinin ci? (Do you like what you see?)
- Kîkwây mâmawaci kimiywêhtên? (What do you like best?)
- Tânîhki? (Why?)

➤ Nonverbal Communication
Sitting in a circle, have each student draw a dwelling of any type on a piece of paper. Allow them five minutes to complete this task. After the students have completed their drawings, divide them into pairs and have each pair draw the same dwelling at the same time without talking to their partners as they draw.

After the activity, gather the students into a sharing circle. Ask questions such as:
- Tân’ sîsi kisivêhtamâtonâwâw kîkwâya? (How did you communicate with your partner?)

- Charades
  Write simple messages on paper strips; e.g., Namoya nikiskatēn. (I don’t know.), Tawaw. (Welcome.), Mahtiapis. (Please sit down.), Êha/Namoya (Yes/No). Divide the students into pairs and have one student choose a paper strip from a bag. The student must then relay the written message to his or her partner using only nonverbal communication.

- Picture Game
  Make paper strips with simple Cree words or phrases. Hand out one paper strip to each student. Divide the class into two teams. Have one player from each team take a turn drawing a picture of the word/phrase on his or her paper strip. The drawer’s team attempts to guess the Cree word or phrase. When the word or phrase is guessed correctly, write it on the board.

- Storyboard
  Once the students have learned the relevant vocabulary and grammatical structures, show a short video. After viewing the video, ask the students to pair up and complete a storyboard for the video with illustrations depicting what they saw.

- Collages
  Have the students cut out pictures from magazines and prepare collages related to the lexical fields studied. Invite the students to present their collages in small groups and describe how they used the visuals to create meaning.

➤ Adjusting the Volume
Provide the students with statements related to asking someone to adjust their volume; e.g.,
- Sôhki pikiskwê. (Speak strongly.)
- Pêyahtik pikiskwê. (Speak softly.)
- Kisîwê pikiskwê. (Speak louder.)

Have the students participate in activities in which they have to adjust the volume of their voices to match various classroom situations; e.g., reading a story in pairs, performing a skit. Remind the students to use the phrases they have been taught.

➤ Practising Presentation Volume
Before the students present for the class, have them review appropriate speaking volume; e.g., loud enough so that everyone can hear, but not too loud. Have the students practise speaking at an appropriate volume when presenting to the class. Consider video or audio recording their presentations and then reviewing them with the students.

➢ Respecting Others
Discuss how loud or angry voices can be intrusive to others; e.g., Elders do not project their voices because it interferes with other people’s space and loud voices are used for dangerous situations or to signal an alarm.

Have the students brainstorm instances in which a loud voice would be intrusive and might cause a negative reaction from others.

➢ High, Low and Medium
Demonstrate speaking in a high voice while standing on tiptoes, in a low (serious, angry) voice while squatting and in a normal voice while standing on flat feet. Ask the students to imitate you. After a few tries, speed up or slow down the change in your tone of voice.

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. imitate age-appropriate expressions

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Idiomatic Expressions
  Have the students brainstorm idiomatic expressions (i.e., sayings or phrases that are used regionally and may not have meaning to outsiders) used in their families, school or community. Practise these idioms with the students and list them on the board. Present simple scenarios orally in Cree. After hearing the scenarios, have the students respond orally, in Cree, with appropriate idiomatic expressions. Students collaborate to create posters that show the phrase, its actual meaning and an illustration. Create idiom dictionaries that explain the meanings of each idiom.

- Differences of Expression
  Introduce and model expressions used by various communities; e.g., Wahwâ or Mâ (expression of surprise or wonder). Ask the students to repeat as you say these regional expressions in Cree.

- Idiom Skits
  Review a list of idiomatic expressions and have the students provide an example of when each one might be used. Ask the students to then create short skits based on the idioms and present their skits to the rest of the class.

- Idiom Search
  Collect a variety of children’s magazines in Cree. Ask the students to look through them to see if they can find idiomatic expressions. Have them copy the idiomatic expressions from magazines into their personal dictionaries.

Ask the students to listen to audio recordings and/or watch videos of speakers of Cree who come from different communities in Alberta. Afterward, discuss as a class the differences and similarities between the different accents; e.g., between Woodland Cree and Plains Cree. As a class, complete a Venn diagram to show the differences and similarities between the different speakers.

➤ Voices from the Community
Invite Elders from other communities to speak to the students in Cree. Ask the guests to speak about their community events. Have the students prepare questions for the speakers.

Ask the students to then present a picture essay with some writing about the communities of the guest speakers. Such experiences serve to expand student knowledge and appreciation of variations in Aboriginal languages and cultures.

Other similar routines can be done around the school; e.g., in the library (signing out a book, returning a book). Have the students watch their videos and discuss the interactions.
| | ➤ Classroom Phrases |
| | At the beginning of the school year, have the students make posters of common classroom phrases. Display the posters on classroom walls. Encourage the students to use the expressions appropriately in the Cree classroom. For example:
| | – Astam óta. (Come here.)
| | – Astam’tik óta nitotawik. (Come here and listen to me.)
| | – Papiyahitik. (Sit still./Be careful./Use caution.)
| | – Kâya piikiskwê. (Don’t talk.)
| | – Mahti peyitisinamawin masinahikan. (Please pass me the book.)
| | – Ka kî wîcihitan cî? (Can I help you?)
| | – Nînîtohtê wîcihikawin. (I need some help.)
| | – Namôya ninisitohtên. (I don’t understand.)

LC–4 apply knowledge of the sociocultural context

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

- a. understand the meaning of, and imitate, some common nonverbal behaviours used in Cree culture

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Nonverbal Communication Skits
  Model nonverbal communication; e.g., eye contact, hand signals (such as curling your index finger to beckon someone), lip pointing, shrugging shoulders. Ask the students to identify what each gesture means. Divide the students into pairs to create skits in which they converse with each other using only nonverbal communication.

- Body Language
  After watching a presentation by a speaker (on video or in person), have the class discuss what types of body language the speaker used and how this helped his or her presentation. Ask the students to practise the body language modelled by the speaker.

  Consider video recording the students’ body language to review as a class.

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
- understand the meaning of, and imitate, some common nonverbal behaviours used in Cree culture?

➤ Observation Checklist
Create an outcome-based checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Use the checklist to assess if students are able to understand the meaning of, and imitate, some common nonverbal behaviours used in Cree culture (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Observation Checklist).

➤ Learning Log
Students reflect on their learning and how well they were able to understand the meaning of, and imitate, some common nonverbal behaviours used in Cree culture.

MATERIALS

➤ Examples of nonverbal behaviours used in Cree culture, various props.

➤ Examples of nonverbal behaviours used in Cree culture, video recorder.
LC–5 apply knowledge of how the language is organized, structured and sequenced

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. imitate speech that uses simple link words

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Linking Words

Introduce simple linking words. Write out appropriate link words and teach sample phrases to demonstrate when students would use them; e.g.,

- ahpô (or)
- êkwa mâna (and also)
- âhcipoko (nevertheless)
- êkwa (and)
- asci mâna (including).

Ask the students to then write a sentence using nouns, verbs and the linking words they just learned. Have the students pair up and present their sentences to their partners. For example:

- Eliza âyawêw nisto ahpô nêwo minôsa êkwa mâna nîso atimwa. (Eliza has three or four cats and also two dogs.)

➤ Chain Game

Arrange the students in a circle or long, snake-like line. Begin the activity by stating something appropriate to the theme being studied; e.g., Niwihkistên _____. (I like the taste of _____.) The first student repeats what you say and uses a simple link word (i.e., conjunction) to continue the sentence. As each student takes his or her turn, he or she repeats what all previous students said and adds a new idea; e.g.,

- Niwihkistên micimápoy. (I like soup.)
- Niwihkistên micimápoy êkwa maskihkiwápoy. (I like soup and tea.)

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. experience a variety of oral text forms

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➢ Oral Texts

Introduce various oral texts; e.g., speeches, legends, creation myths and stories. Have the students identify the forms of oral texts they have listened to in class. Consider using video or audio recordings of Elders telling stories or have Elders visit the class.

➢ Story Map

Have the students fill out graphic organizers based on oral stories presented in class. For example:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>mâcihtâ (beginning)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>âpihtaw (middle)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>naki (end)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>âcimâkanak (characters)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>kîkwây kikiskêyihtên (message or moral)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

➢ Character Analysis

Ask the students to choose their favourite characters from oral stories and legends. Brainstorm descriptive words in Cree to describe them; e.g., kêhtayak (old man), oskinikês (young man), mocîyasiniw (silly person), sokamêmo ayisiniw (brave person). Have the students create collages using descriptive words to represent the characters.

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Beginning and End

  To prepare for listening to oral stories, discuss kētahtawē ēsa, pēyakwâw ēsa, kayâs ēsa (the beginning of the story) and ēkosi (the end). Facilitate a discussion about the characteristics of the beginning of a story, e.g., nakiskamohta (introduction), and the end of a story; e.g., kisipayi (resolution). A graphic organizer, such as a story map, may be helpful for this activity.

After the readings, ask the students to review the concepts and discuss what they have learned about Mother Earth. Have the students create pictures or paintings that depict the concept of Mother Earth. |

➤ Caring for Mother Earth
Discuss with students different ways people care for Mother Earth. As a class, brainstorm ways the students can take care of the Earth; e.g., recycling, schoolyard clean-up.

➤ Respecting Nature
Before going on a nature walk, introduce the students to the concept of pêyahtik ka pimohtêyêk (walk gently on Mother Earth). Ask the students to practise walking and interacting with nature in a respectful way.

  Brainstorm the Cree way of life in the past and present. For example, in the past, Cree people used moss bags for diapers. Introduce Cree vocabulary such as kayâs (long ago) and anohe (today).

- Predicting Seasonal Patterns

  Invite a guest speaker to discuss how seasonal patterns are predicted from observing changes in animals and the environment. Ask the students to illustrate changes in animals and the environment used to predict weather patterns; e.g., northern lights, rabbits, leaves, sun dogs. Discuss how the use of these patterns has changed from the past to the present.

- Seasonal Cultural Activities

➤ None required.

★ The terms “Mother Earth” and “Creator” are identified as discretionary terms in the Cree Language and Culture Program of Studies. Communities may choose to use these terms or to use other related terms acceptable to them (e.g., nature, the environment) in order to teach the outcomes in this section.
General Outcome for Community Membership

Students will live (wâ)wêtina(hk) (peacefully) with Kikâwînaw Askiy (Mother Earth*), others and themselves, guided by Omâmawi Ohtâwîmâw (the Creator*).

CM–1 Kikâwînaw Askiy (Mother Earth*)

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

b. participate in activities and experiences that reflect diversity in perspectives related to Kikâwînaw Askiy (Mother Earth*)

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➢ Cree Calendars

Introduce or review the months in Cree. Explain the variations in the months between different Cree regions. Ask the students to illustrate Cree calendars using the names of the months from a variety of Cree communities.

➢ Beadwork

Show pictures and samples of different beadwork from different Cree regions. Ask the students to identify the differences and similarities between Woodland Cree and Plains Cree beadwork. Discuss the relationship between these patterns and Mother Earth.

Enrichment Activity

Invite the students to compare and contrast beadwork of various Aboriginal groups; e.g., Blackfoot, Dene.

➢ Seasonal Stories

Present stories from a variety of groups related to a season. Encourage the students to listen for examples of how Mother Earth is described in these stories and paint pictures that depict Mother Earth in the chosen season.

CM–1 Kikâwînaw Askiy (Mother Earth*)

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment

Does the student:

- participate in activities and experiences that reflect diversity in perspectives related to Kikâwînaw Askiy (Mother Earth*)?

Anecdotal Notes

Observe students as they participate in the activity. Note the extent to which students are able to participate in activities and experiences that reflect diversity in perspectives related to Kikâwînaw Askiy (Mother Earth), and record anecdotal notes (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Anecdotal Notes).

Learning Log

Students reflect on their learning and how well they were able to participate in activities and experiences that reflect diversity in perspectives related to Kikâwînaw Askiy (Mother Earth).

MATERIALS

- Cree calendar samples.
- Pictures and samples of different beadworks from different Cree regions or tribes.
- Diverse stories specific to a season, art supplies.

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

b. listen respectfully to others; i.e., storytelling, counsel, sharing circle

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Respectful Listening
Teach, model and provide examples of respectful listening. Discuss how the students can show respect for one another in class; e.g.,
– listen to each other without interruptions
– wait for their turn before speaking – speak in an appropriate voice.

Invite a visitor to do a presentation about respectful listening and have the students model respectful listening.

Extension
Invite the students to develop a guide booklet on how to listen respectfully to others at school, at home and in the community.

➤ Good Behaviours Role-play
Review with the students how to address an Elder and good listening practices. Have the students divide into pairs or groups and role-play proper greetings and positive listening behaviours.

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. participate in activities and experiences that convey knowledge of historical and contemporary Cree culture; i.e., storytelling, celebrations

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Animals and Plants
Introduce the genre of traditional Cree narratives related to animals and plants. Guide a discussion about the gifts that animals and plants offer us and how we can show them respect. Ask the students to draw pictures based on the traditional Cree narratives.

➤ Following Our Ancestors
After discussing Cree traditions and the Cree way of life, ask the students to identify how they can follow the ways of their Cree ancestors today; e.g., participate in ceremonies. Compile a list of ideas and have each student choose one item from the list that he or she can use. Several weeks later, ask the students to discuss how they followed the ways of their Cree ancestors.

➤ Cree Artwork
Examine various examples of traditional Cree artwork and crafts and identify common spiritual symbols or themes used; e.g., the circle of life, hunting, Mother Earth. Ask the students to choose a symbol or theme and create artwork based on their selection.

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. observe, understand and participate, with the group, in Cree cultural experiences, practices and activities

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➢ Sprucing Up
Bring a spruce bough to class for show and tell. Arrange the students in a large circle. Introduce and model the uses of spruce boughs. Provide the students with opportunities to experience sweeping the floor using a spruce bough. After the students have completed this activity, have them close their eyes and smell the freshness of the room.

➢ Animal Tracks
Using pictures, discuss how different animal tracks look. Divide the students into pairs and have them research animal tracks by interviewing a community member, reading books about animal tracks, visiting the library and/or using the Internet. Encourage the students to make cultural connections to Mother Earth while engaging in this activity.

➢ Celebrations and Festivals
As a class, watch a video presentation of a Cree celebration or festival. After watching the video, have the students participate in a discussion of what they saw. Ask questions such as:

- Kîkwây mâmawaci kimiyonên? (What was your favourite part of the video?)
- Kîkwây kikiskinohamákawisin Nêhiyâwpimâtisiwin? (What did you learn about Cree culture from the video?)
- Kinohî wîcîhîwan cî omísîsi kà isîhecihehk? Tânhki? Tânhki êkâ? (Would you like to participate in a celebration like the one shown? Why or why not?)

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

- a. listen to stories from the past and present and explore change

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Hunting Practices

  Make arrangements for a guest speaker to share stories about Cree hunting practices and how and why these practices have changed; e.g., the impact of the oil and gas industry, the introduction of reserves (less movement). Have the class compare past and present hunting practices in a chart; e.g.,

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Cree Hunting Practices</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Past</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• used bows and arrows to hunt</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• tribes moved according to the movements of herd animals/seasons</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

  Extension

  Brainstorm ways that past hunting traditions and practices can still be used today.

- Work at Home

  Invite a guest speaker to class to share stories about Cree domestic practices and traditions followed in the past; e.g., cooking, food preparation, child rearing.

  Ask each student to create a T-chart listing specific past and present domestic practices based on what he or she learned from the guest speaker. Then have the students share their charts with partners.

  Finally, create a class T-chart with the students’ contributions. For example:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Cree Domestic Practices</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Past</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• made and used moss bags as diapers</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• baked bannock over a fire</td>

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES
Students will be able to:

b. observe and participate in activities, experiences and products that reflect past and present, and explore change

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

Past and Present
Display pictures of Cree communities long ago and today. Have the students compare and contrast the communities of the past and present in a T-chart. For example:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Cree Communities</th>
<th>Past</th>
<th>Present</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>• tipis were the main source of shelter</td>
<td>• wooden houses are the main source of shelter</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• the community owned livestock together (communal livestock)</td>
<td>• livestock is owned by individuals or families</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Alternative Activity
Have the students create a Venn diagram in pairs or groups. Ask them to label the diagram “Communities Past and Present” and work together to fill in the diagram in Cree.

Artifact Collages
Ask the students to collect pictures of items, e.g., tools, instruments, modes of transportation, clothing, used a long time ago in Cree culture and pictures of comparable items used today. Have them use the pictures to create two collages, one for the past and one for the present.

Family Food Interview
Invite the students to interview their mosôm (grandfather), nôhkom (grandmother) or other relatives about traditional foods eaten a long time ago and whether this food is still available today. Ask the students to present the collected information to the rest of the class.

Discuss the concept of modesty—what modesty looks like and sounds like, e.g., not calling attention to yourself, not thinking that you are more important or talented than you are, not being showy or glamorous, and its importance as an expected cultural behaviour. Also discuss the importance of recognizing the talents and skills of others. Divide the students into pairs to interview one another about their skills and talents. Have each student present the skills and talents of his or her partner to the rest of the class.

➤ Role Models
Ask the students to research Cree role models with special talents; e.g., athletes, leaders, doctors, lawyers, artists, musicians. Have the students keep scrapbooks on one or more of their favourite role models and encourage them to share news about their role models as they hear or read about them.

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. tell and draw about themselves and their family, appreciate their own uniqueness, and understand and accept their own importance as people

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➢ Vocabulary Review
Discuss wâhkôhtowin (relationship) terms and use songs by Brian MacDonald to practise and reinforce these terms. Record and post wâhkohtôwin terms.

Note: Wâhkôhtowin means “relationship,” but can also mean “extended family.”

➢ My Family Album
Invite the students to bring photographs of their family members and important relatives in their lives to class. Have the students show their photographs and identify the relationships of their family members in Cree; e.g., niya (me), nimis (older sister), nistê (older brother). Ask the students to use the photographs to create family albums. On the covers of their albums, they are to paste photographs of themselves and label the album Niya (Me).

➢ Family Thank You
Set up a display based on family members. Discuss with the students how nôhkom (grandmother), nimosôm (grandfather), nikâwiy (mother) and nôhtâwiy (father) care for them and help them meet their basic needs, such as food, shelter and love. Have the students create and present speeches in which they thank their families for their help and support. Then, ask them to create thank-you cards for family members in Cree.

Caution
Be sensitive to each student’s personal family situation when exploring kinship relationships.

- Daily Routines
  Divide the students into groups and have them share information about a day in their life in which they describe their daily routines; e.g., walking the dog, eating, doing chores, participating in extra-curricular activities, spending time with friends.

- Family Roles
  Divide the students into small groups and ask them to explore the roles and responsibilities of each family member in their families and create “job descriptions” for each person.

- Family Nicknames
  Discuss with the students the unique nicknames used within Cree families. Invite the students to discuss their own nicknames and the nicknames of other people in their families and explain how they or their family members got their nicknames and what they mean.

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES
Students will be able to:

b. explore kinship

Aunts and Uncles
Explain why Cree people call others who are not related to them aunt and uncle. Invite the students to create a diagram of all the people they call aunt and uncle. For example:

Niwâhkomâkanak (My relatives)

Encourage the students to create their diagrams using computer software.

Family Trees
Introduce and teach family vocabulary and discuss the two sets of kinship terms—one for iskwêsîs (girls) and one for nápêsîs (boys). Describe how to create a family tree and have the students work as a class to fill in a sample family tree with the appropriate kinship terms. Then have the students create and share their own family trees with a peer.

• explore kinship?

➢ Observation Checklist
Create an outcome-based checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Use the checklist to assess if students are able to explore kinship (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Observation Checklist).

➢ Peer-assessment Checklist
With the students, collaboratively create an outcome-based peer-assessment checklist. Students use the checklist to determine if their peers are able to explore kinship (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Peer-assessment Checklist).

MATERIALS

➢ Markers, computer (optional).

➢ Sample family tree.

★ The terms “Mother Earth” and “Creator” are identified as discretionary terms in the Cree Language and Culture Program of Studies. Communities may choose to use these terms or to use other related terms acceptable to them (e.g., nature, the environment) in order to teach the outcomes in this section.
General Outcome for Community Membership

Students will live (wâ)wêtina(hk) (peacefully) with Kikâwînaw Askiy (Mother Earth*), others and themselves, guided by Omâmawi Ohtâwîmâw (the Creator*).

Specific Outcomes

- CM–3 of themselves

Sample Teaching and Learning Activities

1. Class Celebration of Spring

   Organize a class celebration of the first day of spring. Explain to the class how to give thanks for the gift of spring, when everything starts anew: new plants, new animals and new weather. Invite the students to watch for signs of spring and report them to the class as spring news reports. As part of the celebration, visit a zoo or farm to see baby animals or watch birds migrating.

2. Guest Speaker

   Invite a guest speaker to discuss how the qualities of animals can teach us about ourselves; e.g., the gentleness of a mouse or rabbit, the strength and patience of a bison, the determination of migrating birds. Various stories and legends can also be told to illustrate this concept.

3. Crafts Demonstration

   Invite a local Cree craftsperson to demonstrate how he or she creates cultural crafts. Invite the students to participate in creating their own unique cultural craft. Have them write a one- or two-paragraph summary about the cultural craft and share their products with the class.

---

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
• observe and participate in Cree cultural experiences, practices and activities?

- Anecdotal Notes
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Note the extent to which students are able to observe and participate in Cree cultural experiences, practices and activities, and record anecdotal notes (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Anecdotal Notes).

- Observation Checklist
Create an outcome-based checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Use the checklist to assess if students are able to observe and participate in Cree cultural experiences, practices and activities (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Observation Checklist).

- Learning Log
Students reflect on their learning and how well they were able to observe and participate in Cree cultural experiences, practices and activities.

MATERIALS

- None required.
- Guest speaker, various stories and legends.
- Local craftsperson, materials required for the craft.

- Life Cycle
  - Introduce and discuss the human life cycle; e.g.,
  - Kihtêyâya (Elder)
  - nâpêw (man)
  - iskwêw (woman)
  - iskwêsis (girl)
  - oskawâsis (baby/infant)
  - nâpêsis (boy)
  - oskay’siyiniw (adolescent)
  - Have the students make life cycle diagrams and paste photographs from home or pictures from magazines of people at the various stages of life.

- Elders’ Stories
  - Ask the students to listen as Elders tell stories of their youth. Ask the students to compare their lives with the lives of the Elders using a Venn diagram.

- Stages of Life
  - Invite the students to draw pictures of themselves at various stages of life in the life cycle. Encourage them to think about how their roles and responsibilities will change over time.

- Community Map
  Display an example of an illustrated community map. Have the students create a map of their community and label important buildings, such as school, store, community centre, and geographic features; e.g., lakes, rivers, hills. Have the students mark where their relatives live in the community. Ask the students to reflect on and discuss how their community affects who they are and the way of life of their family.

- Provincial Map
  Post a provincial map and have the students identify where their relatives live using a set of coloured dots or pins. Invite students to review the completed map and discuss what they see. Guide the discussion with appropriate questions; e.g.,
  - Awîna nawac wâhyaw wîkiw? (Who has family the farthest away?)
  - Awîna nawac pâhpiskihc wîkiw? (Whose family is the most spread out?)
  - Awîna kîkiyokêw ohpimê askîhk? (Who has visited their family in other provinces?)

- Take Care of Yourself
  Discuss with students how caring for one’s own body is a form of respect and describe facets of self care such as nutrition, hygiene and physical fitness. Have the students compose and ask questions in Cree about taking care of themselves.

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

CM–3 themselves

Students will be able to:

a. explore, observe, celebrate and recognize their own uniqueness; e.g., self, family

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ My Favourite Activities
Display a poster that provides examples of numerous favourite cultural activities. Using magazines and newspapers and/or the Internet, have the students create collages of their favourite cultural activities.

➤ Uniqueness
Introduce the concept of uniqueness and that all people are similar but unique. Have the students brainstorm and create a web of all the things about themselves that are unique. Consider using mind-mapping software to complete this activity.

S–1 language learning

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. use simple strategies, with guidance, to enhance language learning

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

▷ Songs and Actions
Explain to students that using physical actions can help them remember new vocabulary. Predetermine an action to symbolize each sound or word. Teach the students a simple Cree song that features particular actions or sounds for certain words. Perform the song with students, then encourage them to perform the song on their own.

▷ Picture Dictionary
Have the students use pictures, rather than English words, to create a dictionary and encourage them to use these images to remember new vocabulary; e.g., visualizing the image when seeing the word.

▷ Paired Repetition
When teaching new vocabulary from a lexical field, e.g., school, family, weather, seasons, present each word orally and ask the students to repeat the word. Focus on a small cluster of words (four or five) and have the students repeat them in pairs. Draw the students’ attention to the fact that oral repetition is a strategy that can help them learn and remember new words.
General Outcome for Strategies
Students will use strategies to maximize learning and communication.

S–1 language learning

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

MATERIALS

► Cree songs such as those found in Cree Songbook and Cree Songs by Brian MacDonald.

► None required.

► Vocabulary list.
General Outcome for Strategies
Students will use strategies to maximize learning and communication.

S–2 language use

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. use simple strategies, with guidance, to enhance language use

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Environmental Text
Post vocabulary around the room that directly relates to classroom objects. Ensure the posted vocabulary is clearly visible from all parts of the room. Post vocabulary of clothing items on cardboard silhouettes shaped like each clothing item. When the students need to produce these words in class, encourage them to look for the word in the classroom. Have the students list the new vocabulary words in their Learning Logs.

➤ Nonverbal Cues and Other Productive Strategies
Introduce and provide examples of appropriate nonverbal cues; e.g., nodding, gestures, eye contact. Ask the students about all the little tricks they can use to make themselves understood when they are speaking Cree; e.g., using different words to describe the same thing. Write down a list and point out that these are strategies they can use to help them communicate in Cree.
General Outcome for Strategies
Students will use strategies to maximize learning and communication.

S–3 cultural learning

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. use simple strategies, with guidance, to enhance cultural learning

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➢ The Natural Laws

Prepare posters or flash cards that list, in Cree, the Natural Laws that students encounter on a daily basis. Include any signs that may be associated with the Natural Laws. Introduce and practise these terms and invite the students to record any new words in their Learning Logs. The following are the six topics of Natural Laws:

− kihcêyihtowin/manât’sîwin (respect)
− tâpwêwin (honesty)
− pahkwênamâtowin (sharing)
− miyohtwâwin (kindness)
− kisêwâtisiwin (compassion)
− sâkihitowin (love).

➢ Cultural Vocabulary

Encourage the students to use the following Cree words in class, in school, at home and in the community:

− kihcêyihtowin/manât’sîwin (respect)
− kisêwâtisiwin (compassion)
− pahkwênamâtowin (sharing)
− wîcihitowin (helpfulness)
− miyohtwâwin (kindness)
− nanahihtamowin (obedience).

Explain the significance of each word and the importance of following these values at all times. Ask the students to create posters for each value and post them on the wall as reminders.

➢ Learning Logs

Using a scribbler or a binder, help the students organize their Learning Logs into appropriate sections; e.g., word lists, cultural vocabulary, strategies that help me learn, self-assessment, my strengths and weaknesses, goal setting. Explain that they will be using the Learning Logs regularly to help them become aware of how they think and learn.
General Outcome for Strategies
Students will use strategies to maximize learning and communication.

S–4 general learning

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. use simple strategies, with guidance, to enhance general learning

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➢ Taking Notes for Learning
Provide some tips for taking notes before the students begin their first note-taking task; e.g., don’t write down everything, ask yourself what seems important, look or listen for key words, write things in short form.

While preparing the students for a guest speaker or watching a video, discuss how to write down key ideas. After the students have taken notes, ask them to share some of them with the class.

➢ Creating an Effective Workspace
To help students understand that having an organized workspace contributes to success, brainstorm ways to keep organized in the classroom to help them learn, think and work more effectively. For example:

− Kikwây mâmawaci kitâpacihtân ita kâkiskinohamâkawiyan? (What items do you use most in Cree class?)
− Tän’ta nawac kimiywêhtên tahapiyan? (Where is your favourite place to sit?)

Have the students create a workspace plan, in Cree and English, to include in their Learning Logs.

General Outcomes
General outcomes are broad statements identifying the knowledge, skills and attitudes that students are expected to achieve in the course of their language learning experience. The four general outcomes serve as the foundation for the program of studies.

The terms “Mother Earth” and “Creator” are identified as discretionary terms in the Cree Language and Culture Program of Studies. Communities may choose to use these terms or to use other related terms acceptable to them (e.g., nature, the environment) in order to teach the outcomes in this section.
Applications

General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–1 to share information

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. ask for and provide basic information

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

Daily Routine
Establish a daily routine in which you regularly ask and reinforce the following questions:
- Tântahto akimâw anohc pîsim? (What is today’s date?)
- Kêko pîsim mêkwâc? (What month is it?)
- Kêko kîsikâw anohc? (What day of the week is it today?)
- Tân ’si ēsi kîsikâw? (How is the weather?)

What Is This?
Draw a person on the board and label all the body parts to be taught. Then point to a body part and ask, Kîkwây ôma?/Kîkwây āwa? (What is this?) Have the students respond by saying the name of each body part: e.g., mistikwân (head). Organize the students into pairs and have them practise asking their partners, Kîkwây ôma?/Kîkwây āwa? (What is this?) for each body part. Then have the students ask each other questions such as, Mistikwân ci ôma? (Is this a head?) The partner replies to the question in Cree; e.g., Mistikwân ēwako. (That is a head.)

Greetings
Create an introduction dialogue that students will practise in pairs; e.g.,
- Tân ’si? (Hello, how are you?)
- Namôya nántaw. (I am fine.)
- Tân ’si kit'sihkâson? (What is your name?)
- ______ nit'sihkâson. (My name is ______.)
- Tântê ohci kiya? (Where do you live?)
- Wabasca, ohci niya. (I am from Wabasca.)

Have the students perform their dialogues. Consider video recording the dialogues for viewing by the students.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
• ask for and provide basic information?

▶ Self-assessment Checklist
Create an outcome-based self-assessment checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Students use the checklist to determine if they are able to ask for and provide basic information (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Self-assessment Checklist).

▶ Anecdotal Notes
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Note the extent to which students are able to ask for and provide basic information, and record anecdotal notes (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Anecdotal Notes).

▶ Learning Log
Students reflect on their learning and how well they were able to ask for and provide basic information.

MATERIALS

▶ None required.

▶ Picture of a person.

▶ Video recording and viewing equipment (optional).
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

A–1 to share information

Students will be able to:

| b. respond to simple, predictable questions |

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Who Are You?
  - Divide the students into pairs and have them role-play a scenario in which one student is new and is meeting another student for the first time. Have the students ask questions to elicit information regarding name, age, birthday, address and family members; e.g.,
  - Tân’i kit'isìhəkson? (What is your name?)
  - Tânitahto kitahtopiponàn? (How old are you?)
  - Tânîte ohci kiya? (Where do you live?)

  If possible, invite a Cree speaker to the classroom and have him or her ask the questions.

- Where Are You?
  - Review vocabulary and grammatical structures related to places.
  - Have the students divide into pairs or small groups and choose one person to start. The starting student chooses a place, e.g., room of the house, part of the school, somewhere in the community, and the other students ask questions to guess where he or she is.

- Interviews
  - Create a list of questions to ask on a topic covered in class; e.g., favourite pastimes, weather, colours, food, animals. Ask the students to interview classmates. Have the students record the answers in written form, using the word wall, personal dictionaries or people for assistance. Have the students publish their interviews and display them in the classroom.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
• respond to simple, predictable questions?

➤ Anecdotal Notes
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Note the extent to which students are able to respond to simple, predictable questions, and record anecdotal notes (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Anecdotal Notes).

➤ Informal Observation
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Make mental notes of the extent to which students are able to respond to simple, predictable questions. Offer feedback, encouragement and praise as needed.

➤ Observation Checklist
Create an outcome-based checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Use the checklist to assess if students are able to respond to simple, predictable questions (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Observation Checklist).

MATERIALS

➤ Cree-speaking guest.

➤ None required.

➤ None required.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–1 to share information

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

- describe people, places and things

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Guess Who?
Create a set of cards with pictures of people on them with a master key that shows all the people and their names (or use the board game Guess Who?™). After reviewing adjectives used to describe people, have the students play a game of Guess Who? Students in each group select a mystery person card and ask each other questions about the mystery person.

➤ Our Community
Show the students pictures of places around their community and together come up with as many adjectives as possible to describe the places. Write the adjectives on a piece of paper and post them in the class with pictures; e.g.,
- ispätnâw (on the hill)
- wâyatinâw (in the gully, valley)
- akâmihk (across the river, lake)
- otâkâm (on this side of the river, lake)
- mâmihk (downstream, river, creek)
- nâtimihk (upstream, river, creek).

➤ Family Posters
Ask the students to create collages or posters with pictures of themselves and their family members and have them label each picture; e.g., nimis, nimâmâ. Invite the students to share their posters and post them in the classroom.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–1 to share information

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
• describe people, places and things?

Informal Observation
Observe the students as they participate in the activity? Make mental notes of the extent to which students are able to describe people, places and things. Offer feedback, encouragement and praise as needed.

Conferences
Meet with individual students to discuss the different words they used to describe the places in their community and discuss the strategies they used during the activity. What helped them remember and use descriptive vocabulary?

Rubric
Collaboratively create an outcome-based rubric with the students. Use the rubric to evaluate how well students are able to describe people, places and things (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Rubric or Rubric and Checklist).

MATERIALS

➢ Set of picture cards and key or game board.

➢ Pictures of various places in the community.

➢ Pictures, scissors, glue, poster paper.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–2 to express emotions and personal perspectives

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

- identify favourite people, places or things

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Favourite Things
  After watching a simple cartoon with students, discuss who their favourite people (characters), places and things were and have them draw pictures. Ask the students to then prepare a brief presentation identifying their favourite things; e.g.,
  - favourite rock star/musician/band/singer
  - favourite drummer/drum band
  - favourite game
  - favourite day of the week
  - favourite television show
  - favourite type of tree or plant
  - favourite school subject
  - favourite powwow.

  Invite the students to get into small groups and share their mâmawaci nimiywêyimaw/nimiywêyêtên (favourite things).

- Favourite Character
  Invite the students to watch part of a simple movie or television show. As a class, have them discuss the different characters in the movie or show. Ask the students to then draw pictures of their favourite characters and write information about them; e.g.,
  - Awa __________ or __________ awa. (This is __________.)
  - Ékinosit. (He/she is (being) tall.)
  - Otênâhk wîkiw __________. (He lives in __________.)
  - Miywêyihtam __________. (He likes __________.)

- Favourite Foods
  Ask the students about their favourite foods. Have them draw their favourite foods and write sentences about them; e.g.,
  - Mâmawaci niwêhkistâtaw __________. [animate]
    (I like the taste of __________ best.)
  - Mâmawaci niwêhkistêw __________. [inanimate]
    (I like the taste of __________ best.)
A–2 to express emotions and personal perspectives

• identify favourite people, places or things?

➢ Observation Checklist

Create an outcome-based checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Use the checklist to assess if students are able to identify favourite people, places or things (see sample backline master in Appendix E: Observation Checklist).

➢ Conferences

Meet with individual students to discuss their feelings at the end of the movie or show. Note their ability to identify their favourite characters and events. Discuss what they did not understand or the difficulties they are having in expressing themselves and set goals for future learning.

➢ Informal Observation

Observe students as they participate in the activity. Make mental notes of the extent to which students are able to identify favourite people, places or things. Offer feedback, encouragement and praise as needed.

MATERIALS

➢ Poster materials, cartoon movie, viewing station.

➢ Movie or television show, viewing station.

➢ None required.

General Outcome for Applications

Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

➤ How Do I Feel about …?
Post the following Cree expressions in the classroom:

– Nimïywêhtên/mâw _______. (I like _______.)
– Namôya nimïywêhtên/mâw _______. (I dislike _______.)

On separate pieces of paper, have the students draw a face to represent each of the responses and write the word in Cree underneath. Call out a situation, e.g., getting up in the morning, going to the park, cleaning the room, and ask the students to hold up the emotion that best represents their personal response.

➤ Choose Your Own Story
Create a simple story in Cree that contains choices for the reader at various intervals; e.g., “It was a beautiful summer day. Mary went to the store. Who did she meet—her friend Gina or Mr. Runningbear, a tribal Elder?” The class then discusses and decides which choice to make and you continue reading/telling the story based on their choice.

Extension
Read a simple story in Cree and ask the students to respond to the story.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

- Learning Log
  Students reflect on their learning and how well they were able to express a personal response to a variety of situations.

- Simple story in Cree; e.g., tales about Wêsâkêcâk, Big Skunk by S. Ratt (Saskatchewan Indian Cultural Centre, 1997).

▶ Individual Preferences
Teach simple questions in Cree; e.g., Kimiywêhtên/mâw _______? (Do you like _______?) Provide a chart with the names of students and a variety of things; e.g., food items, types of music, types of weather, places. Have the students then poll others in their class, asking them if they like or dislike each item. Discuss the results as a class; e.g.,
- Tân 'tahto miywêhtamwak kâ tahkâyâk? (How many people like cold weather?)
- Tân 'tahto pakwâtamwak kâ kimowahk? (How many people dislike rain?)
- Tân 'tahto miywîhtamwak cahkâs? (How many people like ice cream?)

▶ Story Discussion
Read a story or tell an oral narrative and then divide the students into pairs. Have each student ask his or her partner what he or she thought of the story or oral narrative; e.g.,
- Tân 'ta kimiyohôhtên ôma âcimowin? (What was your favourite part?)
- Awîna kimiywêyîmâw kâ âcimiht? (Who was your favourite character?)
- Kîkwây ê kakwë wihtamâkoyan ôma âcimowin? (What do you think is the message or moral of this story?)

Invite each student to then present the âcimowin pîkiskwâtowin (story ideas) of his or her partner to the rest of the class.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
• acknowledge the ideas, thoughts and preferences of others?

➢ Observation Checklist
Create an outcome-based checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Use the checklist to assess if students are able to acknowledge the ideas, thoughts and preferences of others (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Observation Checklist).

➢ Self-assessment Checklist
Create an outcome-based self-assessment checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Students use the checklist to determine if they are able to acknowledge the ideas, thoughts and preferences of others (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Self-assessment Checklist).

➢ Class chart.

➢ Story or oral narrative.
A–2 to express emotions and personal perspectives

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. identify emotions and feelings

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Emotions and Pictures

After teaching the vocabulary related to the emotions happy, sad, scared and angry, have the students make signs with illustrations for each emotion. Show pictures depicting the emotions and have the students identify each emotion by holding up the applicable sign. Ask student volunteers to come to the front of the room to act out emotions for the class to guess.

Extension

As a class, have the students create a display collage that includes emotion words and pictures (hand drawn or from magazines) of people demonstrating each feeling.

➤ Feelings from Stories

After the students listen to a short story or oral narrative, ask them to share their feelings about the events in the story. Show a picture of a scene in the story and ask the students how it makes them feel. The students respond; e.g.,

- Nik’sowásin. (I am angry.)
- Nimîywêyîhtên. (I am happy.)
- Namóya nimîywêyîhtên. (I am sad.)
- Nisiksîn. (I am scared.)
- Nicéhkêyîhtên. (I am excited.)

Review the story again and have the students decide how the main characters were feeling at various stages of the story or oral narrative. Have the students explain why they think the characters feel the way they do.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

Learning Log
Students reflect on their learning and how well they were able to identify emotions and feelings.

MATERIALS

• Pictures of people demonstrating emotions.

• Short story or oral narrative; e.g., Stories from the Seventh Fire: Legend of the Caribou, pictures of scenes from the story.
A–2 to express emotions and personal perspectives

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

- b. express and respond to a variety of emotions and feelings

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Skits

  Provide various scenarios; e.g., “My first day at school,” “The big game” or “Lost in the woods.” Divide the students into groups and have them work together to create skits that include oral expressions of emotions or feelings and appropriate responses to these feelings; e.g., if one student is demonstrating sadness, the other students may try to comfort him or her. The other groups are asked to guess the feelings or emotions presented in the skits.

  Alternative Activity

  Invite the students to use puppets to dramatize the scenarios.

- Model Dialogue

  Introduce, teach and model a dialogue based on expressing and responding to feelings or emotions; e.g.,

  - Tân’i’ anohc kitamahcihon? (How are you feeling today?)
  - Namọya nimiywéyihtën/nicéhkéyihtën. (I am feeling sad./I am excited.)
  - Tânihkê ékâ kâmîywéyihtaman/kâcêhkéyihtaman? (Why are you sad?/Why are you excited?)
  - Osâm ________. (Because __________.)
  - Kâya pêkwéyihta, wâpahki nawac kahkiyaw kîkway ta miyopayiw. (Don’t worry, things will be better tomorrow.)

  Divide the students into pairs and have them practise the dialogue.

A–3 to get things done

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

- a. suggest a course of action and respond to a suggestion

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Classroom Action Words

Demonstrate basic classroom action words/verbs and have the students respond with Total Physical Response (TPR); e.g.,
- api (students sit)
- nitohna (students cup their hands to their ears to listen)
- atokskê (students sit at their desks and pretend to write in their notebooks)
- masinahikê (students write in their books)
- ayamihcikê (students read their books).

➤ Go This Way

Teach the vocabulary for the cardinal directions; e.g.,
- kîwêtinohk isi (north)
- âpihtâkîsikanohk isi (south)
- sâkâstênohk isi (east)
- pahkisimôtâhk isi (west)
- ispimihk isi (upward)
- mohcihk isi (downward).

Divide the students into groups of four and give each group a map of their community. Starting at the school, have the students take turns guiding another student to a community landmark. Have one student give cardinal directions using phrases such as kîwêtinohk isi (north), while the other student responds to the direction by driving a miniature car or moving a game piece through the streets of the community.

General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–3 to get things done

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

b. make and respond to a variety of simple requests

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Classroom Routine
As part of the classroom routine, have the students respond to requests; e.g.,
- Mahti nitohta/nitohtamok. (Please listen.)
- Mahti itwê. (Please say it.)

As well, encourage the students to respond to simple requests of their classmates. Post relevant vocabulary and phrases in the classroom and refer to them periodically. Encourage the students to use these phrases during group work.

Extension
Divide the students into two teams and have them line up. Give the student at the front of one line a vocabulary word and ask him or her to make a simple request using the word. The student from the other team must respond correctly, using a complete sentence. Alternate which team makes the request and which team responds.

➤ Asking for Objects
Go around the classroom and take various objects from several students. Place these objects at the front of the classroom. Invite the students to ask for their objects back; e.g., Pêtâ masinahikan. (Bring the book.) If a student asks correctly, the object is returned. If a student does not ask correctly, he or she will wait until his or her next turn to ask again.

General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–3 to get things done

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. indicate choice from among several options

View ➤ I Would Like to …

- Prepare cards with action words written on them; e.g.,
  - pimohtê (walk)
  - atoskê (work)
  - api (sit)
  - masinahikê (write).

Introduce a phrase indicating choice from among several options, e.g., Ninohtê _________. (I want to ________./I would like to ________), and have the students take turns indicating their choices using the word cards; e.g.,
- Ninohtê wayawistamâson. (I want to go to the bathroom.)
- Ninohtê pimohtân. (I want to walk.)
- Ninohtê atoskân. (I want to work.)
- Ninohtê apin. (I want to sit.)
- Ninohtê masinahikân. (I want to write.)
- Ninohtê minikwân. (I want to drink.)

View ➤ What’s for Dinner?

Divide the students into groups and have them create simple restaurant menus. Invite them to then role-play a scene in which one person is the server and the others are the customers. The server makes suggestions; e.g., Kamîyowîtên ci micîmapoy anoch? (Would you like the soup today?) Each customer responds by choosing the item suggested or by choosing a different item from the menu; e.g.,
- Kînohtê mâcin ci micîmapoy? (Do you want to eat soup?)
- Éhâ nînohtê mâcin micîmapoy. (Yes, I want to eat soup.)
- Kîkwây kotak kîkwây kînohtê mâcin? (What else do you want to eat?)
- Nînohtê mîwâw mâwos êkwa pâhkwêsikan. (I want to eat rabbit and bannock.)
- Mêtoni miyowâsin! (That is excellent!)

A–3 to get things done

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

b. express a wish or a desire to do something

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

> Camping Activities

Organize the students into pairs and have them take turns expressing their wishes to do a variety of activities while on a trip to a local camping area; e.g.,

– Ninôtê kwâskwêpicikân. (I would like to fish [with rod and reel].)

– Ninôtê papâmiskân. (I would like to canoe.)

– Ninôtê papâm’êhtapat mistatim. (I would like to ride a horse.)

– Ninôtê papâmohhtân. (I would like to walk around/go on a hike.)

> Millionaire

Divide the students into groups and ask them what they would like to buy or where they would like to go if they won the lottery. Ask the students to respond in complete sentences; e.g.,

– Ninôtê atâwân __________. (I would like to buy ______.)

– Ninôtê itohtân __________. (I would like to go to ______.)

Ask the students to then make posters showing what they would like to do or where they would like to go and share their posters with the class. Ask the students if they have ideas or uses for the money other than buying something for themselves or going on a trip; e.g.,

– Tânsi kakî îsi âpacihâw kisôniyâm? (How can you use your money?)

– Nî kakî atâwêstamâwâw nôhkîm mîciwin. (I can buy groceries for my grandmother.)

A–3 to get things done

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

- ask for help or for clarification of what is being said or done in the group

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Help!

  As part of a classroom routine, review common phrases related to asking for help; e.g.,

  - Ninitawêyihtên ta nîsôhkamowêyan. [NPC]/ Ninitawêyihten ta wîcihiyan. [SPC]  (I would like you to help me.)
  - Kakî nîsôhkamowin ci? [NPC]/ Kakî wîcihin ci? [SPC]  (Can you help me?)
  - Tân ’si ôma tisi itotamân? (How do I do this?)
  - Tansítwêyan? (What were you saying?)
  - Kîkwây êkwa nikakîtoten? (What should I do now?)

  Have the students repeat the phrases and post the phrases in the classroom. Encourage the students to use these phrases during group work. Arrange the students in small groups and have them create role-plays in which each student asks for help.

- I Don’t Understand

  Divide the students into groups of three and give them a list of sports; e.g., hockey, baseball, soccer, tennis. One student must act out the sport, another student must verbally describe the actions and the third student must guess what the sport is. If the student who is guessing needs clarification, he or she must ask his or her teammates to repeat themselves or to provide more clues, using the following phrases:

  - Namôya nin’s ’tohtên. (I don’t understand.)
  - Mahti kîhtwâm itwê. (Please repeat that.)
  - Poko tahto kîkwaya ta wihtamâwêyan. (You have to tell me more.)
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

Create an outcome-based self-assessment checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Students use the checklist to determine if they are able to ask for help or for clarification of what is being said or done in the group (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Self-assessment Checklist).

Learning Log
Students reflect on their learning and how well they were able to ask for help or for clarification of what is being said or done in the group.

MATERIALS

- Poster of common classroom requests for help.
- None required.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–3 to get things done

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

b. suggest, initiate or direct action in group activities

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➢ Grid Drawing
Arrange the students into groups of three or four and give each student several pieces of grid paper. Have the students take turns orally directing each other to create an image on the grid paper; e.g., the student leader might say, Nêkân isi itohtê. (Move forward.) and the student moves ahead and colours that square. Once all instructions are complete, a new student becomes the leader. Continue until all students have had a chance to be the leader. Students may use the following phrases to give directions:

- Nêkân isi itohtê. (Move forward.)
- Otâhk isi itohtê. (Move backward.)
- Kîhciniskêhk isi itohtê. (Move to the right.)
- Namâhtinihk isi itohtê. (Move to the left.)

➢ Create a Face
Draw an outline of a face on the board and teach and review directions—left, right, up and down. Have one student come to the board and blindfold him or her. Name a part of the face, e.g., eye, nose, lip, and have the class give directions for where to draw the feature on the face. The blindfolded student listens to the directions and puts the body part on the face. Students may use the following words to give directions:

- ispimihk (up)
- capasis (down)
- namahtinihk (left)
- kîhciniskêhk (right)
- nakê (stop).

Extension
Using the school map, have the students direct one another to place pins on different landmarks or rooms.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

Board, markers, blindfold.
A–4 to form, maintain and change interpersonal relationships

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

- a. initiate relationships

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Meeting New People
  Teach and/or review culturally appropriate ways of greeting an Elder, meeting someone new, initiating friendships and inviting others to play in Cree. Have the students then prepare their own simple dialogues for exchanging greetings and basic information; e.g.,
  - Tən’si? (How are you?)
  - Namôya nân’aw. (I’m fine.)
  - Êkwa kîya? / kîya mâka? (And you?/You then?)
  - Namôya nân’aw nîsta. (I am fine, too.)
  - ________ nit’siḥkâson. (________ is my name.)

  Have the students present their dialogues to the class.

- Invitations
  Have the students role-play inviting their partners to a party or an event. Introduce and practise appropriate phrases and answer forms; e.g.,
  - É pê wîhkomitân ta pê nîmihitoyan. (I would like to invite you to come dance.)
  - Ehâ, nimiywêhtên ta nimihitoyân. (Yes, I do like dancing.)

  As well, encourage students to use the expressions:
  - Ástam mâka! (Come on then!)
  - Ahâw. (Okay.)

- Extension
  Have the students make invitations in Cree for a party, class event, school event or community event using phrases such as:
  - Pé wîci métawéminân. (Come join us and play.)

A–4 to form, maintain and change interpersonal relationships

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

- b. identify kinship relationships

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

Family Tree
Teach the students how to make a family tree in Cree, including extended family terms. In this family tree, ask the students to identify kinship relationships between maternal and paternal aunts and uncles; e.g.,

- nitôsis nimâmâsis (maternal aunt)
- nisis (maternal uncle)
- nisikos (paternal aunt)
- nôhcâwês, nipápâsis (paternal uncle).

Family Album
Ask the students to bring in photographs or drawings of their immediate family members and create photo albums. Encourage the students to identify kinship relationships with the appropriate terms; e.g.,

- nimâmâ/nikâwiy (my mother)
- nipâpâ/nôhtâwiy (my father)
- nôhkom (my grandmother)
- nimosôm (my grandfather)
- nimis/nisêmis (my older sister/younger sister)
- nistês/nisêmis (my older brother/younger brother).

Caution
Be sensitive to each student’s personal family situation when exploring kinship relationships.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–5.1 discover and explore

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. investigate the surrounding environment

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Nature Walk

Have the students participate in a nature walk after reviewing vocabulary associated with the senses; e.g.,

- Nipêhtên (hearing) _______. (I hear _______.)
- Nipason (smelling) _______/Nipaswâtaw _______. [NPC]
  (I smell _______.)
- Nikocistên (tasting) _______/Nikoc'spitaw _______. [NPC]
  (I taste _______.)
- Niwâpahtên (seeing) _______. (I see _______.)
- Nisâminên (touching) _______. (I touch _______.)

After the nature walk, ask the students to write journal entries using drawings and the phrases they learned to describe what they experienced during the nature walk.

➤ Blindfold Game

Select items that have distinctive smells, textures and flavours. Blindfold the students and ask them to describe what they smell, feel and taste using vocabulary they have learned. This may be played as a game during which points are given to the teams that correctly describe the items.

➤ Classification Chart

Have the students classify items in the surrounding environment based on whether they can hear them, smell them, taste them, see them or touch them. Invite the students to fill out a chart like the one below.

General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–5 to enhance their knowledge of the world

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
- investigate the surrounding environment?

Learning Log
Students reflect on their learning and how well they were able to investigate the surrounding environment.

Anecdotal Notes
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Note the extent to which students are able to investigate the surrounding environment, and record anecdotal notes (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Anecdotal Notes).

Observation Checklist
Create an outcome-based checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Use the checklist to assess if students are able to investigate the surrounding environment (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Observation Checklist).

MATERIALS

None required.

Blindfolds, various objects.

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

- b. make and talk about personal observations

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Legend
  Read a legend about Wêsâkêcâk aloud to the students. After listening to the legend, have the students write personal responses in which they discuss their feelings about the legend; e.g.,
  - Nimîywêyihtên _______. (I liked _______.)
  - Namôya nimîywêyihtên _______. (I didn’t like _______.)
  - Nimiyohtên Wêsâkêcâk âcimôwina. (I like to listen to Wêsâkêcâk stories.)
  - Nikiskihonamâkosin kîkway kâ âcimiht Wêsâkêcâk. (I learn something when Wêsâkêcâk is told about.)

- Sharing with a Partner
  Present the students with an interesting object or visual. Invite the students to make five simple oral observations about the object. Have them share their observations with a partner and discuss any similarities and differences in their observations.

- Interviews
  Divide the students into pairs. Ask them to take turns making and discussing their personal observations on various topics; e.g.,
  - Kîkwây kimîywêyihtên ta itôtaman? (What do you like to do?)
  - Kîkwây kikowâhk kitatoskâtên? (What kinds of chores do you do in your home?)
  - Kîko mêtawêwina kimêtawân? (What sports do you play?)

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. sequence items in different ways

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➢ Ordering Stories
Divide students into groups and provide each group with various scenes of a cartoon strip in random order. Each group orders the scenes to tell a story and presents its story to the class.

Alternative Activity
Have the students listen to a simple story in Cree and create pictures of scenes from the story. Have them experiment with different ways of ordering the scenes.

➢ Bannock Recipe
After participating in a bannock-making activity, have the students arrange pictures and text to explain the procedure; e.g.,

– Nimâmawinâw _______. (I gather _______.)
– Nimâmâkonâw _______. (I knead _______.)
– Nitastân _______. (I put _______.)
– Nisîkinîn _______. (I pour _______.)
– Nitîhîn _______. (I stir _______.)
– Nitakwahâw askipahkwêsikan. (I add more flour.)

➢ Student Sequencing
Have the students line themselves up according to height, eye colour, hair colour, colour of clothing or length of hair. Ask them to create pictographs or charts of the sequences and display them in the classroom with a written description in Cree.
A–5 to enhance their knowledge of the world

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
• sequence items in different ways?

➤ Observation Checklist
Create an outcome-based checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Use the checklist to assess if students are able to sequence items in different ways (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Observation Checklist).

➤ Conferences
Meet with individual students to discuss the strategies they used to sequence the steps in the recipe. Discuss things that worked well and sequencing strategies that they would like to try in the future.

➤ Anecdotal Notes
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Note the extent to which students are able to sequence items in different ways, and record anecdotal notes (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Anecdotal Notes).

MATERIALS

➤ Nîhiyawîwin 10–20–30
Cree stories, pictures of scenes from the story, cartoon strips.

➤ Sample learning resources from Nîhiyawîwin 10–20–30, bannock recipe.

| b. share personal knowledge of a topic | ➤ What Do You Know about …?
Divide the students into groups and assign each group a topic; e.g., weather, sports, hunting, cooking. Have one member of each group present everything he or she knows about the topic, using as much Cree as possible, while another group member records what the student says. Have the students rotate until everyone has had a chance to share what he or she knows. Each group then presents the information collected in an illustrated booklet. |

➤ All about You
Divide the students into pairs and have them record personal information about each other; e.g., eye colour, height, hair colour, shoe size. Have the students ask questions; e.g.,
- Tân’isi isi nákwanwa kiskisikwa? (What colour are your eyes?)
- Tân’isi isi nákwanwa kêscakâsa? (What colour is your hair?)
- Tânimayikohk ēhiskosiyan? (How tall are you?)

Have the students prepare and share at least three statements about their partners with the rest of the class.

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
• share personal knowledge of a topic?

➤ Rubric
Collaboratively create an outcome-based rubric with the students. Use the rubric to evaluate how well students are able to share personal knowledge of a topic (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Rubric or Rubric and Checklist).

General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

- A–5.3 solve problems

A–5 to enhance their knowledge of the world

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

> Cree Story or Legend
Read or play a video of a Cree story or legend. Lead the students in a discussion of how the problem is solved in the story or legend. Ask the students to work in small groups to brainstorm different ways that the problem could be solved. Each group then presents one or two alternative solutions to the rest of the class.

Extension
Read or play a video of a story and stop before the main problem of the story is solved. Students discuss different ways that the problem could be solved, then listen to or watch the ending of the story.

> Looking for Solutions
Give the students problematic situations or stories to discuss and problem solve; e.g.,

- Tan’si ka itôtên ta wanimîyikawîyan mîciwin? (What do you do if you are given the wrong food?)
- Kihi ci atâwâkêwikamikohk êh âyâyân êkwas namoya kaki miskên anima acâwâkêwikamikos kâ nitonaman. Kîkwây kitôhtên? (You are at a mall and you can’t find the store you are looking for. What do you do?)
- Tân’is ka itôtên kêspin ta wanisinîyan? (What would you do if you were lost?)

Have the students identify the problem, then discuss possible solutions in groups. Have each group share its possible solutions with the rest of the class.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. make connections between behaviour and values

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Elder Visit

In preparation for a visit from an Elder, review appropriate behaviours and greetings; e.g.,
– Tân’i nôhkom/nimôsôm. (Hello, my grandmother/my grandfather.)
– Namôya nân’îaw. (I’m fine.)

Have the class discuss the importance of showing respect to Elders and how a person’s behaviour shows others what they think is important.

Then have the students role-play greeting Elders, showing respect and following protocols; e.g.,
– Kâya nêkân pimohtê ita kà apit kêhtêyaya. (Do not walk in front of an Elder.)
– Nâtamâw têhtapiwin. (Offer a chair or a place to sit.)
– Mina maskihkiwâpoy ahpô kotak kikway ta minihkwêt. (Offer tea or other beverages to a visiting Elder.)

➤ Connecting Behaviours and Values

Write a series of behaviours and values on the board; e.g.,

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Îsi waskawîhk (Behaviour)</th>
<th>Pimat’siwin (Value)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>• talks loudly over others</td>
<td>• doesn’t care about other people</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• listens quietly while others are speaking</td>
<td>• respects others</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• does not share or help others</td>
<td>• is selfish</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

As a class, discuss how different behaviours match a person’s values and add further examples to the chart.

Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–5 to enhance their knowledge of the world

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
• make connections between behaviour and values?

MATERIALS

None required.

Board or chart paper, markers.

Conferences
Meet with individual students or groups to discuss how to make connections between behaviour and values during the visit from the Elder and how polite behaviour shows respect to others. Encourage the students to notice the relationship between what you do (behaviour) and what you believe to be right (values).

Informal Observation
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Make mental notes of the extent to which students are able to make connections between behaviour and values. Offer feedback, encouragement and praise as needed.
A–5 to enhance their knowledge of the world

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

b. recognize and respect differences in ideas and thoughts

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

► We Are All Different

After the students collect information about each other’s preferences of food, sports and other topics, have them discuss the fact that people in the class have different thoughts. Invite the class to celebrate their differences by creating a class display called Kahkiyay awiyay paḥpêtos (We Are All Different). Have the students write out and illustrate all the ways in which they are different; e.g.,

- Âtiht miywêyihtmwak ta mêtawê cîk, kotakak miywêhtamwak ta nitohtahkik kîtohcikêwina. (Some of us like to play sports, while others like to listen to music.)
- Âtiht wêhkistamwak kis’cîkânisa, âtiht namoya. (Some of us like vegetables, while others don’t.)
- Âtiht miywêyihtmwak kà kisiniyêk, âtiht namoya. (Some of us like the cold weather, while others don’t.)

Encourage the students to use as much Cree as possible in their display.

Extension

Have the students watch a video or television program and discuss what they thought of it. Invite each student to give his or her opinion while the other students listen respectfully.

► I Think …

Present several characters who have different opinions on a particular topic; e.g.,

Character 1: Nitêyintên takî kikiskaman ôhi kayásaskisina. (I think you should wear these old shoes.)
Character 2: Namoya nawac ôhi oskaskisina takî kikiskamân. (No, I think I should wear these new ones.)
Character 3: Mâ … taki nitawi atâwêyan kotaka maskisina. (No way … you should go buy another pair of shoes.)

Discuss the different opinions and encourage the students to respect the opinions of others and understand that everyone does not have to share the same opinion.

General Outcome for Applications

Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
- recognize and respect differences in ideas and thoughts?

➢ Learning Log
Students reflect in their learning and how well they were able to recognize and respect differences in ideas and thoughts.

MATERIALS

➢ Poster board, markers, tape.

➢ Various characters with opinions on a topic.
SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

- a. use the language for fun in a variety of activities

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Simon Says and Songs
  Invite the students to take part in a game of Simon Says or sing simple fun songs (nikamowinâ) in Cree, using actions where appropriate; e.g., “Head and Shoulders, Knees and Toes.”

- Riddles
  Have the students create their own riddles for various vocabulary words; e.g.,
  - Question: Kîkwây kaskitésiw, misikitiw, êkwa kostâtikosiw? (What is black, big and fierce?)
  - Answer: Maskwa. (A bear.)
  - Question: Kîkwây wâpiskisiw êkwa kinopêkihtawakayiw? (What is white and has long ears?)
  - Answer: Wâpos. (A rabbit.)
  Have the students exchange their riddles or work together as a class to solve them.

- Happy Face Game
  Choose a word and write blanks on the board for every letter in the word. Ask the students to guess letters one at a time. Each time they guess incorrectly, draw part of a happy face. Students must guess the word before the happy face is completed.

- I Spy
  The class plays a game of Niwâpahtên kîkway … (I Spy …). One student chooses something in the classroom and gives the rest of the class hints; e.g.,
  - Niwâpahtên kîkway êhaskihatkâk. (I spy something green.)
  - Niwâpahtên kîkway ê wâpiskâk. (I spy something white.)
SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
- use the language for fun in a variety of activities?

➤ Learning Log
Students reflect on their learning and how well they were able to use the language for fun in a variety of activities.

➤ Peer-assessment Checklist
With the students, collaboratively create an outcome-based peer-assessment checklist. Students use the checklist to determine if their peers are able to use the language for fun in a variety of activities (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Peer-assessment Checklist).

➤ Observation Checklist
Create an outcome-based checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Use the checklist to assess if students are able to use the language for fun in a variety of activities (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Observation Checklist).

➤ Learning Log
Students reflect on their learning and how well they were able to use the language for fun in a variety of activities.

MATERIALS

➤ Fun songs; e.g., Brian MacDonald and the Onion Lake School Children: Songs in Cree and English (Saskatchewan Indian Cultural Centre, 1991).

➤ Sample riddles.

➤ Board, markers.

➤ None required.
Specific Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- A-6.2 creative/aesthetic purposes

Dialogue Comics

Have the students use a familiar, simple dialogue as a model to create a new dialogue; e.g.,

- Tân’i. (Hello, how are you?)
- Namôya nâ’n’taw. (I am fine.)
- Tân’tê ohci kîya. (Where are you from?)
- _____ ohci nîya. (I am from _____.)
- Kîya mâk’a? (And you?)
- _____ ohci nîya. (I am from _____.)

Have the students create a comic strip based on this dialogue, using illustrations and captions or speech bubbles.

Dance Stories

In the gym or outside, guide the students to use movement and dance to illustrate vocabulary; e.g.,

- tahkiskâcikê (kick) — nâkatêhta (be careful)
- kwâskohtî (jump) — têpwê (shout/to be loud)
- pimosiniy (throw) — pim’pahtâ (run)
- pakamaha (to hit it) — nawatina (catch it).
- ohpina (lift it)

Have the students create dance stories using various movements to represent vocabulary words. Consider video recording these dances for viewing by students.

Word Art

Have the students use computers to create word art in Cree. Have them play with the size and style of the font, the underlining, colour and boldface. Encourage students to convey meaning in their font choices; e.g.,

- MÎSÂW (BIG)
- Nêstosi (tired)
- KISOWÂSI! (ANGRY!).

  Meet with individual students to discuss what they found most challenging about using Cree creatively. What other ways would they like to use Cree creatively? Are there any other activities they would like to try? Encourage the students to include their word art in their portfolios.
A–6 for imaginative purposes and personal enjoyment

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

_Students will be able to:_

a. use the language for personal enjoyment; e.g., make a personal dictionary of favourite words with illustrations

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Favourites Webs
  Have the students make a web of their favourite things called Nimiyëw(ehtēn/māw) (Things I Like). In this web, have the students write the Cree words for their niwihkistēn (favourite) activities, foods and clothing and paste pictures cut out from magazines. Invite the students to add to their web of favourites throughout the year.

  Extension
  Have the students create a web of Cree words and phrases that describe themselves. The Niya (Me) webs are displayed in the classroom.

- Fun Words to Say
  Have the students make a picture dictionary of Cree vocabulary they find particularly interesting or fun to say. Have them illustrate the words and present them in an inventive way.

  Afterward, have the students write free verse poems in which they play with words they enjoy saying from their favourite words list. Invite the students to read their poems to the class.

- Free Time
  Allow the students some free time to participate in an activity in Cree that they personally enjoy; e.g., reading quietly, copying vocabulary into their personal dictionaries, watching Cree videos.

- Self-assessment Checklist and Goal Setting
  Create an outcome-based self-assessment checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Students use the checklist to determine if they are able to be familiar with Roman orthography in words or phrases of personal significance. Encourage students to set goals for future learning (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Self-assessment Checklist and Goal Setting).

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- All about Me
  Invite the students to create a poster with pictures of themselves, their home/family, community and any pets they have. Ask them to prepare a brief presentation to explain the poster to their classmates.

- Word Relay
  Divide the students into teams and divide the board so that each team gets its own space. Give the first team member a piece of chalk or a marker. Set the topic; e.g., colour, verbs, weather. When you say “go,” the first student from each team runs to the board and writes a word on the topic and then goes back and passes the chalk or marker to the next student. The relay continues until each student has had a turn.

  Extension
  Ask the students to develop lists of words in their personal dictionaries related to particular lexical fields. Have them add to these lists throughout the year.

- Seat Exchange
  Start by stating in Cree, Kahkiyaw kâtipiskâkwâw ka mè mésko tónihikêwak itâ kâ apicîk. (All students who have a birthday in the fall must exchange places.) Every student with a birthday in the fall must change spots with another student. Vary the commands to include clothing items, colour of clothing, hair colour or favourite foods.

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
• use a repertoire of words and phrases in familiar contexts within a variety of lexical fields?

MATERIALS

Poster materials.

Self-assessment Checklist
Create an outcome-based self-assessment checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Students use the checklist to determine if they are able to use a repertoire of words and phrases in familiar contexts, within a variety of lexical fields (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Self-assessment Checklist).

Informal Observation
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Make mental notes of the extent to which students are able to use a repertoire of words and phrases in familiar contexts, within a variety of lexical fields. Offer feedback, encouragement and praise as needed.

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. use, in modelled situations*, the following grammatical elements:
   - demonstrative pronouns ana, náha, anima, nema to distinguish and refer to that specific animate (NA) or inanimate (NI) noun
   - personal pronoun plural emphatic “too” form:
     1P nîstanân
     2I kîstanaw
     2P kîstawâw
     3P wîstawâw
   - noun possessive forms for plural animate (NA) and inanimate (NI) nouns indicating my (1S), your (2S), his/her (3S):
     niminôsimak / nîhtehtapôwina (1S)
     kiminôsimak / kitehtapôwina (2S)
     ominôsima / otehtapôwina (3S)

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Basic Commands

Establish a routine in which students are asked to model giving and following some basic commands using Total Physical Response; e.g.,
- pasiko/nîpawi (stand up)
- api (sit down)
- nîtohta (listen)
- kihtwâm (again)
- âstam (come)
- âstam ôta (come here).

In pairs, have the students take turns giving the commands and responding appropriately.

* Modelled Situations: This term is used to describe learning situations where a model of specific linguistic elements is consistently provided and immediately available. Students in such situations will have an emerging awareness of the linguistic elements and will be able to apply them in very limited situations. Limited fluency and confidence characterize student language.

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. use, in modelled situations*, the following grammatical elements:
   - simple sentences using I (1S), you (2S), he/she (3S) subjects and action words (VAI) in declarative statement form (nitapin, kitapin, apiw) and progressive action form (ehapitâyân, ehapidâyân, ehapit)
   - plural endings: animate ak or wak; inanimate a or wa
   - personal pronoun plural emphatic “too” form:
     1P nîstanân
     2I kîstanaw
     2P kîstawâw
     3P wîstawâw
   - possessive nouns: body parts, kinship terms
   - commands or requests (imperatives VTA) using action verbs:
     2S→1S nitohtawin / you→me
     2P→1S nitohtawik / you→me

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Simon Says
Students play Wêsâkêcâk itwêw* (Simon Says) to practise giving and responding to commands; e.g., Wêsâkêcâk itwêw: âstam api. (Simon says: Come, sit down.)

*Discretionary Note: Refer to community for acceptance of using the term Wêsâkêcâk within a game. If unacceptable, use kinship terms instead; e.g., Nikâwiy itwêw (My mom/mother says), Nistês itwêw (My [older] brother says), Nimis itwêw (My [older] sister says), Nimosôm itwêw (My grandfather says).

Students will be able to:

b. use, in structured situations*, the following grammatical elements:
   - colour descriptors for singular animate (VAI) nouns (wâpiskisiw / ewâpiskisit minôs) and inanimate (VII) nouns (wâpiskâw / ewâpiskâk tehtapiwin)
   - commands or requests using action words (imperative VAI) indicating you (2S), all of you (2P), and all of us (2I); e.g., api, apik, apitân
   - noun possessive forms for singular animate (NA) and inanimate (NI) nouns indicating my (1S), your (2S), his/her (3S): niminôsim / nîtehtapiwin (1S) kiminôsim / kîtehtapiwin (2S) ominôsima / otehtapiwin (3S)
   - animate plural nouns (NA): ôki / these, aniki / those, neki / those over there

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Recognizing Colours
  Provide students with coloured beads and ask them to make small circular seasonal wheels or personal identification bracelets. Then ask individual students to point to different beads and ask the class:
  - Tanisi oma isi nakwan? (What colour is this?)
  - Tanisi ohi isi nakwanwa? (What colour are these?)

- Ball Throw
  Ask the students to stand in a circle. Give one of the students a ball. Instruct the student to throw the ball to a classmate while saying a Cree action word; e.g., api (sit), pimpahta (run). The student catching the ball has to perform the action and then throw the ball to another classmate and say a new action word.

- Stepping Stones Relay
  Spread out flash cards with pictures of body parts on the floor in a winding pattern. Explain to the students that each card represents a stepping stone in a river. Divide the class into two teams. Have one student from each team hop from card to card, being careful not to fall in the “river,” until you say Nakê! (Stop!). Ask each student to name the body part that he or she landed on. If the response is correct, the student continues on; if it is incorrect, he or she goes to the end of the line.

- Coloured beads.
- Ball, reference list of action words.
- Flash cards with pictures of body parts.
LC–1 attend to the form of the language

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

- b. use, in structured situations*, the following grammatical elements:
  - inanimate plural nouns (NI): ôhi / these, anihi / those, nehi / these over there
  - question marker ci, using responses: ehâ (yes) (Plains) îhi (yes) (Northern) namôya (no)
  - simple questions using interrogatives:
    tan’te, awîna, kîkwây, tânehki, tân’sîyisi, tân’spî
  - inclusive personal pronouns:
    singular:
    1S nîsta / me too
    2S kîsta / you too
    3S wîsta / he/she too
  - plural:
    1P nîstanân / us/we (exclusive) too
    2I kîstanaw / us/we (inclusive) too
  - changing an action word to a noun by adding the suffix “win” to the verb:
    mîcisôwin,
    nîmihitôwin,
    nikamôwin
  - using demonstrative pronouns awa, ôma to distinguish and refer to this specific animate (NA) or inanimate (NI) noun – wâpiskisiw/wâpiskâw

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

▶ How Does It Taste?
Set up different stations with different-tasting food items. Divide students into pairs and have one member of each pair blindfold the other member. Ask the pairs to walk from station to station tasting the food items and describing how each item tastes. For example, after the blindfolded student tastes a food item, the nonblindfolded student asks:
- Tanisi ispawkam oma? (How does this taste?)
The blindfolded team member responds:
- siwaw (sour)
- Ê-siwak. (It is sour.)

▶ Chair Relay
Divide the students into two teams and ask them to sit on the floor in two rows. Place a chair in front of the first person in each row. Shout out an action word, e.g., nipimpahtan (jump), and have the first student from each team jump all the way to the other side of the room and back to his or her chair. When the student reaches the chair, he or she is to sit down and repeat the action word; i.e., nipimpahtan (jump). The first student to complete the routine wins a point for the team.

Create an outcome-based checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Use the checklist to assess if students are able to use, in structured situations, the given grammatical elements (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Checklist and Comments 1 or 2).

► Learning Log
Students reflect on their learning and how well they are able to use, in structured situations, the given grammatical elements.

MATERIALS

► Taste-size portions of different-tasting food items—sweet, sour, bitter, salty, spicy.

➤ Story Analysis
Read a short story on a previously studied lexical field and fill in a chart based on the story; e.g.,

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Pêyakow Mahikan (The Lone Wolf)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Characters</td>
<td>Chinook, Jesse, Uncle Ted, wolf</td>
</tr>
<tr>

<td>Jesse kikiskêyihtam wâtiy nakâsin asîniwak. Ékwâ tòwînam wâtiy ékwa namoya kihtwâm òcènàsihk pêîtontêw mahîkan. (Jesse finds out that the wolf’s den has been covered by fallen rocks and removes them to clear the entrance. The wolf never enters the town again.)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Students should use as much Cree as possible in their charts.

Extension
Read âcimowina (stories) or âtayohkêwina (legends) and then challenge the students to draw pictures of their favourite scenes. Have the students present their pictures to the class or group and explain what happened in the scene and why they enjoyed it.

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. produce simple sentences, orally, in guided situations

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Sentence Building

  Model basic Cree words and have the students create as many sentences orally in Cree as they can with these words; e.g.,

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Cree Word</th>
<th>English Equivalent</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Sîpihkwâw itasinâstew.</td>
<td>Blue is a colour.</td>

<td>The sky is blue.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nipakowayân sîpihkwâw.</td>
<td>My shirt is blue.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Encourage the students to present their simple sentences to partners or groups.

- Skit/Puppet Play

  In small groups, have the students create a skit or puppet play using simple sentences and dialogue based on lexical fields previously studied.

- Thematic Collages

  Have the students cut out pictures from magazines and prepare collages related to the theme being taught. Working in small groups, ask the students to take turns describing one of the pictures in the collage. The other group members try to guess which picture is being described in Cree.

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

- engage in simple interactions, using simple sentences

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Who Am I?

  Have each student tape a card with a Cree noun related to a lexical field (e.g., fruit) to the back of a classmate. Invite the students to ask one another questions to see if they can guess which noun they have on their own backs. Play continues until all students have discovered what is posted on their backs.

- Thirteen Questions

  Prepare a list of 13 common questions. Display it for all the students to see. Have the students work with a partner or in small groups, taking turns drawing from a deck of cards. Depending on the number of the card drawn (1 to 13; Ace=1), students ask their partners or group members the corresponding question. A point is awarded for each correct response.

- Dialogues

  Divide the students into pairs and provide them with a brief dialogue using Cree vocabulary and expressions related to a specific topic; e.g., weekend plans, favourite food. Provide the students with questions as starting points for the dialogues; e.g.,

  - Kîkwây kitôtên kâ nikotwâsîkîsîkâw? (What did you do on Saturday?)
  - Miyokîsîkâw anohc. (It’s a good day today.)
  - Kimiywêmâwak cî atimwak? (Do you like dogs?)

  After the students have completed the activity, mix up the groups and allow them to ask each other the questions they had prepared. Watch for appropriate interactions and to see if students are able to question and respond appropriately. Consider video recording the interactions and playing them for students.

➤ Recipes
Demonstrate and explain in Cree how to prepare a simple food item from a recipe. Divide the students into groups and have them research simple Cree recipes on the Internet or in books and magazines. Address any new vocabulary. Have each group present its favourite recipe to the class and, if possible, prepare the item and share the product. Compile a class recipe book for students and encourage them to try the recipes at home.

➤ Five Questions
Have the students read short, simple texts in guided situations; e.g., a sequence of sentences, a simple story, an authentic advertisement or a newspaper article. Have the students identify specific information to answer the questions Who? What? Where? When? How?; e.g.,
- Awîna ê wî atâwâkêt? (Who is selling?)
- Kîkwây ê wî atâwâkêt? (What is he/she selling?)
- Tân’tê kâwî atâwâkêt? (Where is he/she selling?)
- Tânimayikohk ê wî itakihcikêt? (How much is he/she charging?)

Extension
On a daily or weekly basis, write a simple paragraph on the board. Have the students read the paragraph together and then ask them to explain what each sentence means.

➤ Skits
Divide the students into groups of four or five and provide each group with a short, simple story. Have the students then work in groups to create short skits based on the stories. After practising the skits, have each group perform for the rest of the class. One of the group members (or the teacher) could act as narrator and read the story as the rest of the group acts it out.

- produce simple written sentences in guided situations

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Patterned Stories
  Introduce students to several examples of simple sentences in patterned stories. Have the students then write patterned stories, using their favourite simple sentence patterns. Ask them to read their stories to the class and collect the stories in a class book that is illustrated by the students.

- Cree Chants
  Model simple Cree chants and then ask the students to write their own simple chants based on the models; e.g.,
  - Awa êkwa ____________ (school/team name). (This one now ________________.)

  Have the students present their chants to each other.

- Elder’s Teachings
  After a visit from an Elder, have the students record what they learned during the visit. Encourage the students to answer questions such as:
  - Kîkwây kikiskinohamâk Kihtêyâya? (What did you learn from the Elder?)
  - Kikiskisomik cî kîkway kîtwêt Kihtêyaya? (Where you reminded of anything by what the Elder said?)
  - Kîkwây mâmawaci kimiyohtên kâ mêkwâ kiyokêt? (What was your favourite part of the visit?)

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
• produce simple written sentences in guided situations?

Rubric
Collaboratively create an outcome-based rubric with the students. Use the rubric to evaluate how well students are able to produce simple written sentences in guided situations (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Rubric or Rubric and Checklist).

Self-assessment Checklist
Create an outcome-based self-assessment checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Students use the checklist to determine if they are able to produce simple written sentences in guided situations (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Self-assessment Checklist).

| a. derive meaning from a variety of visuals and other forms of nonverbal communication in guided situations | ➤ Printed Material
Provide the students with opportunities to view a variety of Cree language newspapers, magazines, children’s books, calendars, greeting cards, promotional flyers, movies, television guides, T-shirts, book jackets and CD covers. Ask the students to group the items based on various categories, such as main topic of interest; e.g., sports, music, fashion. Discuss the groupings as a class and discuss strategies used by students to interpret the content of the material.

➤ On the Web
Provide access to appropriate Internet sites that allow students to search for information; e.g., www.giftoflanguageandculture.ca.
Have the students pay attention to the navigation of the Web site, noting the graphics used to enhance the site and to convey information; e.g., buttons, pictures, menus, icons.

➤ Photographs
While on a field trip or at a special event, take photographs. After the trip or event, have the students review the photographs and describe what is in the pictures. Invite the class to create a photo album with captions to remember the event.

Extension
Provide the students with several pictures of cultural events and have them write captions for each of the pictures.

➤ Pre-reading
Before reading a story, guide the students in a discussion about what they see on the cover of the book. Have them discuss what they think the story could be about and make a list of words they think may come up in the story.
Focus for Assessment

Does the student:
- derive meaning from a variety of visuals and other forms of nonverbal communication in guided situations?

Observation Checklist

Create an outcome-based checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Use the checklist to assess if students are able to derive meaning from a variety of visuals and other forms of nonverbal communication in guided situations (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Observation Checklist).

Conferences

Meet with small groups of students to discuss the Internet sites and effective strategies for searching Web sites for information. Ask the students to explain what graphic elements were used in the Web sites to convey meaning. Were they effective or ineffective? Were the students able to derive meaning from a variety of visuals?

Informal Observation

Observe students as they participate in the activity. Make mental notes of the extent to which students are able to derive meaning from a variety of visuals and other forms of nonverbal communication in guided situations. Offer feedback, encouragement and praise as needed.

Ask the students to create a theme-related poster; e.g., favourite foods, sports, hobbies, cultural traditions in Cree-speaking communities. Cree vocabulary as well as student-generated illustrations should be used in the posters. Invite the students to present their posters to the class.

Alternative Activity
Ask the students to create advertisements about themselves, their hobbies, interests and so on.

➤ Digital Slide Show Presentation
Assign the students a topic or theme that they are to research; e.g., cultural traditions in Cree-speaking communities. Have the students prepare several slides with information on their topic, being sure to include graphics; e.g., pictures, graphs, maps and charts.

➤ Picture Wall
Invite the students to take photographs or draw pictures of classroom events and field trips. Have the students work with partners to write simple captions to accompany the pictures and display them on a wall to tell a story of the event.

Students will be able to:

a. distinguish between formal and informal situations

Role-play

Model how to role-play, then ask the students to listen to conversations in Cree involving formal and informal situations. Discuss how age, relationships (e.g., peers versus acquaintances versus friends), generational differences, people with different social statuses and people in positions of authority affect how one person addresses another. Invite the students to address you and/or a Cree-speaking guest formally.

Divide the students into pairs and have them role-play greetings using proper formal and informal Cree vocabulary to address their partners. Provide name tags to the students for role-playing different people; e.g., child, parent, grandparent, teacher, Elder. Consider video recording these role-plays for viewing by the class.

Formal to Informal

Provide examples of how language changes between formal and informal situations; e.g.,

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Formal</th>
<th>Informal</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>When saying a prayer, you say, kinanâskomitin (I thank you).</td>
<td>When talking to a friend, you say, Ay ay. (Thank you.)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>When asking advice from an Elder, follow the tobacco protocol.</td>
<td>Speak with an Elder without the tobacco protocol.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Note: The informal “Thank you.” should always be corrected to Ay ay as the correct spelling and pronunciation.

Have the students work in groups to present a formal dialogue, then translate it into an informal dialogue.

Extension

Provide the students with a list of phrases or sentences and have them mark them as formal or informal.

| b. recognize that some topics, words or intonations are inappropriate in certain contexts | ➤ Respecting Elders
Model proper ways to speak to Kihtêyâyak (Elders). Before inviting an Elder to the class, discuss with the students appropriate ways to use their voices with the Elders; e.g., Papêyâtihk kapîkiskwâtat Kihtêyâya (using a calm voice, using a pleasant tone, keeping the volume down to a respectful level).

Before the visit, review appropriate questions and comments; e.g.,
– Kitatamihînân kâ pê pikiskwâsiyahk. (We are pleased you came to speak to us.)

Emphasize that the Elder is taking the time to share his or her wisdom with them and this should be treated as a gift and privilege. Also model the use of protocol when approaching an Elder.

➤ Feast Etiquette
In preparing for a school or community feast, review appropriate and expected behaviours. Emphasize that refusing food that is given to you as a gift is disrespectful to the giver. All food should be accepted with thanks. Discuss what it is like to live without enough to eat and that sharing food with visitors is a global custom of goodwill. |

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. understand and use a variety of simple expressions as set phrases

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Expressions in Drama
Model various Cree expressions and divide the students into groups. Assign each group an expression, e.g., Wahwâ! (Gee!/Geez!); Mâ! (No way!); Câ! (Just kidding!), and have the groups create short skits in which their expression is used. Have each group perform its skit for the other groups.

➤ Expression Dialogues
Ask the students to brainstorm expressions related to various topics; e.g., sports, food and eating, jokes and humour. Have the students work in pairs to create short dialogues in which they use as many expressions on a certain topic as possible. Have the pairs present their dialogues to another group.

Extension
Review various expressions in Cree; e.g., verbal and nonverbal expressions that are unique to the language. Ask the students to create cartoons using the expressions studied. Post the cartoons around the room or school for others to view.

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

» Guest Speakers

Invite Cree-speaking guests who speak different dialects to read to the students; e.g., older students, other teachers, parents, community members. If the speaker has an accent or uses unfamiliar words or phrases, discuss these differences with the students. Explain that people often speak differently in different regions, using English as an example; e.g., British, American, Australian and Canadian accents and words.

Alternative Activity

Have the students listen to a radio news program in Cree; e.g., on CFWE or Cree language programming on APTN “Venting Forth,” “Beyond Words.” Discuss differences heard in the speech during the broadcast.

» Cree Language Map

Teach the students about the Cree language in different regions across western Canada. Have the students then create a Cree language map on which they mark examples of language variations; e.g., different accents or different words.

» Accent Skits

Prepare the students as they work in groups to present skits in which characters have different Cree accents. Storylines for the skits could include:

- a meeting between Cree leaders from various regions
- a sporting event in which students from different regions are competing
- travelling across western Canada and meeting different people along the way.

Specific Outcomes

Students will be able to:

a. use basic politeness conventions

Sample Teaching and Learning Activities

Brainstorming and Practise

Have the class brainstorm a list of phrases and behaviours that demonstrate politeness; e.g.,
- shake the other person’s hand
- be silent and listen when someone else is speaking
- say Ay ay. (Thank you.)
- simple social interactions such as:
  - Tân’si? (How are you?)
  - Namôya nân ’taw. (I am fine.)
  - Êkwa kiya/kîya mâka? (And you?)
  - Namôya nân ’taw nîsta. (I am fine also.)

Have the students practise the basic conventions of politeness with a partner. Encourage them to use these politeness conventions in class. Invite the students to create posters and charts of common expressions of conversations of courtesy then post them in the classroom.

Think Fast Role-play

Teach phrases and behaviours associated with politeness. Organize the students into groups of two or three. Give the students two minutes to prepare brief dialogues in which they act out basic conventions of courtesy; e.g., entering a classroom late, accidentally bumping into someone, asking to leave the classroom, meeting the principal in school, meeting someone for the first time, meeting an Elder, eating at another person’s house. After the two minute time limit, student groups are to act out the scenarios for their classmates.

Consider video recording these role-plays for viewing by the class.

- Greeting Game
  Introduce greetings for various situations; e.g., meeting an Elder and saying, Tân'î nôhkîm or Tân'î nimosûm. Assign the students different roles; e.g., Elder, teacher, parent or friend. Have the students wear stickers or labels with their roles written on them. Have the students walk around the class, stop near another student and greet each other with an appropriate greeting. Encourage the students to use these forms of address throughout the school year.

- Role-plays
  Divide the students into pairs or groups and have them role-play situations in which different conventions are used for greeting various people politely; e.g., their teacher, classmates, Elders, family members. The situations could include:
  - a visitor to the school asks directions in the hallway
  - a visit with your grandmother
  - an Elder visits the classroom
  - you meet your friend at the movies.

  Play a simple song in Cree and have the students create actions to go along with the words of the song. Have the students practise the actions several times over the week or month. Model action songs can be used to introduce this activity; e.g., Brian MacDonald’s “Tân’si Tân’si” song.

- Using Nonverbal Communication

  Model nonverbal means of communication; e.g.,
  - lip pointing to give a direction
  - winking to indicate a joke or that someone is not telling the truth
  - beckoning with the hand or finger to mean “come here”
  - putting a finger to the lips to mean don’t talk or be quiet
  - clicking the tongue to mean stop what you’re doing.

  Describe a short simple scenario and have the students respond by using an appropriate nonverbal communication.

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

b. recognize that some nonverbal behaviours may be inappropriate in certain contexts

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

▸ Appropriate vs. Inappropriate
As a class, brainstorm various nonverbal behaviours that are not appropriate when listening to someone; e.g., putting your head on the desk or looking away, standing too close or moving away, rolling eyes, avoiding eye contact or staring.

Discuss other forms of nonverbal communication that can be inappropriate; e.g., pointing (and staring) at people you do not know, facial expressions (e.g., smiling in a sad/serious situation), sticking your tongue out, refusing a handshake. Discuss the importance of using polite nonverbal behaviours. Encourage the students to use these polite nonverbal behaviours in class.

Arrange the students into small groups. Give some groups examples of appropriate nonverbal behaviours and give other groups examples of inappropriate nonverbal behaviours. Allow time for the students to prepare skits. Have the groups take turns presenting their skits to the class. After each skit, have the students in the audience identify whether or not the behaviours are inappropriate.

- Steps of a Process
  When introducing a new activity to the class, e.g., how to make a family tree, how to create a shield or crest, how to pick berries, explain the process and demonstrate it. Give several students pictures and text that correspond to different steps in the process. Have them go to the front of the room and place their text and pictures where they think they belong. The class must come to an agreement as to the correct placement of all the steps. Review the steps as a class and emphasize any linking words used; e.g.,
  - pêyakwâw (once)
  - nîswâw (twice)
  - nêkân/Nîkân (first)
  - kêhtwâm (again, repeat)
  - êkwa (and, now, then)
  - êkwa asici (and also).

- Sentence Strips
  Read a short story (no longer than 12 sentences) and then distribute strips of paper with a sentence from the story written on each one. Have the students put the sentences in the correct order to match what happened in the story.

Extension
Cut up and distribute strips that describe the students’ daily routines and have them order them; e.g.,
- nikân niwaniskân êkwa. (First, I get out of bed.) or nikân éwaniskâyân êkwa. (First, I am getting out of bed.)
- Ėkwa nîkâsîhkwân êkwa. (Then I wash my face.) or Ėkwa êkâsîhkwêyân. (Then I am washing my face.)
- Piyisk âtawiya nimîcisoyân. (Finally, I eat.) or Piyisk âtawiya êmîcisoyân. (Finally, I am eating.)

b. link words or groups of words in simple ways

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Identify Linking Words

Model and teach sample sentences using linking words; e.g., mina (and), êkwa (also) and ôta (here).

- Nitawi nàta masinahikan êkwa pêtâ ôta. (Go fetch the book and bring it here.)
- Nitawi nàta masinahikan êkwa têhtapiwin êkwa itohtâ nete. (Go fetch the book and chair and take them over there.)
- Nimiywêhtên kâ masinahikêyân êkwa kâ mic'soyân êkwa kâ nipâyân. (I am happy when I am writing and eating and sleeping.)
- Nikawisimon nân 'taw kêkâ-mítâtaht tipahikan êkwa niwaniskân nân 'taw tépakohp tipahikan êkwa nikâsîkhwân êkwa nisîkahon êkwa nimicison mina niminhkwân tôhtôsâpoy. (I go to bed about 9:00 p.m. and I get up about 7:00 a.m. and I wash my face and comb my hair and I eat and drink milk.)

Read each sentence and have the students identify the linking words used in each sentence. Provide the students with a printed version of the sentences in which all the linking words are missing. Have the students add the missing words.

➤ Combining Sentences

Present the students with two lists of short sentences; e.g.,

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>List A</th>
<th>List B</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Nimiywêhtên ta pakâsimoyân. (I like to swim.)</td>
<td>Nimiywêhtên ta pimipahtâyân. (I like to run.)</td>

<td>Yôtin anohc. (Today it is windy.)</td>
<td>Otâkosihk kî kimowan. (Yesterday it was raining.)</td>

Set up centres or stations with the sample oral or written text forms. Arrange the students into small groups and give each group several sticky notes (a different colour for each group). As the groups circulate throughout the stations, they decide what they think each item is and label it with their sticky notes. Once the groups have moved through all of the stations, discuss the oral and written text forms.
General Outcome for Language Competence

Students will be effective, competent and comfortable as Cree speakers.

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment

Does the student:

- recognize some simple oral and written text forms?

Informal Observation

Observe students as they participate in the activity. Make mental notes of the extent to which students are able to recognize some simple oral and written text forms. Offer feedback encouragement and praise as needed.

MATERIALS

- Variety of oral and written text forms, several different-coloured sticky notes.
LC–5 apply knowledge of how the language is organized, structured and sequenced

General Outcome for Language Competence
Students will be effective, competent and comfortable as Cree speakers.
(Okiskinamawâkanak ka/ta nihtâ nêhiyawêwak.)

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. initiate interactions and respond using simple social interaction patterns

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

Social Interactions
Use daily classroom routines to encourage students to initiate interactions in Cree. Encourage the students to continue to use these interaction patterns during class time as well as in other situations. Arrange the students into small groups and have them role-play simple interactions and interaction patterns.

Alternative Activity
Have the students use puppets to role-play simple interaction patterns.

Interaction Art
Ask the students to work as a class to create songs, poems or works of art using familiar Cree phrases and words in the following situations:
- when greeting someone; e.g., Nimiywêhtên kâ nakiskâtân. (I am happy to meet you.)
- when giving or receiving a gift; e.g., Ay ay kitatamihin. (Thank you. You pleased me.)
- when offering and accepting help from someone; e.g., Kawîcihitin. (I will help you.)
- when asking for something; e.g., Mahtêsa kâkâwêcimitin kikway. (I will ask you something, please.)
- when inviting someone or when being invited; e.g., Ê pê wihkomitân ê pê nitomitân. (I have come to invite you.)
General Outcome for Language Competence
Students will be effective, competent and comfortable as Cree speakers.

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment

Does the student:
- initiate interactions and respond using simple social interaction patterns?

Observation Checklist

Create an outcome-based checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Use the checklist to assess if students are able to initiate interactions and respond using simple social interaction patterns (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Observation Checklist).

Conferences

Meet with the students to review their poems, songs or artwork and discuss their ability to use the phrases associated with each situation. Discuss any difficulties they may have in initiating interactions and responding using simple social interaction patterns. Suggest strategies to use.

MATERIALS

- Puppets (optional).
- Art supplies.
Community Membership

General Outcome for Community Membership

Students will live (wâ)wêtina(hk) (peacefully) with Kikâwînaw Askîy (Mother Earth*), others and themselves, guided by Omâmawi Ohtâwîmâw (the Creator*).

CM–1 Kikâwînaw Askîy (Mother Earth*)

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

- a. participate in harmonious activities and experiences related to Kikâwînaw Askîy (Mother Earth*)

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Drumming
  Teach the relationship between drum beats and the heartbeat of living creatures, between the drum and Mother Earth, by using resources available in the classroom. Have the students explore the sound of their own heartbeats.

- Mother Earth Activities
  Invite the students to participate in various activities that promote a connection to Mother Earth. Have them create a checklist of the following activities and note when they have completed each one:
  - ohpihiwikêwin (planting)
  - mawisokonikêwin* (gathering)
  - asiskiwihcikêwin (composting)
  - kamanahaskwêk êkwa kamawisohk (picking herbs and berries)
  - kwêskápacihiwikêwin* (recycling)
  - nihtawkihcikêk (gardening/landscaping)
  - mâciwin (big game hunting)
  - notisipêwin (duck hunting)
  - nôtâpaswewin (rabbit hunting)
  - pakitahtawawin (fishing [by net])
  - kwâskwépiciwikêwin (fishing [by rod and reel])
  - nikamowina (songs)
  - mês[koe miyotôâkêwin (reciprocity)
  - manâcihtâ askîy (conservation)
  - manâcihcikêwin (preservation)
  - asahkêwin, wîhkohkîmowin* (community feast/supper).

- Stories and Legends
  Read or tell several stories or legends involving Mother Earth and discuss with the students what they learned about Mother Earth from the stories. Have the students then create posters that reflect their understanding of Mother Earth.

Discretionary Note: Some of these activities require extreme care, caution and sensitivity on the part of the teacher. Teachers should consult Elders in their local community regarding traditional practices.

The terms “Mother Earth” and “Creator” are identified as discretionary terms in the Cree Language and Culture Program of Studies. Communities may choose to use these terms or to use other related terms acceptable to them (e.g., nature, the environment) in order to teach the outcomes in this section.

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
- participate in harmonious activities and experiences related to Kikâwînaw Askiy (Mother Earth*)?

Informal Observation
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Make mental notes of the extent to which students are able to participate in harmonious activities and experiences related to Kikâwînaw Askiy (Mother Earth).

Self-assessment Checklist
Create an outcome-based self-assessment checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Students use the checklist to determine if they are able to participate in harmonious activities and experiences related to Kikâwînaw Askiy (Mother Earth) (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Self-assessment Checklist).

Learning Log
Students reflect in their learning and how well they were able to participate in harmonious activities and experiences related to Kikâwînaw Askiy (Mother Earth).

MATERIALS
- Drums or other implements for drumming.
- Equipment related to the activities.
- Poster materials, stories or legends related to Mother Earth; e.g., Amiskohkânis êkwa kotaka achimôna (The Pet Beaver and Other Stories) by A. Anderson (Duval House Publishing, 1998), Creation of the World story.

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Caretakers
  Discuss and model the role of people as protectors and caretakers of Mother Earth. Have the students then brainstorm ways in which they can help protect Mother Earth; e.g.,
  - kwêskâpacihcikêwin (recycling)
  - ta mostohtéhk ispîhci ta pôsihk (walking rather than riding in cars)
  - kanâcihcikê kiskinohamâtowikamîtokhk êkwa ihtâwinihk (cleaning up garbage at school and in their community).
  Invite the students to create posters to promote one of the ideas from their brainstorming.

- School Clean Up
  Organize a clean-up day at the school or at a park in your community. Review the importance of respecting Mother Earth by keeping the environment clean and have the students set goals; e.g., collecting a certain amount of garbage.

CM–1 Kikâwinaw Askiy (Mother Earth*)

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

b. explore a past/present Cree community and its relationship with Kikâwinaw Askiy (Mother Earth*)

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Past Community
Teach the students how to research information on a Cree community of the past, e.g., through a film, book, pictures, Internet, and draw pictures of the community, labelling things that they learned about the clothing, housing, work, food and way of life in the community. Have the students further explore communities of the past by:

− asking kôhkom (their grandmother) and kimosôm (their grandfather) what life was like − reading and listening to stories of the past
− going on field trips to historic sites.

Have the students create a class display to show what they learned.

➤ Treasures around Us
Have the students brainstorm elements of Cree culture in the local community; e.g., people, businesses, organizations, music, artwork, sports and entertainment.

Have the students create a brochure or a visitors’ guide to their community highlighting Cree history/historic sites, businesses, people, services, landmarks and buildings. Students can access information on the Internet, take photographs themselves, visit a local museum or talk to local people.

Extension
On a map of your community, have the students mark businesses, landmarks and organizations of Cree origin; e.g., restaurants, specialty food stores, cultural centres. Take a field trip to old Cree communities and graveyards.

Caution
Be sensitive to each student’s personal family situation when exploring kinship relationships.

  - sihta (spruce)
  - nîpsí (willow).
  During the field trip, have the students identify the trees using Cree words.
  Extension
  Review information on the running and collecting of birch sap (waskwayâpoy – waskwayâpôhkêhk). Invite the students to then create illustrations that show how birch sap is collected and used by the Cree people.
➤ Traditional Crafts
  Invite a guest to demonstrate making a traditional craft; e.g., rattles, musical instruments (small drums), paper crafts and moss bags. Ensure proper protocol is used. After the demonstration, have the class discuss what they learned about the significance of the craft and its relationship to Mother Earth.
  Extension
  Demonstrate how to construct a meat drying rack using willow, including using willow bark for strapping/tying, akwâwān (dry meat rack), akwâñáhtikwa (dry meat rack poles), tahkopicikana (ties).

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

b. explore practices and products, related to Kikâwînaw Askiy (Mother Earth*), of a specific region or community

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Way of Life
  Have the students research the way of life in a Cree community in a different region, including môcikihtâwinihikêwin (celebrations), nikamowina (songs), nîmihitowina (dances), mâcêw isihcikêwina (hunting practices), nawacîwin (food preparation) and wanêhikêwin (trapping). Invite the students to create a mural or posters that illustrate the way of life in the community.

- Traditional Natural Products
  Have the students use a picture of a forest or plains to create diagrams that show the traditional products taken from Mother Earth. Have the students label trees, berries and animals with the traditional products that are made from them; e.g.,
  - buffalo (hide for clothing, moccasins, meat for food)
  - moose (hide for clothing, meat for food).

Specific Outcomes

Students will be able to:

a. participate in activities and experiences that reflect past and present Cree perspectives related to Kikâwînaw Askiy (Mother Earth*)

Sample Teaching and Learning Activities

Comparing Past and Present

Produce information on traditional uses of food and have the students compare past practices with present-day practices in a chart; e.g.,

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Past</th>
<th>Present</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Berries were dried to preserve them.</td>
<td>Berries are frozen to preserve them.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Have the students then compare Cree interactions with Mother Earth in the past and present; e.g.,

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Past</th>
<th>Present</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>People lived close to the environment in tipis in rural areas.</td>
<td>People live in houses or apartment buildings in towns or cities.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Have the students find evidence to support how these changes affect Cree perspectives on Mother Earth; e.g., the importance of Mother Earth to their daily lives.

Extension

Have the class host a small traditional feast in the classroom. Ask each student to prepare and bring a dish to share with the class. Encourage the students to sample all dishes and give thanks to Mother Earth for the feast.

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

- a. participate in activities and experiences that reflect diversity in perspectives related to Kikâwinaw Askîy (Mother Earth)

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Mother Earth Collages

  Have the students draw pictures or create collages that represent Mother Earth. Invite the students to present their artwork to the rest of the class, explaining why they used the images they did and what Mother Earth means to them. Encourage the students to understand and respect the perspectives of their classmates.

- Mother Earth Survey

  Have the students interview people in their class, community and household, asking questions about their perspectives related to Mother Earth; e.g.,

  - Tân’si Kikâwinaw Askîy kitêyimâw? (What does Mother Earth mean to you?)
  - Tânsîsi kitisi kiwîcitôtamîw Kikâwinaw Askîy? (How do you interact with Mother Earth?)
  - Tânsîsi kitisi manâcihâw Kikâwinaw Askîy? (How do you show respect to Mother Earth?)

  Have each student create a booklet called “What Mother Earth Means to Me” that includes the responses of the various people interviewed.

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Preparing for Group Work
  Teach the students the importance of:
  - cooperating with others in their groups
  - listening to others in their groups
  - encouraging other members of their groups
  - not being critical of or judging other group members.

  Arrange the students in groups to work on an activity. Monitor the groups to ensure students are working well together.

- Welcoming Others
  Teach a welcome song (e.g., from Brian McDonald) and practise it as a class. Have the students role-play greetings and invitations to come and join in; e.g.,
  - Pê pîhtokwê. (Come in.)
  - Pê api ôta. (Come sit here.)

  Ask the students to create a welcome sign for the classroom using the phrases and words they learned. Invite a visitor to the class and have the students sing the welcome song to him or her.

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Community Feast

  Before hosting a class feast or attending a community feast*, invite the students to volunteer to help out by setting up the room, preparing the food, serving the food and cleaning up afterward. Have the students review and practise phrases to show respect and friendliness; e.g.,

  - Saying, Âstam pê api ôta nôhköm/nimosôm. (Come sit here grandmother/grandfather.) when offering an Elder a chair.

  - Kâkî wîcihitin cî? (Can I help/assist you?)

  Discuss the Cree custom of women preparing the food and men serving the food.

- Brainstorming

  Have the students brainstorm different ways they can be helpful at school, at home and in their community. Ask the students to then choose several items from the list and make an effort to do them over a week. At the end of the week, have the students report when and how many times they were able to help others.

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
• practise consideration of, and helpfulness toward, others?

➤ Learning Log
Students reflect on their learning and how well they were able to practise consideration of, and helpfulness toward, others.

➤ Conferences
Meet with individual students to discuss the efforts they have made to be considerate and helpful toward, others. What was their favourite part of the experience?

MATERIALS

➤ Community feast, Cultural Activities Handbook by Miyowahkohtowin Education Authority.

➤ None required.

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

- a. explore a past and a present Cree community; e.g., its people, practices, products, beliefs

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- The Value of Handmade
  In a sharing circle*, have the students compare and contrast handmade items to mass-produced items; e.g., clothing (factory-made sneakers versus hand-beaded moccasins) and foods (dried meat versus fast food restaurant hamburgers). Encourage the students to see the value of handmade items and understand that mass-produced items have little cultural value.

- Inquiry into the Past
  Have the students create questions about the history of their community; e.g.,
  - What did the community look like in the past?
  - How did the people there live in the past?
  - Where in the area did the people live in the past?

  Have the students interview Elders and collect their responses. Ensure that students show respect in their words and actions. Ask the students to create a class booklet called Kayâs (Long Ago), in which they write the information they collected and draw pictures.

- Sweetgrass
  Review the use of sweetgrass* by Cree people of the past and present; e.g.,
  - Anohc kiyápí ápacihtáwak wíhkask kaháyamihá-cík [SPC] -twáw [NPC]. (Today they still use sweetgrass when they pray.)

Discretionary Note: The use and meaning of this concept may vary depending on the community or region.

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Songs and Stories
  Invite the students to listen to nikamôna (songs) and âcimowina (stories) that illustrate Cree cultural practices and activities. Have the class discuss what they learned from the songs and stories and write personal responses in their Learning Logs.

- Dance
  Introduce and teach information on various nimihitowina (dances) and watch a video of the dances being performed. Explain the cultural significance of each dance and when it would be performed. Invite the students to try the dances themselves as a class.

- Cleansing
  Introduce information on miyâhkasikêwin (smudging)*, the cultural significance of cleansing and when it would be performed. Have the students write personal responses about smudging in their Learning Logs.

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

b. explore Cree community cultural practices and products

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

> Sharing Circle

Invite the students to explore Cree cultural practices and products through such things as:
- storytelling
- singing and listening to music; e.g., a Round Dance or Tea Dance Song
- watching and/or participating in dances
- berry picking, picking sweetgrass, collecting roots and herbs.

In a sharing circle*, have the students discuss what they have learned about the various Cree practices.

> Film

Show a film involving Cree cultural practices and cultural items. After watching the film, have the students discuss what they saw and heard and write personal responses by answering questions; e.g.,
- Kîkway nikiskinohamâkon ôma cikâstêpayicikan? (What did I learn from the film?)
- Kîkway nikiskisimikon ôma cikâstêpayicikan? (What things did the film remind me of?)
- Kîkway nimêyiwêyihtên? (What did I like the best about the film?)
- Kîkway cîkwêskimâmitonêyimitên ohci nêhiyaw pimâcihowin? Tânêhki ahpô tanêhki? (Did the film change my mind about the Cree lifestyle? Why or why not?)

a. describe similarities and differences between past and present Cree community experiences, practices, products, perspectives and values, and examine change

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Comparison Charts
Compare and contrast traditional tanning methods and contemporary factory tanning methods and discuss the differences between the two. Have the students fill in a chart that compares traditional tanning and factory tanning.

Compare and contrast traditional methods of making jerky and contemporary factory methods of making jerky and discuss the differences between the two. Have the students fill in a chart that compares traditional dry meat making and factory jerky making.

➤ Venn Diagram
Have the students create Venn diagrams entitled “Cree Practices and Cultural Items Past and Present.” On the left side of the diagram, have the students list Cree practices and products used in the past. On the other side, have them list practices and products used in the present. In the middle, where the two circles intersect, have them list the practices and products that were used in the past and are still used today.

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Self Portraits
  Have the students create self-portraits, including several words and phrases that describe their talents and likes or dislikes, and display them in a “photo gallery.” Invite the students to look at the portraits of their classmates and discuss the unique qualities of other students in a sharing circle*; e.g., Mary mîyosiw. (Mary is pretty.)

- Tracings
  Have the students trace each other’s outlines (body tracing) on large sheets of paper. Ask the students to then fill in the outlines with adjectives and phrases that describe their partners; e.g., apisisiw awa (this one’s small) and misikitiw awa (this one’s big). Put the tracings on the wall and discuss the different qualities of each student.

- Family and Community Leaders
  Have the students choose a Cree leader/role model and read information about his or her life and accomplishments. Have the students then brainstorm all the adjectives and phrases that can be used to describe the person and create a poster using these words and phrases.

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

▷ Positive Qualities
Ask the students to write sentences describing a positive quality of the classmates to their left, the classmates to their right, the classmates in front of them and the classmates behind them. Invite the students to share their sentences with the rest of the class and collect the sentences in a booklet.

Extension
Have the students create Valentine’s Day or birthday cards for each other in which they compliment each other on their positive qualities or talents.

▷ Quality Cards
For Mother’s Day or Father’s Day, have the students create cards that illustrate the positive qualities of their parent or guardian. Alternatively, have students create birthday cards for friends and family members that celebrate their unique qualities.

Extension
Have the students write short biographies of the leaders in the community, both past and present; e.g.,

– Kayâs okimâhkanak (past chiefs)
– Okiskinohamâkêwak (teachers)
– Kihtêyayak (Elders).

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES
Students will be able to:

a. express their own concept of themselves and extend that understanding to include new ideas and perspectives; e.g., related to home and school

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Personal Family Presentation
Have the students draw pictures of themselves and their family members. Ask students to label the pictures and indicate, in Cree, their relationship to the persons in the pictures. Invite the students to present the pictures to others in the class or their group.

Extension
Teach the students how to create time lines using the Cree language to show important events at school and at home over the past month or school year.

➤ I am …
Teach various Cree adjectives that describe feelings and have the students create sentences with them based on the following model:
- Anohc nitâpacihtân __________. (Today I used __________.)
- Nitayamihtân __________. (I read __________.)
- Nimasinahên __________. (I wrote __________.)

Revisit this activity several times, asking the students to come up with new examples for each adjective.

➤ Book about Me
Over the school year, have the students develop and add to a Nitâcimowasinahikan (Book about Me). In the book, ask the students to write their information in Cree; e.g.,
- ispîtisi maskisin kâtîpiskamân, isinâkwana nêscakâsa (height, shoe size, hair colour)
- kîkway kaméyiwêyhtamân mâna ka itohtamân (favourite hobbies and pastimes)
- kîkwâya kânanahêyân (accomplishments and talents).

Caution
Be sensitive to each student’s personal family situation when exploring kinship relationships.

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➢ Autobiographies

Read and provide examples of short autobiographies. Then lead a discussion about the kind of information usually found in an autobiography; e.g., where and when you were born, hobbies and pastimes, teams and groups you belong to. Have the students then write a simple autobiography entitled Ôma nitipiyawi acimisôwin (This Is My Book/My Autobiography). Encourage the students to include descriptions of their own strengths and abilities; e.g., hobbies and talents.

➢ Animal Characteristics Posters

Have the students create word art posters in the shape of animals and write simple Cree words describing the animals’ qualities, characteristics and values. Ask the students to then choose an animal and describe how they are similar to the animal or how they would like to be more like the animal. Invite them to share their ideas with the rest of the class.

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. explore kinship and community

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

Kinship Show and Tell

Ask the students to create collages depicting kinship and community and then have each student share his or her work in a show-and-tell activity. Invite the students to write a journal entry, using as many Cree words as possible, about one of the presentations made by another student in the class.

Extension

During Meet the Teacher night, have the students introduce their family members, using phrases in Cree; e.g., Nikâwiy awa. (This is my mother.) and Nôhtâwiy awa. (This is my father.)

Field Trip

Organize a trip to the community archives or town hall. Have the students use the information they find there to create a time line, in Cree, that shows how their community has changed over time. Encourage the students to include major events; e.g., the building of community landmarks and the construction of new roads or subdivisions.

Home, School and Community

Create three circles labelled Kiskinohamâtowikamikohk (At School), Nîkinâhk (At Home) and Namêhtâwinâhk (In the Community). Have the students paste related pictures, words and phrases in the circles.

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Guest Speakers
  Invite guests from the community to visit the class to discuss community traditions and practices; e.g., local festivals or holidays, local fairs, local ceremonies, local foods. Encourage the students to listen respectfully to the experiences of the community members, ask questions and write personal responses in their Learning Logs.

- Sharing Experiences
  Provide numerous examples of family/community traditions and practices. In a sharing circle*, have the students share their family experiences and traditions at meals, holidays and ceremonies. Have the students then discuss what experiences and traditions were similar among them and draw pictures of a holiday they recently celebrated. Then look at the pictures as a class and discuss the different ways that people celebrate holidays.

- Biographies
  Introduce and model various examples of short biographies and discuss some of the features of biographies; e.g., tell events in chronological order, include major events in the person’s life. Ask the students to interview members of their families or community and write short biographies.

Extension

As an enrichment activity, have the students talk to older family members about what it was like when they were young. Then have the students write and illustrate short stories that take place in the past, using the person they interviewed as the main character.

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. express their own understanding of themselves, their family and their community and explore the perceptions of others

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

> Partner Biographies
Divide the students into pairs and have them interview one another, asking questions; e.g.,

− Tântê kî kî nihtâwikin? (Where were you born?)
− Tân 'tahto ki tahtopiponân? (How old are you?)
− Tân 'tê ki wîkin? (Where do you live?)
− Awîna ki witikwîmâw? (Who do you live with?)
− Kîkwây ki miywêhtên ta itôtaman? (What do you like to do?)
− Kîkwây ki miywêhtên ta kiskinohamâsoyan? (What is your favourite subject in school?)

Explain and demonstrate how to write short biographies. Have them write biographies about their partners. Afterward, have the partners ask each other questions; e.g.,

− Kîkway kikiskinohamâkon? (What did you learn about me?)
− Kîkway mina pîtos kinohtê kikiskêyihtên niya ohci? (What would you like to know about me?)

★ The terms “Mother Earth” and “Creator” are identified as discretionary terms in the Cree Language and Culture Program of Studies. Communities may choose to use these terms or to use other related terms acceptable to them (e.g., nature, the environment) in order to teach the outcomes in this section.
General Outcome for Community Membership
Students will live (wâ)wêtina(hk) (peacefully) with Kikâwînaw Askiy (Mother Earth*), others and themselves, guided by Omämawi Ohtâwîmâw (the Creator*).

CM–3 themselves

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Do the students:
- express their own understanding of themselves, their family and their community and explore the perceptions of others?

➤ Anecdotal Notes
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Note the extent to which students are able to express their own understanding of themselves, their family and their community and explore the perceptions of others, and record anecdotal notes (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Anecdotal Notes).

➤ Samples of short biographies.

★ The terms “Mother Earth” and “Creator” are identified as discretionary terms in the Cree Language and Culture Program of Studies. Communities may choose to use these terms or to use other related terms acceptable to them (e.g., nature, the environment) in order to teach the outcomes in this section.
General Outcome for Community Membership
Students will live (wâ)wêtina(hk) (peacefully) with Kikâwînaw Askiy (Mother Earth*), others and themselves, guided by Omâmawi Ohtâwîmâw (the Creator*).

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

b. understand their own strengths and weaknesses

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Posters
Provide and model examples of personal strengths and weaknesses. Have the students create posters that describe their strengths and weaknesses; e.g.,
- Ninihtâyamihcikân. (I am a good reader.)
- Ninihtânikamon. (I am a good singer.)
- Ninihtâwîcihâwak kotakak. (I am good at helping others.)
- Ninanahîhtên. (I am a good listener.)

Have the students divide their posters in half and label one side Miyawâsin (Good) and the other Kiyâpîc ka atoskâtaman (Requires Improvement).

➤ Group Work Self-assessment
After completing group work, have the students complete a self assessment in which they rate themselves from 1 to 5 on things such as:
- Kwayask cî ninitohtawâwak kotakak? (How well did I listen to others?)
- Ni kawiwîcitâson cî? (Did I offer help to others in my group?)
- Nîwîcimâmitonêyihtênân cî? (Did I share my ideas with others?)
- Nikisîhtân cî nitatoskêwin? (Did I complete the task?)
- Nipimitisahîn cî okiskinohanâmâkêw otwêyimowina? (Did I follow the teacher’s instructions?)
- Nikakwêcihkîmon cî ispê ta wîcihikawêyân? (Did I ask for help when I needed it?)

Have each student then discuss his or her strengths and weaknesses with the others in his or her group. Do they all agree? Have the students set goals for improvement based on their assessments.

- identify and celebrate the unique characteristics of their family and community

CM–3.5 diversity

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

▶ Community Leaders

Conduct a class discussion on the leaders of the community; e.g., police, doctors, nurses, chief, businessmen/businesswomen. Have the students then work together to create a display called Onîkânêwak (The Leaders of Our Community) in which they describe the community leaders.

- Kîkwây itôtamwak onîkânêwak? (What duties do leaders have?)

Work with the class to list the goals and plans that leaders have and how they help the community to be a better place to live.

▶ Sharing and Show and Tell

Discuss with the students how to identify and celebrate unique characteristics of family and community. Have the students identify special cultural skills and talents, e.g., cooking, tanning and storytelling, possessed by members of their families. Invite the students to share this information in a sharing circle*.

Extension

Have the students show and explain to the rest of the class unique symbols or designs associated with their families; e.g., crests, clan symbols or embroidery styles.

*Discretionary Note: The use and meaning of this concept may vary depending on the community or region.

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

▷ Booklets

Discuss with the students how to identify and celebrate your own unique strengths and abilities. Have the students identify their own special cultural gifts and create Nikaskihtân ōhi (My Talents) booklets. Have the students read the booklets of other students in the class.

▷ Classroom Talent Showcase

Brainstorm the strengths and abilities of students in the class and have the students create a class display that shows their individual talents. Circulate and help the students think of their own strengths and abilities. Organize talent days in which the students demonstrate their skills and abilities.

Extension

As an enrichment activity, have the students answer the following questions in their Learning Logs:

- Kîkwây kinakacihtân? (What is your skill?)
- Tân’si kisinakacân? (How are you talented?)

Have the students list one or more skills or talents that they possess; e.g.,

- Ninihtâmêtawân kitohcikan. (I play an instrument excellently.)
- Ninihtânêhiyawân. (I speak Cree fluently.)

Rhymes and Songs
Introduce short songs that include words from vocabulary lists and the students’ personal dictionaries. For example, when reviewing body parts, have the students sing “Head and Shoulders, Knees and Toes.”

Have the students modify the songs by changing the words to other body parts, classroom objects, family members and other vocabulary words. Have the students then teach their own versions to other students.

Personal Dictionaries
Ask the students to create personal dictionaries or phrase books in which they record new words and phrases learned. Have the students provide a context for the words and phrases; e.g., include sentences that use the word or phrase. Also have the students indicate the function of the word or phrase; e.g., action verb, adjective, preposition. Invite the students to organize the vocabulary terms according to lexical fields; e.g., family, school, clothing, weather.

Visuals and Gestures to Improve Communication
Introduce a variety of simple nonverbal productive strategies and play games similar to charades. Have the students practise using gestures and visual supports to aid comprehension and language learning. Encourage the students to use visuals and gestures to aid their understanding of Cree speakers; e.g., when watching Cree television programs and movies.
General Outcome for Strategies
Students will use strategies to maximize learning and communication.

- Topics for charades, television programs, movies, viewing station.
S–2 language use

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. use a variety of simple strategies, with guidance, to enhance language use

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➢ Modelling Productive Strategies

Lead the students in a discussion of how taking risks is an important part of language learning. Model various strategies; e.g., risk-taking, self talk and humour. Describe your own experiences in using these types of strategies; e.g.,

− You visit a household or community where Cree is spoken. You don’t know the people, but you try speaking to them in Cree.

− You are about to do a presentation in Cree to the class and you are nervous about your pronunciation. Before your presentation, think positive thoughts and encourage yourself by remembering all the things you have done already in Cree.

Encourage the students to use these strategies on their own.

➢ Conversing in Groups

Divide the students into groups to have short conversations with each other on pets, hobbies and other topics of interest. Encourage the students to use communication strategies; e.g., interpreting nonverbal clues [e.g., miming, pointing, smiling, nodding, raising eyebrows], asking for clarification or repetition, circumlocution [e.g., “the thing you hang the clothes on” for “hanger”], repeating part of what someone has said to confirm understanding and asking follow-up questions to check for understanding [e.g., “Am I making sense?”].

Extension

Organize the students into small groups and have the groups prepare a brief skit in which they demonstrate simple interactions using communication strategies.

Extension

Organize a students’ storytelling circle in which they can demonstrate and improve their Cree communication skills.
General Outcome for Strategies
Students will use strategies to maximize learning and communication.

S–3 cultural learning

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. use a variety of simple strategies, with guidance, to enhance cultural learning

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➢ The Writing Process
Read samples of basic stories and legends to the students. After listening to different examples, have the students create their own texts with illustrations to provide detail. Have them brainstorm their ideas before starting, then follow the writing process—prewriting, writing, revisions, correction and publication. Encourage the students to apply grammar rules to improve their texts and to avoid difficult structures by rephrasing.

➢ Research
Teach the students research skills and assign various topics to the students; e.g., culture of a specific Cree-speaking community. Encourage them to use a variety of reference materials; e.g., encyclopedias, the Internet, CD–ROMs and text books. Have the students collect and organize the information they find in diagrams, charts or other graphic organizers, then present what they learned to the rest of the class.

➢ Inquiry Process
Brainstorm with students about a current topic or theme related to Cree culture. Before they create presentations, have the students write what they know and questions to guide their research in a KWL chart; e.g.,

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Kīkwây kā kiskiïyihtamân (What I Know)</th>
<th>Kīkwây kā nohtê kiskiïyihtamân (What I Want to Know)</th>
<th>Kīkwây kā kiskinohamâkawê yân (What I Learned)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

Have the students access and use a variety of information sources; e.g., libraries, the Internet, people in the community and professional organizations.

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. use a variety of simple strategies, with guidance, to enhance general learning

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Dealing with Complex Texts
Introduce and teach the strategy of skimming and scanning for information. Provide the students with a Cree text on a specific topic. Create questions on the topic covered in the text and have the students skim and scan the text to find the answers to the questions.

Then have the students read the text more closely, identifying key words and phrases and rereading several times to understand the more complex ideas. Teach the students how to deal with unknown words in a text; e.g.,
- Read sentences before and after the unknown word.
- Find words or phrases that give clues to the word’s meaning or function.
- Look at clues as to the word’s function by examining its spelling.

➤ Self-analysis
Introduce and teach the strategy of self-analysis. Have the students complete a self-analysis to discover their own needs and interests. Have them think about and answer questions; e.g.,
1. When I’m working on an activity, what kinds of things help me? How do they help me?; e.g.,
   - other students
   - adults
   - things on my desk
   - books and reference materials.
2. What things do I need to do to help myself:
   - before I start
   - during the activity
   - after the activity?
3. What are my favourite things to learn about?

Have the students rate the following things from one (like it the most) to ten (like it the least): sort things, organize things, look for information, watch videos, role-play, learn about culture, play games, write stories, create artwork, listen to guest speakers.
General Outcome for Strategies
Students will use strategies to maximize learning and communication.

General Outcomes
General outcomes are broad statements identifying the knowledge, skills and attitudes that students are expected to achieve in the course of their language learning experience. The four general outcomes serve as the foundation for the program of studies.

The terms “Mother Earth” and “Creator” are identified as discretionary terms in the Cree Language and Culture Program of Studies. Communities may choose to use these terms or to use other related terms acceptable to them (e.g., nature, the environment) in order to teach the outcomes in this section.
Applications

General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–1 to share information

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. describe people, places and things

► My Name Is _____________

Introduce nitisihkâson, the root of the word meaning “belly button, lifeline connection to wâhkômâkanâk (relations). Sit with the students in a sharing circle*. Starting with the student to your left, have the students introduce themselves one by one using niya and nitisihkâson (My name is _________.)

► Simple Introductions

Divide the students into pairs and have them find out information about each other, such as where they live, who is in their family and what they like to do (pastimes). Have them present and describe each other to the rest of the class.

► Family Trees

Introduce the concept of family trees, using examples. Have the students draw and label their own family trees, maternal and paternal, then share the information about their families wît’sânak (brothers and sisters) and wâhkôhtowin (kinship), in a sharing circle*.

► Sports Commentary

Teach and review vocabulary related to sports activities. Then, divide the students into groups and give each student a card with an illustrated sports activity. Have each student show his or her card to the group and act out the activity. Ask the group to describe the activity aloud; e.g., Pimipahtâw. (She is running.) Keep in mind that sports-related words are descriptive and long.

Extension

Introduce first person, second person and third person in both animate (NA) and inanimate (NI) nouns.

Caution

Be sensitive to each student’s personal family situation when exploring kinship relationships.

*Discretionary Note: The use and meaning of this concept may vary depending on the community or region.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
• describe people, places and things?

➤ Informal Observation
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Make mental notes of the extent to which students are able to describe people, places and things. Offer feedback, encouragement and praise as needed.

➤ Anecdotal Notes
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Note the extent to which students are able to describe people, places and things, and record anecdotal notes (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Anecdotal Notes).

➤ Rubric
Collaboratively create an outcome-based rubric with the students. Use the rubric to evaluate how well students are able to describe people, places and things (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Rubric or Rubric and Checklist).

➤ Informal Observation
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Make mental notes of the extent to which students are able to describe people, places and things. Offer feedback, encouragement and praise as needed.

MATERIALS

➤ Word wall.

➤ None required.

➤ Markers, family tree blackline master (optional).

➤ Sports activity flash cards.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–1 to share information

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. describe people, places and things

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

> Travel Brochure or Poster

Divide the students into groups to research life in a Cree-speaking community using a variety of sources; e.g., books, magazines, videos, brochures, CD–ROM encyclopedia, Internet. Ask each group to collect and present information on five aspects of life in that community using the mediums of travel brochure/poster, Web site or television show. Possible topics might include: The People of the Community, What to See, Where to Eat and Where to Stay.

Extension

Have the class present the information as a Cree travel fair to the rest of the school or to the community; e.g., summer circuit of powwows, travelling for a summer sports tournament.

> Animals in Your Region

Introduce vocabulary related to animals found in your region. Have the students describe the pisiskowak (animals) found in their region as seen in various photographs and paintings.

> Weekly Schedule

Introduce and teach vocabulary for the days of the week and have the students exchange information about what they do on the different days of the week. For each day of the week, have the students describe what they do, e.g., chores, extracurricular activities, family activities, school-related activities, to others in their groups or to the rest of the class.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–1 to share information

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
• describe people, places and things?

MATERIALS

► Internet access, books, CDs and other sources of information on a Cree community, poster materials, printer.

► Various photographs and paintings of animals from your region.

► Days of the week classroom display.

► Rubric
Collaboratively create an outcome-based rubric with the students. Use the rubric to evaluate how well students are able to describe people, places and things (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Rubric or Rubric and Checklist).

► Informal Observation
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Make mental notes of the extent to which students are able to describe people, places and things. Offer feedback, encouragement and praise as needed.

► Rating Scale
Create an outcome-based rating scale and share it with students before they begin the activity. Use the rating scale to assess how well students are able to describe people, places and things (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Rating Scale 1, 2 or 3).
Grade 6

General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–1 to share information

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

b. describe series or sequences of events or actions

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Hunting Trip Skit

  Introduce vocabulary related to sequencing events. Have the students prepare and present a skit called My Hunting Trip. The skit should show the steps or stages of the trip, including such things as preparing to leave, travelling to the hunting grounds, setting up camp, hunting the animals, preparing the animals for transport back to the camp, preparing the meat and celebration/giving thanks for a successful hunt. If possible, have the students video record their skits so that they can assess their own performances.

- Chokecherry Recipe

  Have the students watch as you explain and demonstrate how to crush chokecherries; e.g.,

  - Ahi kâ napakosit asînihk nêkân. (Put the bigger flat rock down.)
  - Otin takwahaminâna. (Get a handful of chokecherries.)
  - Apatis asînîs katakwahacik. (Use the smaller rock to crush the chokecherries.)
  - Ahi takwahaminâna wiyâkanisihk. (Put the crushed chokecherries in a bowl.)
  - Asây mina tiohta. (Repeat the process.)

  Have the students describe your actions in the order that they occurred.

Extension

Have the students translate their descriptions of the actions into instructions or a recipe for others to follow.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–1 to share information

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
• describe series or sequences of events or actions?

➤ Self-assessment Checklist
Create an outcome-based self-assessment checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Students use the checklist to determine if they are able to describe series or sequences of events or actions (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Self-assessment Checklist).

➤ Anecdotal Notes
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Note the extent to which students are able to describe series or sequences of events or actions, and record anecdotal notes (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Anecdotal Notes).

MATERIALS

➤ Various cultural props, video camera (optional).

➤ Chokecherries, flat rock or cutting board, smaller rock, bowl.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–2.1 to express emotions and personal perspectives

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

- inquire about and express likes and dislikes

Likes and Dislikes Survey

Review vocabulary related to expressing likes and dislikes. Have the students ask each other questions in a simple survey regarding food preferences. Provide a few sample food items, then ask the class to fill in the rest of the chart with other food items. Model the questions they should be asking and how to answer the questions about their likes and dislikes using complete sentences. The answers could be marked in the chart as Éhâ/Ihî or Namoya, or consider having the students rate their likes and dislikes; e.g., 1 = strongly dislike, 5 = strongly like. For example:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Student</th>
<th>Meat (Wîyas)</th>
<th>Berries (Mînsa)</th>
<th>Potatoes (Askipiwâwa)</th>
<th>Ice Cream (Cahkâs)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Sylvie</td>
<td>4</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>4</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Aline</td>
<td>4</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Janice</td>
<td>5</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>3</td>
<td>1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>James</td>
<td>5</td>
<td>3</td>
<td>5</td>
<td>4</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Have the class then tally the responses to the survey and discuss how the items rated. What was the favourite food? What was the least favourite food? What did the girls like most? What did the boys like most?

Sports and Extracurricular Activities Surveys

Have the students brainstorm activities in which they are involved outside of school. Have them draft simple survey questions, then interview one another about favourite after school activities; e.g., Kitayamihcikân ci? (Do you read?), Éhâ/Ihî ahpô namoya? (Yes or no?). The results of the survey are tallied and shared and discussed as a class.

Extension

Present a variety of pictures depicting sports and ask individual students which activities they prefer, using questions such as:

- _______, kikway mâka ê miywêhitaman ê métawêyan?

  (_______, what do you like playing?)
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–2 to express emotions and personal perspectives

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
• inquire about and express likes and dislikes?

> Anecdotal Notes
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Note the extent to which students are able to inquire about and express likes and dislikes, and record anecdotal notes (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Anecdotal Notes).

> Self-assessment Checklist and Goal Setting
Create an outcome-based self-assessment checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Students use the checklist to determine if they are able to inquire about and express likes and dislikes. Encourage students to set goals for future learning (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Self-assessment Checklist and Goal Setting).

MATERIALS

> None required.

> Pictures of different sports.
A–2 to express emotions and personal perspectives

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

b. record and share thoughts and ideas with others (continued)

A–2.1 share ideas, thoughts, preferences

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➢ Likes and Dislikes Catalogue

After reviewing relevant vocabulary, have the students create a likes and dislikes catalogue in which they write sentences describing things they like or dislike. For example:

- Nimiywêhîtên masinahikana. (I like books.)
- Nimiywêhîtên maskihkîsa. (I like candies.)
- Namoya nimiywêhîtên tohtôsâpoy. (I don’t like milk.)

➢ Sharing Circle

Have the class sit in a sharing circle* and place objects and pictures on a blanket. Ask each student to pick up an item and say something about it. As new vocabulary is used, it is recorded and placed on the word wall.

Discretionary Note: The use and meaning of this concept may vary depending on the community or region.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–2 to express emotions and personal perspectives

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
- record and share thoughts and ideas with others?

Observation Checklist
Create an outcome-based checklist and share with students before they begin the activity. Use the checklist to assess if students are able to record and share thoughts and ideas with others (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Observation Checklist).

Informal Observation
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Make mental notes of the extent to which students are able to record and share thoughts and ideas with others. Offer feedback, encouragement and praise as needed.

MATERIALS

- None required.
- Pictures, various objects, blanket.
A–2.1 share ideas, thoughts, preferences

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

b. record and share thoughts and ideas with others (continued)

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Music Reflection

Give each student a simple graphic organizer to record his or her thoughts and ideas about music. It could include such things as:

- Nimiywēhitên ôma nikamowin. (My favourite song.)
- Tânihki ôma nikamowin kâ miywêhitamân. (Why I like this song.)
- Tânihki onikamow kâ miyohtākosît. (My favourite musician/singer.)
- Tânihki awa onikamow kâ miyohtawak. (Why I like this musician/singer.)
- Tânihki ôma kitohcikan kâ miywêhitamân. (My favourite instrument.)
- Tânihki ôma kitohcikan kâ miyohtamân. (Why I like this instrument.)
- Tânihki ôhi nikamôwina kâ miywêhitamân. (Why I like music.)

Have the students individually fill out the organizer, then share their thoughts and ideas with partners.

➤ Photograph Show and Tell

Ask the students to bring in photographs or drawings showing themselves at an event; e.g., sports competition, summer holiday event, birthday party. Have the students share, orally and in writing, basic information about the event by answering such questions as:

- Tânispî ôma? (When was it?)
- Tânîti ôma? (Where was it?)
- Tân 'tahto piponéyan êkospi? (How old were you then?)
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–2 to express emotions and personal perspectives

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
- record and share thoughts and ideas with others?

 spreya
Anecdotal Notes
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Note the extent to which students are able to record and share thoughts and ideas with others, and record anecdotal notes (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Anecdotal Notes).

Self-assessment Checklist and Goal Setting
Create an outcome-based self-assessment checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Students use the checklist to determine if they are able to record and share thoughts and ideas with others. Encourage students to set goals for future learning (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Self-assessment Checklist and Goal Setting).

MATERIALS

- Graphic organizer, recordings of traditional music (optional).
- Students’ photographs or drawings.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–2 to express emotions and personal perspectives

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES
Students will be able to:

A–2.1 share ideas, thoughts, preferences

b. record and share thoughts and ideas with others

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

Weekly Journal
Have the students maintain a weekly journal in which they illustrate and write descriptions of their thoughts and ideas. To support this, maintain a chart of key words and phrases and ask the students to collect new vocabulary they use in their journals. Consider having the students submit their entries to you in an e-mail.
General Outcome for Applications

| A–2.2 share emotions, feelings | ➤ Talking Stick
Divide the students into groups, give each group a photograph and have group members take turns expressing their feelings about the photograph. Ask the students to hold a “talking stick” and share their feelings, then pass the stick to the next student. Only the student with the talking stick may speak. Have one student in the group record the responses.

Once everyone has had a chance to speak, the recorded answers are displayed on chart paper along with the photograph.

➤ Sentence Starters
Provide the students with sentences starters that require the students to express feelings. Have the students complete them on paper and share their results orally with their partners. For example:

- Ispî kâ pâsiyân wâsiukwâpiskâhčikan ni, __________. (When I am riding my bicycle, I __________.)
- Kâ mëtawëyân mâna ni, __________. (When I am playing, I __________.)
General Outcome for Applications

- Self-assessment Checklist
  Create an outcome-based self-assessment checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Students use the checklist to determine if they are able to inquire about, record and share personal experiences involving an emotion or a feeling (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Self-assessment Checklist).

- Peer-assessment Checklist
  With the students, collaboratively create an outcome-based peer-assessment checklist. Students use the checklist to determine if their peers are able to inquire about, record and share personal experiences involving an emotion or a feeling (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Peer-assessment Checklist).

- Various photographs, talking stick.

- Sentence starters.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–3 to get things done

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. encourage or discourage others from a course of action

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Imperative Phrases
Teach and model some imperative forms of common verbs and common positive and negative imperative phrases, such as:

- Nîkân itohtê. (Go ahead.)
- Nâki. (Stop.)
- Api. (Sit down.)
- Kâya apî. (Don’t sit down.)
- Nîpawî. (Stand up.)
- Kâya nîpawî. (Don’t stand up.)
- Wâstahikê. (Wave your hand.)
- Kâya wâstahikê. (Don’t wave your hand.)
- Kîhciniskêhk isi wâyinô. (Turn to the right.)
- Kâya kîhciniskêhk isi wâyinô. (Don’t turn to the right.)
- Namahîtinik isi wâyinô. (Turn to the left.)
- Kâya namahîtinik isi wâyinô. (Don’t turn to the left.)
- Otina nêma masinahikanâcikos. (Pick up the pen.)
- Astâ masinahikanacikos. (Put down the pen.)

Have the students use the imperative phrases by playing a game such as Wêsâkêcâk itwêw* (Simon Says).

Note: For any type of competitive activity/game, remind the students to encourage others; e.g., âhkamiyimo (keep trying).

*Discretionary Note: Refer to community for acceptance of using the term Wêsâkêcâk within a game. If unacceptable, use kinship terms instead; e.g., Nikâwiwiy itwêw (My mom/mother says), Nîstês itwêw (My [older] brother says), Nimis itwêw (My [older] sister says), Nîmosôm itwêw (My grandfather says).
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–3 to get things done

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
- encourage or discourage others from a course of action?

Self-assessment Checklist and Goal Setting
Create an outcome-based self-assessment checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Students use the checklist to determine if they are able to encourage or discourage others from a course of action. Encourage students to set goals for future learning (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Self-assessment Checklist and Goal Setting).

MATERIALS

- Word wall.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

A–3.1 guide actions of others

b. give and follow a simple sequence of instructions

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➢ Beading
Teach and model key vocabulary and phrases needed for a beading lesson. Have the class follow instructions to complete a beading activity, for example:
1. Tâpisaha sâponi kan. (Thread the needle.)
2. Ka tahkopitâw asapáp. (Make a knot on the thread.)
3. Môsahkin mikisak. (Pick up beads.)
Write the instructions on the board and follow each step together. As the students become comfortable, leave them to complete the project individually. If questions arise, refer to the instructions written on the board and add to them as needed.

➢ Obstacle Course
Teach and model directional words and phrases; e.g., namahtinihk (left), kihciniskêhk (right), tahkohc (over), sipâ (under). Set up a simple obstacle course in the classroom and brainstorm other directional words and phrases as a class. Divide the students into pairs and have them take turns using directional words and phrases to guide their partners through the obstacle course.

➢ Scavenger Hunt
Divide the students into groups and have them prepare a scavenger hunt for another group. Have the groups follow the provided directions to find various items in the hunt. The first group to find all items wins.

➢ Row Races
Divide the students into teams and have the teams sit in rows. Tell the students at the front of each row a simple sequence of actions to be performed. These students repeat the sequence to the teammates directly behind them. The sequence of actions is verbally relayed down the rows. The last student in each row listens and performs the sequence of actions.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–3 to get things done

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
• give and follow a simple sequence of instructions?

Anecdotal Notes
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Note the extent to which students are able to give and follow a simple sequence of instructions, and record anecdotal notes (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Anecdotal Notes).

Informal Observation
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Make mental notes of the extent to which students are able to give and follow a simple sequence of instructions. Offer feedback, encouragement and praise as needed.

Self-assessment Checklist
Create an outcome-based self-assessment checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Students use the checklist to determine if they are able to give and follow a simple sequence of instructions (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Self-assessment Checklist).

Informal Observation
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Make mental notes of the extent to which students are able to give and follow a simple sequence of instructions. Offer feedback, encouragement and praise as needed.

MATERIALS

• Various types of coloured beads, thread or leather strips.
• Various classroom obstacles.
• Various objects to hide.
• None required.
Specific Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- make and respond to offers and invitations

Sample Teaching and Learning Activities

Telephone Conversation

Model telephone conversations in which you invite people to a school event or party and the people accept and decline your invitations. Have the students pair up and practise telephone invitations. After practise and role-play, have the students make a real or staged telephone call to a Cree-speaking volunteer; e.g.,

Q: Tân'si, êkota àyâw Jane? (Hello, is Jane there?)
A: Tân'si. Awa Jane. (Hello! This is Jane.)

Q: Kinohtê wîcihinân ci nimihitowiinhk wâpahki? (Can you help us tomorrow at the dance?)
A: Êhâ, nika miywêyihtên ta wîcihitakwâw. (Yes, I would be glad to help.)

Invitations

Ask the students to create formal and informal invitations on paper and in e-mails, and then send them to you and to each other. The recipients respond to the offers by accepting or declining the invitations.

Potluck

Organize a potluck day in which students bring in various cultural dishes related to the celebration. Have the students practise offering one another their food and accepting the offers; e.g.,

- Kinohtê kotspitâw pahkwêsikan? (Do you want a taste of bannock?)
- Êha/Îhî, ay ay. (Yes, thank you.)
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–3 to get things done

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
• make and respond to offers and invitations?

➤ Self-assessment Checklist
Create an outcome-based self-assessment checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Students use the checklist to determine if they are able to make and respond to offers and invitations (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Self-assessment Checklist).

➤ Rating Scale
Create an outcome-based rating scale and share it with students before they begin the activity. Use the rating scale to assess how well students are able to make and respond to offers and invitations (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Rating Scale 1, 2 or 3).

➤ Observation Checklist
Create an outcome-based checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Use the checklist to assess if students are able to make and respond to offers and invitations (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Observation Checklist).

MATERIALS

➤ Telephone props, Cree-speaking volunteers.

➤ Invitation templates, e-mail.

➤ Various cultural foods—bannock, choke cherries, stew, moose nose.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–3 to get things done

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES
Students will be able to:

b. inquire about and express ability and inability to do something

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

Survey Skills
Create a chart describing specific skills. Have the students survey each other asking what they can and cannot do; e.g.,

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Skill</th>
<th>Yes, I can.</th>
<th>No, I cannot.</th>
<th>I would like to learn.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Kakî ___? (Can you ___?)</td>
<td>Juliet</td>
<td>Cheyenne</td>
<td>Cheyenne</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kinohtê kocițiⁿ ci ___? (Would you like to try to ___?)</td>
<td>James</td>
<td>William</td>
<td>Cheyenne</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>nawacî pahkwêsikan (make bannock)</td>
<td>Juliet</td>
<td>James</td>
<td>Tracey</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>kwêškosiy (whistle)</td>
<td>Cheyenne</td>
<td>William</td>
<td>Tracey</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ka pônaman (start a fire without matches or a lighter)</td>
<td>William</td>
<td>Tracey</td>
<td>Juliet</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Encourage the students to reply in complete sentences; e.g.,
- Éhâ/Ihî ni kaskihtân ____________. (Yes, I can ________).
- Namôya, namôya ni kaskihtân. (No, I cannot ________).
- Éhâ/Ihî, ninohî kaskihtân ta itôtamân ________. (Yes, I would like to learn how to __________.).
- Namôya, ninohî kaskihtân ta itôtamân ________. (No, I would not like to learn how to __________.).

Consider having the students compile their findings in a simple spreadsheet.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–3 to get things done

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
• inquire about and express ability and inability to do something?

➤ Anecdotal Notes
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Note the extent to which students are able to inquire about and express ability and inability to do something, and record anecdotal notes (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Anecdotal Notes).

MATERIALS
• Spreadsheet software (optional), chart.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES
Students will be able to:

<table>

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Encouragement Phrases
  Introduce and have the students practise phrases such as:
  - Ékwa wicêwinân. (Join us.)
  - Kiya êkwa. (It’s your turn.)
  - Naskómo. (It’s your response.)
  - Pîkiskwê. (Speak.)
  - Êkwa. (Let’s go.)
  - Ka kaskihtân! (You can do it!)

  Post the phrases around the classroom for future student reference. Arrange the students into small groups and invite them to create skits in which they encourage group members to participate; e.g., while playing games.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–3 to get things done

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Do the students:
- encourage other group members to participate?

➤ Self-assessment Checklist and Goal Setting
Create an outcome-based self-assessment checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Students use the checklist to determine if they are able to encourage other group members to participate. Encourage students to set goals for future learning (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Self-assessment Checklist and Goal Setting).

➤ Board display with encouragement phrases.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–3 to get things done

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

b. assume a variety of roles and responsibilities as group members

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Group Roles
  When the students are working in small groups, assign specific roles to each member of the group; e.g., okimâhkân (chief), wêyasowêw (councillor). Rotate the roles within each group. Ensure the students are clear on the responsibilities associated with each role.

- Classroom Helpers
  Encourage the students to assist in classroom chores; e.g.,
  - distributing classroom materials
  - writing homework on the board
  - writing the date on the board
  - cleaning the white board
  - tidying the class library.

Assign weekly classroom roles on a class chart.
General Outcome for Applications

Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

- Class chart.
SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

- c. negotiate in a simple way with peers in small-group tasks

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

Learning to Negotiate

Review and model statements related to negotiation, such as:

- Niya êkwa. (My turn.)
- Wiya êkwa. (His or her turn.)
- Nika itohtën ________. (I will do ________.)
- Kêspin ki ka itohtën ________. (If you will do ________.)

Encourage the students to use appropriate phrases and vocabulary when working through small group tasks, such as:

- Awîna êkwa? (Whose turn is it now?)
- Kiya êkwa. (Your turn.)
- Tânima niya? (Which is mine?)
- Ôma niya. (This is mine.)
- Ôma kiya. (This is yours.)

Does the student:
• negotiate in a simple way with peers in small-group tasks?

Informal Observation
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Make mental notes of the extent to which students are able to negotiate in a simple way with peers in small-group tasks. Offer feedback, encouragement and praise as needed.

MATERIALS

► Vocabulary list.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–3 to get things done
SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

d. explain or clarify responsibilities

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

▶ I Do It Like This
Introduce expressions such as Ka wihtaminâwâw. (I can explain.) or Ni kahki wihtamâtînâwâw cî? (Can I explain?) and encourage the students to use these expressions to offer explanation and assistance to others in their groups.

During a group activity in which students are assigned different roles, model for students the structure omisîsi (like this). Coach the students to use this structure to explain or clarify group responsibilities to their peers.

▶ Sharing Circle*
After completing a group activity in which students were assigned different roles, have the students take turns describing their roles. Discuss the responsibilities of the different group roles in a sharing circle*.

*Discretionary Note: The use and meaning of this concept may vary depending on the community or region.

Grade 6

General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–4 to form, maintain and change interpersonal relationships

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. make and consider social engagements

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Invitation
Introduce and teach the concept of nitohkêmowin (invitation) and the importance of social events and engagements. Have the students create invitations to a community event. Provide a list of the vocabulary used in invitations and appropriate responses, such as:

- É nitomitân ôma _____. or É wi nomitân _____. (I am inviting you _____.)
- Éhâ/Îhî. (Yes.)
- Miyopayiki _____. (If all goes well, _____.)

➤ Role-play
Divide the students into groups and have them create role-plays in which one student invites the other members to an event. Some students accept the invitation, while others accept the invitation and then cancel. Encourage the students to use politeness conventions and to provide valid reasons for declining the invitation.

A–4 to form, maintain and change interpersonal relationships

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

b. talk about themselves and their family and respond to the talk of others by showing attention and interest

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Talk Show

  Arrange the students into small groups and have them present talk shows in which one or a few members talk about themselves and respond to the questions and comments made by the talk show host and audience members.

- Tân si Log

  Have the students create a Tân’si Log in which they record phrases and vocabulary to assist them in their casual and friendly exchanges with classmates. Encourage the students to refer to their logs for support when writing friendly letters, sending e-mail messages to friends or speaking casually with a classmate.

- Inside–Outside Circle

  Invite the students to participate in an inside–outside circle activity in which they discuss themselves. Have the students form two large circles, one inside the other. Have them begin by talking with the person opposite them. Discussion could be focused on topics such as weekend activities, daily routines or favourite foods. After the students have spoken for two to three minutes, have members of the outer circle move clockwise. Ask the students to then begin new discussions with different partners.

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Sorting
  Teach vocabulary for birds and animals. Divide the students into small groups and provide them with a variety of pictures. Teach vocabulary such as:
  - Ôki pisiskiwak: (These are animals:)
    - paskwâw mosîs (buffalo)
    - maskwa (bear)
    - mahkêsîs (fox).
  - Ôki piyêsîsak: (These are birds:)
    - sisîp (duck)
    - âhâsiw (crow)
    - kihêw (eagle).

  Ask the groups to sort the animals into categories, for example, by where they live, how they move, size, colour, and then share how they sorted the animals and birds with the rest of the class. Encourage the students to acknowledge that there are different ways of organizing and categorizing.

- Animal Characters
  Read several examples of stories containing animals such as the eagle, bear or buffalo. Discuss the animal characters and encourage the students to identify the relationship between themselves and the animal characters. Ask the students to answer questions such as:
  - Kikwây awa pisiskiw êhitohtahk ahpô êhitwêt? (What does this animal do or say?)
  - Kikwây ci kihci itohtam awa pisiskiw? (What important things does this animal do?)
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–5 to enhance their knowledge of the world

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
• discover relationships and patterns?

➢ Learning Log
Students reflect on their learning and how well they were able to discover relationships and patterns.

➢ Observation Checklist
Create an outcome-based checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Use the checklist to assess if students are able to discover relationships and patterns (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Observation Checklist).

MATERIALS

➢ Pictures of a variety of animals, birds and plants, vocabulary list.

➢ Traditional stories that include animals, pictures of animals.
SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. discover relationships and patterns

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

► Nature Walk

Discuss the purpose of nature walks; e.g., discovering relationships and patterns. Have the students review a variety of questions, for example:

- Kîkwây ôma? (What is this?)
- Awîna awa _____? (Who is this _____ [animate]?)
- Tân’tê ohci ôma? (Where did this come from?)
- Tân’tê ohci awa? (Where did he/she come from?)

Encourage the students to ask the questions during a nature walk and record the answers in a journal or log. Generate a list of target words and phrases for the students to use. Consider taking photographs of things you find during the walk and using them to create a class display that illustrates the relationships and patterns discovered.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–5 to enhance their knowledge of the world

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. compare and contrast items in simple ways

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Bigger Than, Smaller Than

Divide the students into small groups and give each group a shoe box filled with a variety of objects. Have each student, in turn, pull an object from the box, saying in Cree: Ôma _____. (This is ___.) or Awa _____. (This is ____.) Then direct all groups to sort their objects in various ways; e.g., by size—Misâw. (It's big.), Ap’îsîn. (It's small.); by colour—Itasinâstêw _____. (Its colour is _____); by shape—Isinâkwan _____. (Its shape is _____), Wâwêyâw. (It's round.), Kinwâw. (It's long.) [for inanimate objects].

Ask the students to then take out two contrasting items and compare them using complete sentences; e.g.,

– Awa kâsiwêpahikanis nawci apisasin ispîci têhtapiwin. (This eraser is smaller than the chair.)
– Ôma têhtapiwin nawci misâw ispîc kâsiwêpahikanis. (This chair is bigger than the eraser.)

➤ Classroom Line-up

Teach and review Cree vocabulary for the words nawac misâw (bigger), nawac ap’îsîn (smaller), nawac kinwâw (taller) and nawac cimâsin (shorter). Direct the students to use questions, answers and statements to organize themselves into one line according to one specific criteria, such as shoe size or height.

➤ Comparing Pictures

Divide the students into pairs. Direct each pair to look at two pictures with subtle differences. Ask them to find the differences and circle them. They must speak in Cree throughout this activity and explain the differences as they are found. Have the class share their findings.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

➤ Observation Checklist
Create an outcome-based checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Use the checklist to assess if students are able to compare and contrast items in simple ways (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Observation Checklist).

➤ Informal Observation
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Make mental notes of the extent to which students are able to compare and contrast items in simple ways. Offer feedback, encouragement and praise as needed.

➤ Anecdotal Notes
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Note the extent to which students are able to compare and contrast items in simple ways, and record anecdotal notes (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Anecdotal Notes).

MATERIALS

➤ Simple objects, shoe box.

➤ Word wall list.

➤ Two pictures with subtle differences.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–5 to enhance their knowledge of the world

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES
Students will be able to:

b. gather information from a variety of resources

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Five Ws and One H
Make a list of key questions in Cree; e.g.,
– Kîkwây ispayiw? (What happened?)
– Awîna asci wîcihiwêw? (Who was involved?)
– Tân’ê ispayiw ôma? (Where did it take place?)
– Tânihki mistahi ê têyihtâkwak? (Why was it important?)
– Tân’si ispayik? (How did it happen?)

Have the students choose a news story or an event and have them brainstorm where they could find the answers to these questions, such as on the Internet, in an encyclopedia, books or magazines, or from eyewitnesses. Have the students find the answers and report back to the class.

➤ KWL Chart
Have the students fill in a KWL chart (Appendix D) to guide their research on a specific topic related to an Aboriginal community. Encourage the students to record the resources they used and to gather information from a variety of sources.

▶ Anecdotal Notes
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Note the extent to which students are able to gather information from a variety of resources, and record anecdotal notes (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Anecdotal Notes).

▶ Learning Log
Students reflect on their learning and how well they were able to gather information from a variety of resources.

MATERIALS

▶ Various resources (e.g., books, encyclopedias, CD–ROMs, Web sites), local community members.

▶ Various resources (e.g., books, encyclopedias, CD–ROMs, Web sites), Cultural Activities Handbook from Miyo Wahkohtowin Education Authority.
Grade 6

General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–5 to enhance their knowledge of the world

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. experience and reflect upon problem-solving stories

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Stories
Present simple problem-solving Cree əcimowina (stories). Divide the students into groups and have them answer questions about the story; e.g.,
- Kîkwây esa ôma əcimowinis itwêmakân? (What is this story about?)
- Tanitê ôma əcimowin ispayik? (Where did this story take place?)
- əcimowin nikiskinohamâkon _____. or Nikiskinohamakon ôma əcimowin _____. (This story taught me _____.)
- Kotak nikiskêyihten əcimowin tâpiskôc ôma _____. (Another story that I know that is similar to this one is _____.)

Have the students brainstorm various possible solutions for the problems in the stories and then choose the best one. Have each group then create skits based on their solutions.

Extension
After listening to a Cree əcimowin (story), guide the students through a Retell—Relate—Reflect activity to reflect upon the teachings in the əcimowin.

➤ Legends
After reading or listening to a Cree âtayokâwin (legend), have the students paint or draw illustrations of what they believe the teachings of the âtayokâwin are.

➤ Problem Solving Chart
Display a problem-solving chart for the students to use throughout the year. The chart may include questions such as:
- Kîkwây itahkamikahk? (What is the problem?)
- Ki kwây kawihtamowin? (What information do you have?)
- Kîkwây kiwihtohtên? (What is your plan?)
- Kîkwây kwayask ispayin? (Did you get positive results?)
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–5 to enhance their knowledge of the world

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
• experience and reflect upon problem-solving stories?

MATERIALS

► Cree ȃcimowina (stories).

► Cree ȃtayohkêwina (legends), art supplies.

► Self-assessment Checklist and Goal Setting
Create an outcome-based self-assessment checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Students use the checklist to determine if they are able to experience and reflect upon problem-solving stories. Encourage students to set goals for future learning (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Self-assessment Checklist and Goal Setting).

► Informal Observation
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Make mental notes of the extent to which students are able to experience and reflect upon problem-solving stories. Offer feedback, encouragement and praise as needed.

| A–5.4 explore perspectives and values | Respect and Elders
Organize a visit from Kihtéyáyak (Elders) to talk to the class about the importance of respect in Cree culture. Have the students discuss in small groups the concept of respect in relation to personal experiences they have had. Then have the students use words, phrases, illustrations, photographs and pictures to create posters, brochures or articles that explain and promote the importance of respect. |
| | Tipi Teachings
Teach the mikiwahp kiskinohamákêwin (tipi teachings) and model these teachings in the classroom. Have the students make a tipi with paper and sticks and write and/or illustrate the tipi teachings on the outside of the tipi. |
| | Circle of Life
Invite Kihtéyáyak (Elders) to talk about the pimátisiwin* (circle of life) and pimátisowin* (lifestyle). Guide a class discussion of what the students learned about the circle of life and how it relates to their own experiences. |

*Discretionary Note: Some of these activities require extreme care, caution and sensitivity on the part of the teacher. Teachers should consult Elders in their local community regarding traditional practices.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–5 to enhance their knowledge of the world

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Do the students:
• explore Cree values on a variety of topics within their own experience?

> Self-assessment Checklist
Create an outcome-based self-assessment checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Students use the checklist to determine if they are able to explore Cree values on a variety of topics within their own experience (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Self-assessment Checklist).

> Observation Checklist
Create an outcome-based checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Use the checklist to assess if students are able to explore Cree values on a variety of topics within their own experience (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Observation Checklist).

> Learning Log
Students reflect on their learning and how well they were able to explore Cree values on a variety of topics within their own experience.

MATERIALS

> Elders, magazines, pictures, poster materials, word processor/printer, Tipi Teachings poster from the Cultural Activities Handbook.

> Paper, sticks, markers, Tipi Teachings poster from the Cultural Activities Handbook.

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Cree Values

  Brainstorm with the students to generate ideas about how they can show respect for the earth in their community, at school and at home. Have the students reflect on Cree values and beliefs related to the land, such as Cree people as keepers of the land. Have the students work in small groups to write a list of do’s and don’ts for respecting and protecting the land and its creatures. Collect these lists and post them in the classroom. Discuss how these values relate to the Cree worldview.

  Follow up at a later date and ask the students what they have done to follow the list of do’s and don’ts.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–6 for imaginative purposes and personal enjoyment

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. use the language for fun and to interpret humour

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Riddles
  Have the students practise riddles and present them to the class or small groups. For example:
  - Ayiwinis ôma. (This is clothing.)
  - Kîsowâw. (It is warm.)
  - Nanâtohk isinâkwan. (It has different looks/colours.)
  - Kîsônam misita. (It warms the feet.)
  - Kîkway awa? (What is this?) Asikan. (A sock.)

- Go Fish
  Ask the students to practise their numbers from 1 to 13 and the vocabulary necessary to play the card game “Go Fish,” such as:
  - Kwâskwêpicikê. (Go fish.)
  - Kitayâwâw cî ____? Kîya êkwa? (Do you have ____? And you?)
  Students answer êhâ/ihi (yes) or namôya (no).

- Word Origins
  Invite the students to study the origins of selected words and illustrate their literal meanings; e.g.,
  - askîy (earth)
  - wâwa (eggs)
  - askipwâwa (earth egg—potato)
  - oskâtâsk (earth leg—carrot).

- Song
  Teach the students a nikamowina (song) like “Old MacDonald” or Nimiskawâw pakân (“Found a Peanut”). Once the students learn the nikamowina, have them pair up and create actions to go with the songs and perform them for the class.

- Exploring Humour
  Invite the students to develop and create a short comic strip based on a funny situation or humorous character. Have the students translate simple jokes and funny skits into Cree and perform them for the class in a comedy festival.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

MATERIALS

- Various sample riddles in Cree.
- Playing cards.
- Examples of Cree words and their origins.
- Various songs in Cree.
- Various props.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

A–6 for imaginative purposes and personal enjoyment

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. use the language creatively and for aesthetic purposes; e.g., experiment with the sounds and rhythms of the language

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➢ Word Songs
Have the students sing songs using only one simple word. Encourage the students to use intonations, tempo and rhythm to create various effects. Simple vocabulary words to use include:
- sîsîp (duck)
- pîsim (sun)
- acahkos (star)
- kôna (snow)
- askîy (earth)
- sikâk (skunk)
- wâpos (rabbit)
- âmôw (bee)
- mîpîta (teeth)
- atim (dog).

➢ Hip Hop, Poetry and Songs
Provide the students with hip hop lyrics, poetry and songs using patterned sentences that have blanks for nouns, verbs and adjectives. Invite the students to fill in the blanks, using words to create various effects; e.g., alliteration, rhythm.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

Peer-assessment Checklist
With the students, collaboratively create an outcome-based peer-assessment checklist. Students use the checklist to determine if their peers are able to use the language creatively and for aesthetic purposes (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Peer-assessment Checklist).

MATERIALS

None required.

Audio recorder, listening station, music by Dallas Arcand, Carl Quin and Delores Sand.
A–6 for imaginative purposes and personal enjoyment

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. use the language for personal enjoyment; e.g., play games in Cree with friends

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➢ Games

Have the students play games such as bingo, card games and board games while speaking only in Cree. Teach the students traditional Cree games and play them as a class. Encourage the student to teach these games to other classes.

➢ Game Centres

Set up several game centres and invite the students to choose which centres they will go to. For example:

- watching a film or video and playing a trivia game
- reading an Aboriginal newspaper or magazine and playing 20 questions
- listening to Cree music and playing Simon Says.
General Outcome for Applications
Students will use and apply Cree in various situations and for different purposes at home, in school and in the community.

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:

- use the language for personal enjoyment?

➤ Anecdotal Notes
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Note the extent to which students are able to use the language for personal enjoyment, and record anecdotal notes (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Anecdotal Notes).

➤ Informal Observation
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Make mental notes of the extent to which students are able to use the language for personal enjoyment. Offer feedback, encouragement and praise as needed.

MATERIALS

➤ Bingo cards, Cree board games, playing cards.

➤ Film, viewing station, music, listening station, Aboriginal articles.
General Outcome for Language Competence
Students will be effective, competent and comfortable as Cree speakers.

LC–1 attend to the form of the language

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. recognize and pronounce basic sounds consistently

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

▶ Syllabic Chart
Introduce the syllabic chart for identifying selected sounds; e.g., â, ê, i, ô. Divide the students into four groups, one to represent each sound. Give each group a set of flash cards with the assigned sound. Say sounds such as those in the chart below:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Sounds</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>pa, ta, ka, ca</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>pê, tê, kê, cê</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>pi, ti, ki, ci</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>po, to, ko, co</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The group members representing the sound you say aloud hold up a card with the sound or raise their hands. Points are given to the group that correctly identifies their sound. Also consider having the students listen to audio recordings to identify the sounds.

Extension
Say Cree words and have the groups identify the sounds contained in the words.

▶ Similar Sounds
Discuss with the students the importance of pronunciation and how mispronounced words can affect meaning. Brainstorm examples of commonly mispronounced sounds in English. Discuss how there are important sound distinctions in Cree as well. Give the students flash cards with pairs of words that contain similar sounds. As you hold up each card, have the students clap once if the words contain similar sounds and clap twice if they contain different sounds. For example:

- sakahikan (nail)
- sâkahikan (lake)
- niyânan (five)
- niyanân (us).
General Outcome for Language Competence
Students will be effective, competent and comfortable as Cree speakers.

MATERIALS

- Syllabic chart, audio recording of simple sounds, flash cards with different sounds.
- Flash cards with words that contain similar sounds.
LC–1  attend to the form of the language

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

b. recognize the effects in sounds; i.e., elision, long vowels

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Elision
  Introduce the concept of elision (the omission of a final or initial sound, or the omission of an unstressed vowel or syllable) and review examples in English and Cree. Brainstorm with the class to generate a list of words that contain elision. For example, in some words a vowel is dropped and replaced with an apostrophe:
  - mistatim (horse) — m'statim
  - tânisi (hello) — tân 'si.

- Long and Short Vowels
  Model words with long and short vowels in English and Cree; e.g., nipiy (water), nipîy (leaves). Have the students say words with a long vowel and then a short vowel to emphasize the differences in effect. Prepare a list of spelling words for which the meaning and spelling of a word changes as a result of long and short vowels. Have the students create sentences that contain examples of long and short vowels.

- Intonation
  Provide a list of common words or phrases for which intonation is very important; e.g., tânisi, tân 'si (hello), namakikwêy, makwêy (nothing). Say each word or phrase in a sentence context using correct or incorrect intonation. Ask the students to identify the correct intonation and invite them to provide further examples.

Specific Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- recognize the rhythmic flow of sounds

Sample Teaching and Learning Activities

- Alphabet Song
  Introduce and teach the syllabic chant based on the tune of the “Alphabet Song.” Repeat the chant as the students sway their bodies or hands, or tap their pencils on their desks, to emphasize the rhythm.

- “Nîpin”
  Recite the poem “Nîpin” (Summer) and have the students pay attention to the rhythm of the language.

  Nîpin, nîpin, kîkwâya kiwâpahtên? (Summer, summer, what do you see?)
  Niwâpamâw takwâkin êkitâpamit. (I see fall looking at me.)

  Pipon, pipon, kîkwâya kiwâpahtên? (Winter, winter, what do you see?)

  Niwâpamâw takwâkin êkitâpamit. (I see fall looking at me.)

  Have the students take turns reading the poem aloud using the same rhythm you used.

Extension

Change the rhythm of the poem and discuss with the class how this affects its meaning.

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Games
Have the students practise target vocabulary by playing games such as build a man, spelling bee, Scrabble™, Boogle™, crosswords and word searches.

➤ Looking for Patterns
Review the syllabic chart and have the students compare and contrast the Cree syllabics. Have the students go through their vocabulary lists (from journals or logs) and identify words with similar spelling patterns. Ask the students to reorganize the words into charts based on common spelling patterns.

➤ My Own Syllabic Chart
Have the students create and design their own Cree syllabic charts, which they use as a reference tool.

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

- use a repertoire of words and phrases in familiar contexts, within a variety of lexical fields, including:
  - community roles and occupations
  - activities/leisure
  - nutrition/health
  - places/locations
  - music/dance
  - modes of travel
  - animals/birds
  - extended family
  - any other lexical fields that meet their needs and interests

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Daily Routine
  Have each student create a comic strip that shows his or her daily routine and the different places he or she goes in a day. Ask the students to include information on how they arrive at each of these places and provide maps showing their routes. Have the students include illustrations and captions or speech bubbles.

- Posters
  Invite the students to create a poster display related to a chosen lexical field. Display posters for future reference.

- Skits
  Arrange the students into small groups and have them create and present skits based on one of the lexical fields; for example, grocery shopping, at a restaurant or market, holidays around the world, transportation.

General Outcome for Language Competence

Students will be effective, competent and comfortable as Cree speakers.

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
• use a repertoire of words and phrases in familiar contexts, within a variety of lexical fields?

➤ Rating Scale
Create an outcome-based rating scale and share it with students before they begin the activity. Use the rating scale to assess how well students are able to use a repertoire of words and phrases in familiar contexts, within a variety of lexical fields (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Rating Scale 1, 2 or 3).

➤ Anecdotal Notes
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Note the extent to which students are able to use a repertoire of words and phrases in familiar contexts, within a variety of lexical fields, and record anecdotal notes (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Anecdotal Notes).

➤ Observation Checklist
Create an outcome-based checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Use the checklist to assess if students are able to use a repertoire of words and phrases in familiar contexts, within a variety of lexical fields (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Observation Checklist).

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. use, in modelled situations*, the following grammatical elements:
   • noun possessive forms for animate (NA) and inanimate (NI) plural nouns indicating ours (1P), all of ours (2I), yours (2P), theirs (3P): niminōsiminānak, nitēhtapiwininānak; kimōsiminawak, kitēhtapiwininawa; kimōsimiwâwak, kitēhtapiwininawa; ominōsimiwâwa, otēhtapiwinināwa
   • using ôki, aniki, nēki, ôhi, anihi, nēhi to distinguish and refer to “these and those” animate nouns using vocabulary such as ôki/ôhi (these), aniki/nēki, anihi/nēhi (those).

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Shopping
Ask the students to divide into pairs and role-play purchasing food, clothing or other items. Ask the students to refer to “these and those” animate nouns using vocabulary such as ôki/ôhi (these), aniki/nēki, anihi/nēhi (those).

* Modelled Situations: This term is used to describe learning situations where a model of specific linguistic elements is consistently provided and immediately available. Students in such situations will have an emerging awareness of the linguistic elements and will be able to apply them in very limited situations. Limited fluency and confidence characterize student language.

Step by Step
- Invite a guest to demonstrate making a craft such as paper moccasins. Distribute task sheets on which the steps are written in an incorrect order. Have the students number the steps in the correct order with your guidance. Invite each student to then follow the steps and make the craft.

Warm-ups
- Have the students follow a short, simple set of instructions for a warm-up before a quiz; e.g.,
  - Pimohtêk! (Everybody walk!)
  - Pim’pah tahk! (Everybody run!)
  - Pimohtêk! (Everybody walk!)
  - Nakêk! (Everybody stop!)
  - Apik! (Everybody sit!).

Video
- Show the students a video in simple Cree, such as Tânêh kâ wâpos kâ wâpiskisit (Why the Rabbit Turns White.) In groups, have the students discuss the ideas or themes expressed in the video and relate these ideas or messages to their own experiences.

Show and Tell
- Organize a class show and tell, and start the show and tell by describing your own object. Each student is required to say something about an object he or she has brought. Have the students paraphrase what the person before them said about his or her object before describing their own.

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Short Descriptions
  Brainstorm with the students about hunting or camping and have them write short descriptions of how they would prepare for a hunting or camping trip. Alternatively, discuss with the students important family events and have the students write short descriptions of important meals or a holiday they had with their family, guardian or friends.

- Poems and Songs
  Using spelling and vocabulary charts, provide examples of poems and songs then have the students write a short poem or song about a topic they are currently studying; e.g., the seasons, a story or myth, weather, music, a video.

- My Community
  Have the students create models, paintings or dioramas of their community, describe the scene they are presenting in a short paragraph and present it to the class. Encourage the use of phrases such as:
  - Ôta kâ wîkiyân. (This is where I live.)
  - Namôya mistahi ayisînowak êkota wîkîwak, mâka nîmiywêyihtên. (There are not a lot of people that live there, but I like it.)
  - Atâwêwikamik ôma. (This is the store.)
  - Nimîkowâhp ôma, êkwa nîki. (This is my tipi and my house.)

- Wacky Fashion Show
  Have the students prepare outfits and descriptions of these outfits for a “Wacky Fashion Show” in which they wear mismatched outfits.

Caution
Be sensitive to each student’s personal family situation when exploring kinship relationships.

LC–3 interpret and produce written and visual texts

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

* Students will be able to:
  1. understand short, simple written texts in guided and unguided situations

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- E-mail
  Send each student an e-mail asking him or her about what he or she did on the weekend or about a movie recently watched. Have the students respond via e-mail.

- Traditional Stories
  Introduce and discuss the concept of “traditional stories,” then read and discuss various traditional stories and their teachings. Have the students create posters or paintings that illustrate the meanings of these teachings.

  Extension
  Have the students practise reading simple stories and then read them to younger students using proper emphasis and intonation.

- Mix and Match
  Write short, simple descriptions of six pictures, objects or works of art for the class. Have the students match the descriptions to the six different items. Afterward, ask the students to select one of the descriptions and create an illustration based on it.
General Outcome for Language Competence

Students will be effective, competent and comfortable as Cree speakers.

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

- a. produce short, simple written texts in guided situations

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Notices
  Have the students write short messages to you, friends or a parent/guardian that provide important information, such as information about an upcoming school event, important school news or a description of the student’s latest accomplishment in class.

- Story
  Have the students write a short âcimowin (story) modelled on âcimowina studied in class on such topics as a hunting trip or berry picking with the family.

- Picture Book
  Using a series of interesting pictures, e.g., from an illustrated book, magazine or Web site, have the students create short, simple texts to accompany the pictures. Bind the pictures and text into story booklets.

- Poster Descriptions
  Post four posters on a wall, each depicting a different scene on the same theme; e.g. seasons, weather, fashion, food and health, modes of transportation, buildings in the community. Conduct a brainstorming session to identify words and phrases that describe each poster. Have each student choose one poster and write a short, simple paragraph about it on a note card. Gather and shuffle all the note cards, then redistribute them randomly to the class. Ask the students to read the cards given to them and locate the matching posters.

Sample assessment strategies

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
• produce short, simple written texts in guided situations?

➤ Anecdotal Notes
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Note the extent to which students are able to produce short, simple written texts in guided situations, and record anecdotal notes (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Anecdotal Notes).

➤ Self-assessment Checklist and Goal Setting
Create an outcome-based self-assessment checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Students use the checklist to determine if they are able to produce short, simple written texts in guided situations. Encourage students to set goals for future learning (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Self-assessment Checklist and Goal Setting).

➤ Informal Observation
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Make mental notes of the extent to which students are able to produce short, simple written texts in guided situations. Offer feedback, encouragement and praise as needed.

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

- derive meaning from visual elements of a variety of media in guided and unguided situations

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Traditional Artwork
  Display a variety of Aboriginal paintings, drawings and handicrafts. Have each student choose one of the art pieces and write a series of words and phrases that describe the meaning of the piece.

  Extension
  Have the students create their own artwork using the chosen piece as inspiration.

- 5Ws and 1H
  Display a number of posters, announcements for upcoming events, advertisements and brochures, in Cree, and have the students answer questions about the information they contain; e.g., who, what, when, where, why, how.

- Cree Themes and Symbolism
  Display the artwork of a Cree artist and have the students look for themes that are expressed throughout his or her work; e.g., rebirth, love, family, humour. Have the students then look at how the artist has used colour, texture, pattern, shapes and scale to convey his or her message(s). The findings of the students should be displayed for the class or school, along with samples or photographs of the artist’s work.

  Extension
  Have the students describe different symbolic elements; e.g., the meanings of the colours, the four directions, the circle.

- Cultural Logos and Flags
  Present various cultural logos, flags and symbols from Cree and other Aboriginal cultures and work together in groups to describe what they mean or represent to the culture.

- Expressions Collection
  Work with the students to collect expressions, e.g., Kâya pâhpîhi awiyak; ka pakamiskâkon. (Do not laugh at others; it will come back to you.), as you encounter them in stories, magazines, Web sites, television shows, videos and from visitors. a. recognize verbal behaviours that are considered impolite

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Formal/Informal Greetings

Review various ways of informally and formally greeting people; e.g.,

– Tân’si nôhkom? (How are you, grandmother?) [gives her a hug]
– Tân’si? (How are you?)

Have the students practise these forms through simple role-plays. Discuss polite and impolite verbal behaviours associated with greetings; e.g., yelling an Elder’s name in a crowd is impolite.

➤ Elder Etiquette

Teach, model and role-play proper etiquette when interacting with Kihtêyayak (Elders), such as:

– It is impolite to ask an Elder’s age.
– It is disrespectful to interrupt an Elder when he or she is speaking.
– It is disrespectful to laugh when an Elder is talking about something serious.
– It is impolite to express negative feelings about the way an Elder looks.

- _____ ôki isihkâsowak. (These are called ______.)
- Œkosi. (That’s it.)
- Kiya mâka? (How about you?)

Divide the students into pairs and invite them to practise conversations using these conventions.
General Outcome for Language Competence
Students will be effective, competent and comfortable as Cree speakers.
("Okiskinamawâkanak ka/ta nihtâ nêhiyawêwak.")

LC–5 apply knowledge of how the language is organized, structured and sequenced

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
- use simple conventions to open and close conversations and to manage turn taking?

Observation Checklist
Create an outcome-based checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Use the checklist to assess if students are able to use simple conventions to open and close conversations and to manage turn taking (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Observation Checklist).

- Using all parts of the animal you have hunted.
- Being careful not to disturb animals, plants and trees, for example, when riding snowmobiles or all-terrain vehicles (ATVs).
- Respecting forest animals and never teasing or hurting them for no reason.
- Picking up your garbage (not polluting the environment).

As a class, brainstorm and add protocols to this list.

- Action Plan
  Introduce how to write an action plan (e.g., setting a goal, identifying steps or actions to take, identifying things they will need so that they can follow their action plan), then have the students write action plans that describe how they can show their respect for Mother Earth. The students should carry out their action plans and assess their performance; e.g., Did they accomplish their goals? Why or why not?

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Do the students:
- identify concrete ways in which they can show respect for Kikâwînaw Askiy (Mother Earth*)?

➤ Anecdotal Notes
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Note the extent to which students are able to identify concrete ways in which they can show respect for Kikâwînaw Askiy (Mother Earth), and record anecdotal notes (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Anecdotal Notes).

➤ Rubric
Collaboratively create an outcome-based rubric with the students. Use the rubric to evaluate how well students are able to identify concrete ways in which they can show respect for Kikâwînaw Askiy (Mother Earth) (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Rubric or Rubric and Checklist).

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

b. participate in activities in which they care for and respect Kikâwînaw Askiy (Mother Earth*)

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Composting
Discuss as a class how Mother Earth regenerates herself. Assign students to work on creating a composter. Students can later use the compost for a gardening project.

➤ Gardening
Work together on a simple gardening project and visit gardens in the community. Encourage the students to share stories of their own gardening experiences and those of relatives or neighbours.

➤ Taking from Mother Earth
Organize a berry picking activity with a focus on the traditions of picking and how to pick responsibly. Teach the students about the traditions of sweetgrass and sage picking. Emphasize the importance of foraging to our Cree ancestors.

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. explore past and present Cree regions in Canada

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➢ Gathering Information
Brainstorm different ways to gather information about past and present Cree communities. The list may include oral presentations, videos, time lines, interviews, printed resources and field trips to museums; e.g., Wanuskewin Heritage Park near Saskatoon, Saskatchewan. Have the students explore the different sources of information based on criteria such as availability, accessibility, completeness of information and accuracy.

➢ Interviewing
Introduce basic interviewing techniques and explain how to prepare for an interview; e.g., research, write questions, contact subject. Have the students prepare for and conduct interviews with nimosôm (grandfather), nohkom (grandmother) Kihtêyayak (Elders), ninîkihikwak (parents) and nimosômak êkwa nohkomak (grandparents) to find out what their community was like long ago and how it is different today.

➢ Cree Communities of the Past
Arrange a visit to an Aboriginal gallery or museum, study books or visit Web sites to find out information about Cree communities of the past. Have the students compare maps from the past with current maps and draw conclusions about how Cree communities have changed.

Divide the students into groups and have them organize the information they have collected on Cree communities of the past and make posters containing time lines, collages and pictures/photographs. Have each group make a presentation to the rest of the class or the school. Consider video recording these presentations.

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. identify and describe some practices and products, related to Kikâwînaw Askîy (Mother Earth*), of specific regions and communities

Traditional Practices

Examine pictures and photographs of the past and have the students identify traditional Cree practices of the past; e.g., the use of horses for transportation, cooking over a fire, setting up a tipi, hunting and trapping.

Divide the students into groups and have them choose a traditional practice of the past that is associated with a specific community. In groups, the students research and collect information on the practice. They then organize the information they collected and present it to the rest of the class.

Kinship

Review the importance of wâhkôhtowin (kinship); e.g., not addressing people by their names, but instead by their titles of kinship; e.g., nimosôm (grandfather), nohkom (grandmother). Discuss how this relates to Cree beliefs about Mother Earth and how this varies in different regions.

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
• identify and describe some practices and products, related to Kikâwînaw Askiy (Mother Earth*), of specific regions and communities?

MATERIALS

> Pictures and photographs of Cree practices of the past, Internet, reference books, Dale Auger pictures, A Cree Life: The Art of Allan Sapp.

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

b. explore basic practices and products related to Kikâwînaw Askîy (Mother Earth*)

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Cleansing/Smudging
Invite male and female Kihtêyâyak (Elders) to the class when introducing fungus, cedar, sage and sweetgrass used for miyâhkasikêwin (cleansing/smudging). The male Elder provides teachings related to the man’s role in cleansing/smudging, for example, the young men should be the ones doing the cleansing/smudging. The female Elder provides teachings related to the woman’s role in cleansing/smudging, for example, the women do not participate during menstruation.

➤ Thanking Mother Earth
Introduce the concept of “thankfulness” and discuss as a class what it means to be thankful. The class then brainstorms different things they are thankful for in nature and then writes a list of ways in which they can express their thanks to Mother Earth. Choose one or more of the ways to express thanks and incorporate it into the daily or weekly class routine. Also discuss different traditional ways of giving thanks to Mother Earth; e.g., giving tobacco (a strand of hair can be used as an offering to the earth if there is no tobacco available, but it is not given to thank another person), prayer.

➤ Flag Song
Invite a visitor to explain the significance of and to demonstrate the Flag Song. The traditions of the Flag Song are discussed and practised, such as facing east at the beginning of the Flag Song.

The terms “Mother Earth” and “Creator” are identified as discretionary terms in the Cree Language and Culture Program of Studies. CM–1  Kikâwînaw Askiy (Mother Earth)*

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. compare past and present Cree perspectives related to Kikâwînaw Askiy (Mother Earth*)

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Venn Diagram

  Have the students research Cree perspectives on Mother Earth and use the information they have collected to create Venn diagrams that compare and contrast Cree perspectives and beliefs of the past and present. For example, traditionally, Cree people collected hair that fell out while combing and in the spring they would bring it to a clean spot to bury/burn it and return it to the earth.

  Discuss why these perspectives have changed and discuss whether or not the perspectives on Mother Earth of other cultures have changed over time.

- Nature Laws

  Introduce basic teachings of nature laws, for example, the four directions, four elements, four seasons, four aspects. Have the students create nature law booklets that include written information and illustrations, as well as examples from their own experiences; e.g., late traditional leader Wayne Roan.

- Elder’s Stories

  Invite an Elder to share stories about Cree way of life long ago, with an emphasis on interactions with the land. For example, long ago families moved camps frequently (with the seasons), taking care to leave everything the way it was found. Have the students discuss how and why things are done differently today.

  Extension

  Listen to traditional songs about Mother Earth and then sing them with the class. Encourage the students to play instruments or dance to enhance the experience.

- Gender and Mother Earth

  Discuss the gender roles of women, girls, men and boys in Cree society and their relationships to Mother Earth. Emphasize that even though the different roles may have different relationships with Mother Earth, these relationships are equally important to both the individuals and the tribe.

★ The terms “Mother Earth” and “Creator” are identified as discretionary terms in the Cree Language and Culture Program of Studies. ### SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

b. explore past and present Cree values related to Kikâwînaw Askîy (Mother Earth*)

---

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Interviews

  Have the students interview Elders and ask about past and present Cree values related to Mother Earth. The interviews could include questions such as:

  - Kîkwâya miyo pimâcîhôwina pêcikâtêwa? (What values have been carried forward?)
  - Kîkwâya miyo pimâcîhôwina kî nakacikâtêwa? (What values have been left behind?)
  - Tânîhki ôhi kâ mëskocipayiki/kwâw? (Why have things changed?)

  The information collected by the students could then be published in a booklet for use by future classes.

- Stories

  Read literary works and traditional stories that present ideas about Cree values related to Mother Earth. Have the students write their own stories to express their views on Mother Earth.

- Wanaskewin

  Introduce the concept of wanaskêwin (peace) and have the students brainstorm the meaning of peace. Guide student research into the importance of peace to Cree communities of the past and the importance of the role of a peacekeeper.

CM–1 Kikâwînaw Askiy (Mother Earth*)

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. compare regional Cree perspectives and values related to Kikâwînaw Askiy (Mother Earth*)

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Geography and Perspectives
Display maps that show Cree communities and give information about the landscape. Have the students attempt to answer the question, “How does the geography surrounding a Cree community affect its perspectives and values about Mother Earth?”

First, have the students write down their hypotheses and reasonable guesses at answers to the question. Second, have the students collect and analyze information on the perspectives and values about Mother Earth for Cree communities in various regions. Third, have the students look back at their initial thoughts and discuss their correct and incorrect assumptions.

➤ Pen Pals
Have the students prepare for and then interview relatives, friends and neighbours about the traditional use of berries, sweetgrass, etc. Have the students share this information with pen pals (or e-mail pals) from another Cree community. Compare the information received from the other community with the information from the class. What differences and similarities are there?

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

- CM–2.1 relationships
  - form positive relationships with others; e.g., peers, family, Elders

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

Partners and Group Work

When working with partners or groups, have the students use phrases such as:

- \(Ki nohtê wîcihin?\) (Do you want to help me?)
- \(Ki nohtê wîcimêtawêmin?\) (Do you want to play with me?)
- \(Kakî wîhcihin cî?\) (Can you help me?)
- \(Kakî wîcimêtawêmin cî?\) (Can you play with me?)
- \(Nimiywêmâw osâm ohci ê nihtâ nikamot.\) (I like her/him because she/he is a good singer.)

Holiday Notes

At various holidays throughout the year; e.g., Valentine’s Day, Mother’s Day, Father’s Day, review appropriate phrases in Cree and have the students use them to create cards, e-mails and notes to family and friends; e.g., I like her/him because she/he is a good singer.

Extension

Encourage the students to write letters or e-mails to classmates that include positive comments such as, \(Nimiywêmâw osâm ohci ê nihtâ nikamot.\) (I like her/him because she/he is a good singer.)

Greetings and Conversation

Before a field trip or an outing, review polite greetings and other simple conversational phrases. Have the students practise the proper greetings and phrases and use them when interacting with Cree speakers they meet on their trip.

Extension

At an open house or a parent–student–teacher conference, have the students introduce a family member to you.

Communities may choose to use these terms or to use other related terms acceptable to them (e.g., nature, the environment) in order to teach the outcomes in this section.
General Outcome for Community Membership

Students will live (wâ)wêtina(hk) (peacefully) with Kikâwinaw Askiy (Mother Earth*), others and themselves, guided by Omâmawi Ohtâwîmâw (the Creator*).

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

- a. explore past and present Cree people, practices, products and beliefs in Canada

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Guest Speaker
  Invite Kihtéyayak (Elders) to the class for discussions about how food was gathered, hunted and processed in the past. The students then discuss their own experiences and stories of gathering and hunting for food.

  Have the students select one of the Cree practices or products discussed, e.g., the buffalo hunt, different ways of hunting, making moccasins, and research how things were done then and how they are done now. Ask the students to organize the information they collect and create posters to present to the class.

- Food Preparation
  Explain and demonstrate the traditional preparation of foods such as kayâs (long ago—buffalo), anohc (today—cow, moose). Have the students create a recipe book of traditional Cree recipes.

  Extension
  Review different ways of cooking bannock, e.g., on a stick, in the oven, in a frying pan, deep fried, and discuss why there are different ways to create the same product.

- Traditional Games
  Play hand games such as misikâcikêt (a hiding game) or ladies games such as cakahkêwin (woman’s stick game) to practise strategic thinking. Use these games to practise math and language skills.

- Artifacts
  Display artifacts, such as clothing, beadwork and tools, from a Cree-speaking community of the past and compare them to what is used today. Have the students answer questions such as:

  - Tân’si ê ’si mëskocipayiki/kwâw? (How have things changed?)
  - Kîkwâya kiyâpic pêyakwan? (What things have stayed the same?)
  - Tânihki kâ mëskocipayiki/kwâw? (Why have things changed?)

Learning Log

Students reflect on their learning and how well they were able to explore past and present Cree people, practices, products and beliefs in Canada.

MATERIALS

- Elders, research materials, poster materials.
- Various ingredients and cooking implements.
- Game equipment, rule book.
- Various traditional artifacts (or pictures of artifacts), Glenbow Museum kits, Grouard Native Cultural Arts Museum kits.

- Dance across the Country

  Have the students examine the different ways of pwât'simowin (powwow) across the country. Have them create maps that show the different dances that are traditional in different regions of Canada.

- Drama

  Have the students write and perform a short play in which they each play a role in traditional Cree communities from across the country. In the play, the students should demonstrate traditional practices and products, such as dance, berry picking, making bannock, hunting and storytelling.

Discretionary Note: The use and meaning of this concept may vary depending on the community or region.

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. explore various sources of information for development of their self-concept, and learn and understand the importance of respect for themselves

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Story Time
Read âtayohkêwin (legends), such as “Amiskos” (“Little Beaver”), that teach the importance of respecting oneself. Discuss the legends and what can be learned from them.

➤ Keeping Clean
Introduce Cree vocabulary related to personal hygiene. Have the students use the vocabulary to write and illustrate their daily hygiene routines. Discuss the importance of keeping clean and how cleanliness can be related to self respect.

➤ Respecting Yourself
Brainstorm with the students various ways that individuals show that they respect themselves, such as: Namôya nipîhtwân. (I don’t smoke.), Nikanâtisin. (I am clean.) Write out the ideas in a list and post it in the classroom.

Have the students memorize the following: Ni wî manâcihison, kotakak ayisiniwak, êkwa kikâwînaw askiy. (I will respect myself, other people and our Mother Earth.) Then have the students create posters with this saying that illustrate respectful behaviours. Display the posters around the classroom to promote respectful behaviour.

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Personal Web
  Have the students create webs with their own names in the centre, surrounded by all the people they believe have contributed to their development.

  kihtêyaya (Elder [Mr. Saddleback]) okiskisinamâkêw (my teacher)

  Jim niya (me)

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. explore their family/community background (tribe/heritage/affiliation, kinship)

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➢ Community Bulletin Board
Have the students gather information about their own community by visiting the school or public library, asking locals and Elders, visiting the town hall or band office and asking their families or caregivers. Ask the students to then share the information they collected with the class and post their community facts on a bulletin board display.

➢ Kinship Chart
Review various samples of kinship charts and have the students research and develop kinship charts that show their kinship relationships and ancestors.

Caution
Be sensitive to each student’s personal family situation when exploring kinship relationships.

a. explore Cree cultural experiences, practices and products (continued)

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➢ Cree across the Country
Using maps, photographs, videos and the Internet, have the students research how and where Cree peoples lived in Canada in the past and where they live now. Discuss the idea that in the past Cree peoples travelled freely across many lands and did not think of land as having borders.

➢ Exploring Other Cree Communities
As a project, have each student or pair of students choose a different Cree-speaking community to explore. Have the students answer questions such as:

- Tâniwê ôma nêhiyânâhk? (Where is this Cree community?)
- Tân ’si askiy ôma ita ihtâwin kayâk? (What is the land like where this community lives?)
- Tân ’si isi pimâcihôwak ôta ihtâwînihk? (What is the way of life like in this community?)
- Tân ’si îsîhcikêwak/nîmihitowak/tâpasinâhêwak/îsihtwâwina ôta ihtâwînihk? (What customs/dances/artwork/traditions are unique to this community?)

Have each student or pair of students prepare a very simple presentation about the chosen community. Consider video recording these presentations for review by the students.

General Outcome for Community Membership

Students will live (wā)wētina(hk) (peacefully) with Kikāwīnaw Aškiy (Mother Earth*), others and themselves, guided by Omāmawi Ohtāwīmāw (the Creator*).

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. explore others’ perceptions of them

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ One Good Thing

Have the students take turns writing one positive thing about another student, for example, highlighting one of the student’s strengths:

Sheila/John __________________._
– nihtâ ayamihcikēw. (is a good reader.)
– nihtâ nikamow. (is a good singer.)
– nihtâ wîhcîhtâsow. (is good at helping others.)

Compile the students’ responses in a booklet or on the board.

➤ Positive Group Feedback

After completing a group activity, have each student provide positive and constructive feedback for another student in his or her group by filling out an assessment sheet, such as:

Name: John
John nihtâ _______. (John is very good at ________.)
John wîcihtâsow ohci _______. (John helped the group by ________.)

Have the students then exchange their assessment sheets and discuss them as a class.

➤ Observation Checklist

Create an outcome-based checklist and share it with students before they begin the activity. Use the checklist to assess if students are able to explore others’ perceptions of them (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Observation Checklist).

➤ Peer-assessment Checklist

With the students, collaboratively create an outcome-based peer-assessment checklist. Students use the checklist to determine if their peers are able to explore others’ perceptions of them (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Peer-assessment Checklist).

CM–3 themselves

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES
Students will be able to:

b. recognize that individuals change and the way they see themselves also changes

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➢ Personal Time Lines
Have the students create personal time lines using photographs of themselves at different times in their lives; e.g., oskawâsis (newborn), awâsis (baby), épimohcîsit (toddler), nîso âyamihtâw (Grade 2), nêwo âyamihtâw (Grade 4). Under each photograph, have them write a few words in Cree about themselves at that time.

➢ Collage
Have the students bring in family photographs and create collages using the terms pêyakôskân (family) and wâhkômâkanak (relatives). Discuss as a class how people change over time.

Peer-assessment Checklist
With the students, collaboratively create an outcome-based peer-assessment checklist. Students use the checklist to determine if their peers are able to recognize that individuals change and the way they see themselves also changes (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Peer-assessment Checklist).

Informal Observation
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Make mental notes of the extent to which students are able to recognize that individuals change and the way they see themselves also changes. Offer feedback, encouragement and praise as needed.

MATERIALS

Photographs of each student at different ages, markers.
Family photographs.

General Outcome for Community Membership
Students will live (wâ)wêtina(hk) (peacefully) with Kikâwînaw Askiy (Mother Earth*), others and themselves, guided by Omâmawi Ohtâwîmâw (the Creator*).

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. explore, identify and celebrate the unique characteristics of their family and community

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Family Favourites
Divide the students into groups and have them discuss the different foods they eat at home during feasts or special occasions; e.g., mîcimâpoy (soup), pîmiy (lard) and pahkwêsikan (bannock). Have the students share recipes or samples of their families’ favourite dishes. Create a class cookbook on paper or online.

➤ Local Festival
As a class, research the origins of a local festival or celebration and plan to participate in it. Encourage the students to create posters and flyers advertising the festival; e.g., tipahamâtowin (Treaty Days), wîhkohtowin (Tea Dance/Feast).

➤ Field Trip
Organize a field trip in which the students explore the forest, prairie or lakes around their community. After the trip, have the students discuss the features of the local landscape and its beauty. Ask the students to then draw or paint pictures of the landscape they saw.

Focus for Assessment
Do the students:
• explore, identify and celebrate unique characteristics of their family and community?

Anecdotal Notes
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Note the extent to which students are able to explore, identify and celebrate unique characteristics of their family and community, and record anecdotal notes (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Anecdotal Notes).

Informal Observation
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Make mental notes of the extent to which students are able to explore, identify and celebrate unique characteristics of their family and community. Offer feedback, encouragement and praise as needed.

Strategies

General Outcome for Strategies
Students will use strategies to maximize learning and communication.

S–1 language learning

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. identify and use a variety of strategies to enhance language learning

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

- Personal Dictionaries
  Have the students compile and use a dictionary and phrase book as a reference for when they work on writing and speaking projects. Encourage the students to illustrate their references and share them with other students.

- Keep on Talking
  Divide the students into pairs and have them speak in Cree to one another for as long as possible without using any English words. Have them use circumlocution (e.g., “the thing you hang the clothes on” for “hanger”), mime or point if they don’t know the word, ask for clarification or repetition if they don’t understand and ask follow up questions to check for understanding (e.g., “Am I making sense?”).

- Repeating a Pattern
  Review various rhymes and songs that have repetitive sentence patterns. Read each line and have the students repeat it after you. Write the line on the board and have the students copy it. Complete an action for each line and have the students copy it. Then have the students use the sentence pattern to create their own poems and songs.
General Outcome for Strategies
Students will use strategies to maximize learning and communication.

S–2 language use

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

- a. identify and use a variety of strategies to enhance language use

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

Understanding Texts

Review a variety of strategies with students for interpreting texts, such as skimming and scanning for key words, rereading the text several times, using the contextual clues in the text to interpret unknown words and making predictions on what they are about to read based on prior personal experience.

Give the students a text in Cree and have them use the various strategies to summarize it.

Learning Log

At various stages of a lesson, i.e., before, during and after, have students write about their learning in their Learning Logs, including such things as:

- Pâmayês ê mâcihtâyân: (Before beginning a unit or lesson:)
- Kîkwây nitéyihtën ê wî kiskinohamâkawéyân? (What do I think I will learn?)
- Kîkwây āsay ni kiskéyihtën? (What do I already know about the topic?)
- Kîkwây nitakâwätên ta kiskinohamâkawéyâhk? (What do I hope we will do during this lesson?)

- Mékwâ kiskinohamâkawéyâhk: (During the lesson:)
- Kîkwây mâmawaci nimiywéhtën? (What things have I enjoyed the most?)
- Kîkwây nitáyamihikon? (What things do I have trouble with or need to work on?)
- Tân ’sisi ni ka minôn? (How can I improve?)

- Kêsí kiskinohamâkawéyâhk: (After the lesson:)
- Tân ’sisi nit’îsatowski? (What strategies did I use?)
- Kîkwâyâ kiyápic ta atoskâtâmân? (What things do I still need to work on?)
- Tân ’sisi nit’î ãpacihtân kîkwây kâ kiskéyihtamân wayawêtimihk kiskinohamâtowikamikohk? (How have I used what I learned outside of school?)
General Outcome for Strategies
Students will use strategies to maximize learning and communication.

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
• identify and use a variety of strategies to enhance language use?

Peer-assessment Checklist
With the students, collaboratively create an outcome-based peer-assessment checklist. Students use the checklist to determine if their peers are able to identify and use a variety of strategies to enhance language use (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Peer-assessment Checklist).

Informal Observation
Observe students as they participate in the activity. Make mental notes of the extent to which students are able to identify and use a variety of strategies to enhance language use. Offer feedback, encouragement and praise as needed.

MATERIALS

• Various texts in Cree.
• None required.
General Outcome for Strategies
Students will use strategies to maximize learning and communication.

S–3 cultural learning

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES
Students will be able to:

a. identify and use a variety of strategies to enhance cultural learning

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Comparing and Contrasting
While watching a video, have the students observe and listen carefully to detect key elements of the cultures of various Aboriginal peoples; e.g., traditions, worldviews, way of life. The students then compare and contrast these elements with Cree culture using a graphic organizer.

➤ Group Research
Divide the students into groups and have them choose different cultural activities; e.g., miyâhkasikêwin (cleansing/smudging), pwâtsimowina (dances), iyinamâtowina (gift giving), cistêmâw wêpinâsiwin (offerings of tobacco), wihkwaśk miyâhkasikêwin (burning sweetgrass). Have the students work together to research and create presentations, e.g., play, demonstration, poster, Web site, that describe the history and cultural significance of the activity. Have the students access a variety of reference materials and work cooperatively with the others in their groups.
General Outcome for Strategies
Students will use strategies to maximize learning and communication.

S–3 cultural learning

S–4 general learning

SPECIFIC OUTCOMES

Students will be able to:

a. identify and use a variety of strategies to enhance general learning

SAMPLE TEACHING AND LEARNING ACTIVITIES

➤ Songs
Review the song “Nimiskawâw pakân” (“Found a Peanut”) and, in small groups, change verses to the song using thematic vocabulary learned in class; e.g., “Nimiskawâw astis” (“Found a Glove”).

➤ Graphic Organizers
Throughout the year, have the students practise various ways of collecting ideas, thoughts and information on a topic, such as using brainstorming webs, Venn diagrams, story maps, KWL(A) charts (What you Know, What you Want to find out, What you Learned, How you will Apply what you learned) and paragraph planners.

Divide the students into groups and have them use one or more graphic organizer to guide their research on a topic and to organize the information they found. Have the students create a presentation to share what they have learned. Model specific vocabulary and phrases to use while presenting in front of an audience and consider video recording the presentations.
General Outcome for Strategies
Students will use strategies to maximize learning and communication.

S–4 general learning

SAMPLE ASSESSMENT STRATEGIES

Focus for Assessment
Does the student:
• identify and use a variety of strategies to enhance general learning?

➤ Learning Log
Students reflect on their learning and how well they were able to identify and use a variety of strategies to enhance general learning.

➤ Rubric
Collaboratively create an outcome-based rubric with the students. Use the rubric to evaluate how well students are able to identify and use a variety of strategies to enhance general learning (see sample blackline master in Appendix E: Rubric or Rubric and Checklist).

MATERIALS

➤ Various songs, listening station.

➤ Various graphic organizers.

Instructional Planning Guide

As you design a learning activity, consider students’ individual needs and learning profiles to determine the accommodations, modifications and adaptations that will be necessary for success.

🔗 Outcomes

Determine the outcomes that students can reasonably accomplish.
- Select fewer outcomes, partial outcomes or outcomes from a different grade level if necessary.

Determine what the students will be able to demonstrate as a result of this learning activity.
- Consider the accommodations, modifications and adaptations necessary to ensure student success in achieving all or part of the outcomes.

🔗 Learning Activities

Select appropriate instructional strategies and learning activities that will create opportunities for students to achieve the target outcomes successfully.
- Decide how students will apply their learning.
- Ensure opportunities for students to use different learning modalities; e.g., visual, auditory.
- Present and support key concepts and instructions using demonstration, oral and written steps and exemplars of completed assignments.
- Break down assignments or tasks into smaller, more manageable parts.
- Give clear, concrete instructions and:
  - provide a visual reference of the sequence of key steps in completing the assignment
  - provide a checklist of assignment parts for students to mark as tasks are completed
  - support written instructions with picture prompts or highlight directions using a colour-coding system
  - record directions or lectures for playback
  - repeat instructions
  - have students recall instructions in sequence.
- Model and demonstrate to promote understanding of directions.
- Check in with students regularly to check task understanding and to provide feedback and clarification on specific aspects of the assignment.
- Highlight key points of the lesson orally and visually.
- Select extension activities that will reinforce and extend learning.
- Write assignments and homework on chart paper or the board. Ensure that students write down assignments in their agendas.
- Help students stay on task by employing a cueing strategy.

Identify the key concepts of the learning activity.
- Consider how the activity has been designed to motivate and engage student interest.
- Determine how to present an overview of the learning activity.
- Ensure that the learning activity provides opportunities for students to relate the key concepts to their own experiences or understanding.
- Build in opportunities to make connections between what the students know and what they are learning.

Adapted with permission from Calgary Learning Centre (Calgary, Alberta, 2003).
Consider how the students will be organized for instruction and the type of groupings that will be most effective (partner, small group, large group).

- Use flexible grouping to determine the best fit for a particular activity. Decisions about grouping students may be based on different factors depending on the end goal, such as learning profile, interest, readiness or need.

Learning Environment

Consider the classroom environment and individual student work spaces.

- Provide a quiet work station like a study carrel in a corner of the classroom.
- Plan seating arrangements for students with attention issues based on traffic patterns and overt distractions; e.g., windows, door, hallway, computer.
- Partner students with a peer for support and guidance.

Resources

Decide on the resources that will be used for the learning activity, including oral, print, media texts and community resources.

- Locate necessary materials and resources to support different reading levels, learning styles and student needs.
- Consider using graphic organizers to present information.

Prepare resources to assist students with learning difficulties.

- Rewrite materials at a lower reading level.
- Provide a graphic organizer for note taking; e.g., cloze style.
- Highlight passages of text.
- Reformat handouts and tests as necessary; e.g., provide lines for written responses, put one question per page, rewrite questions or information at a lower reading level, enlarge print and spacing between lines of print.
- Identify Web-based supports; e.g., simulations.

Ensure that students have the assistive tools and devices to support their learning styles or needs, for example:

- highlighters, calculators, sticky notes, rulers, markers, erasable pens, adapted scissors, graph paper, special lined paper, pencil grip, date/number line taped to desk
- a copy of the lecture notes
- enlarged or reduced text
- scribe
- audio recordings
- picture prompts
- manipulatives
- overlays
- computers

Assessment

Decide what evidence will show whether the students have achieved the outcomes.

Determine the best way for students to demonstrate their learning.

- Provide assessment options for students to “show what they know.”
Make necessary preparations for alternative testing procedures, resources and materials.

- Does the student need:
  - ___ an audio recording of the test
  - ___ a scribe to write down his or her ideas or answers
  - ___ the test questions read aloud
  - ___ a time extension
  - ___ fewer questions?

Determine the focus of the assessment for evaluation purposes.
For example, if you are evaluating students on their understanding of the content, do not penalize for spelling errors or missing punctuation.

Select or develop rubrics, exemplars and checklists to support student evaluation.

Provide immediate, specific and constructive feedback.
- Emphasize the quality of work and perseverance rather than quantity.

Provide opportunities for student self-reflection and self-evaluation.
- Consider necessary alternate assessment options to accommodate different learning styles, interests or strengths.
- Share assignment criteria lists, checklists, standards and exemplars with students.

Clock icon

Time line

Record important assignments and test due dates on a master calendar and have students write these dates in their agendas.
- Show students how to plan for longer assignments by using a calendar.
- Show students how to study for an upcoming test.
- Provide students with a study guide of important skills and concepts.

Consider the pace of the learning activity and the needs of the students.
- Consider ways to change the pace and allow students to focus on the task for more condensed periods of time, if necessary.
- Prepare an assignment summary with task increments and time line to guide students’ completion of the assignment. Provide time warnings for task completion.
- Extend deadlines for those students who require more time to complete assignments.

Examples of General Accommodations

Methods of Instruction
- Vary amount of material to be learned.
- Vary amount of material to be practised.
- Vary time for practice activities.
- Use advance organizers.
- Cue student to stay on task; e.g., private signal.
- Facilitate student cueing (student providing cues to the teacher).
- Repeat directions or have student repeat directions.
- Shorten directions.
- Pair written instructions with oral instructions.
- Use computer-assisted instruction.
- Use visual aids in lesson presentation.

Task/Response (cont’d)
- Provide student with a copy of notes.
- Accept dictated or parent-assisted homework assignments.
- Provide extra assignment time.
- Permit student to print.
- Provide a student buddy for reading.

Materials
- Modify text materials (add, adapt or substitute).
- Make materials self-correcting.
- Highlight important concepts and information and/or passages.
- Use a desktop easel or slantboard to raise reading materials.
- Prepare recordings of reading/textbook materials.

Materials (cont’d)
- Increase print size in photocopying.
- Use daily homework assignment book.

Reinforcement Systems (cont’d)
- Allow special activities.
- Instruct student in self-monitoring; e.g., following directions, raising hand to talk.

Assessment and Testing
- Adjust the test appearance; e.g., margins, spacing.
- Adjust the test design (T/F, multiple choice, matching).
- Adjust to recall with cues, cloze, word lists.
- Vary test administration (group/individual, open book, make-up tests).
- Audio record test questions.
- Select items specific to ability levels.
- Vary amount to be tested.
- Give extra test time.
- Adjust readability of test.
- Allow recorded reports for essays and/or long answers.
- Read test questions.
- Allow use of a scribe or a reader.
- Allow oral examinations.

Task/Response
- Reduce or substitute required assignments.
- Adjust level of in-class assignments to academic level.
- Break long-term assignments into shorter tasks.
- Adjust amount of copying.
- Use strategies to enhance recall; e.g., cues, cloze.

Materials
- Modify text materials (add, adapt or substitute).
- Make materials self-correcting.
- Highlight important concepts and information and/or passages.
- Use a desktop easel or slantboard to raise reading materials.
- Prepare recordings of reading/textbook materials.

Materials (cont’d)
- Increase print size in photocopying.
- Use daily homework assignment book.

Other__________

Organization for Instruction

The student works best:
- in large group instruction
- in small group instruction
- when placed beside an independent learner
- with individual instruction
- with peer tutoring
- with cross-aged tutoring
- using independent self-instructional materials
- in learning centres
- with preferential seating
- with allowances for mobility
- in a quiet space within the classroom.

Other__________

Reinforcement Systems

- Provide immediate reinforcement.
- Give verbal praise for positive behaviour.
- Use tangible reinforcers.
- Send notes home.
- Complete progress charts.

| Use less difficult/alternative reading material. | Reduce volume of work. | Provide alternative seating:
  - near teacher
  - facing teacher
  - at front of class, between well-focused students, away from distractions. | Provide a written outline. | Use assistive and adaptive devices:
  - pencil or pen adapted in size or grip diameter
  - alternative keyboards
  - portable word processor. |
| Reduce amount of reading required. | Break long-term assignments into manageable tasks. | Provide directions in written form (on board, on worksheets, copied in assignment book by student). | Provide directions in written form:
  - on board
  - on worksheets
  - copied in assignment book by student. | Set realistic and mutually agreed-upon expectations for neatness. |
| Allow alternative methods of data collection (audio recorders, dictation, interviews, fact sheets). | Extend time for completing assignments. | Permit movement during class activities and testing sessions. | Set time limits for specific task completion. | Reduce or eliminate the need to copy from a text or board; e.g.,
  - provide copies of notes
  - permit student to photocopy a peer's notes
  - provide carbon/NCR paper to a peer to copy notes. |
| Set time limits for specific task completion. | Offer alternative assignments. | Provide directions in written form:
  - on board
  - on worksheets
  - copied in assignment book by student. | Extend time to complete tests and assignments. | Extend time to complete tests and assignments. |
| Enlarge text of worksheets and reading material. | Allow student to work on homework while at school. | Allow student to take breaks during tests. | Use multiple testing sessions for longer tests. | Alter the size, shape or location of the space provided for answers. |
| Extend time to complete tests and assignments. | Allow alternative methods of data collection (audio recorders, dictation, interviews, fact sheets). | Use multiple testing sessions for longer tests. | Use place markers, special paper, graph paper or writing templates to allow student to maintain position and focus attention better. | Accept keyword responses instead of complete sentences. |
| Use large print editions of tests. | Permit use of scribe or audio recorder for answers (student should include specific instructions about punctuation and paragraphing). | Provide cues for long, detailed assignments. | Provide cues, e.g., arrows, stop signs on worksheets and tests. | Accept keyword responses instead of complete sentences. |
| Read test items aloud to student. | Waive spelling, punctuation and paragraphing requirements. | Read and discuss standard directions several times at start of examination. | Provide a quiet, distraction-free area for testing. | Allow student to type answers or to answer orally instead of in writing. |
| Read standard directions several times at start of exam. | Accept keyword responses instead of complete sentences. | Provide cues, e.g., arrows, stop signs, on worksheets and tests. | Allow student to wear noise buffer device such as head phones to screen out distracting sounds. | Allow student to type answers or to answer orally instead of in writing. |
| Audio record directions. | Use assistive technology (word processor, spell-check device, grammar-check device, text-to-speech software). | Provide checklists for long, detailed assignments. | Provide checklists for long, detailed assignments. | |
| Use assistive technology (optical character recognition system, books on tape/CD, screen readers). | Provide alternative seating:
  - near teacher
  - facing teacher
  - at front of class, between well-focused students, away from distractions. | Provide a specific process fort turning in completed assignments. | Accept keyword responses instead of complete sentences. | |

Examples of Assessment Accommodations

Some students require accommodations to allow classroom assessment to measure and communicate student growth and achievement clearly and realistically. Some students will know what they need to demonstrate their knowledge in the classroom and in testing situations. It is important to provide an opportunity for students and parents to suggest or respond to proposed assessment accommodations.

Sample assessment accommodations include:

- allowing extended time
- allowing breaks during the test
- reducing the number of questions
- breaking a test into parts and administering them at separate times
- providing an audio-recorded test and making students aware that they may listen to part or all of the recording more than once
- providing a reader or a scribe
- providing an opportunity to record answers
- providing more detailed instructions and confirming the student’s understanding of the test process
- administering the test in a small-group setting or to an individual student
- administering the test in a separate room, free from distractions
- providing noise buffers; e.g., headphones
- adjusting the test appearance; e.g., margins, spacing
- adjusting the test design (true/false, multiple choice, matching)
- adjusting the readability of the test
- allowing alternative formats such as webs or key points in place of essays or long answers
- reading test questions
- allowing use of a scribe or a reader
- allowing oral examinations
- allowing students to practise taking similar test questions.
Sample Text Forms

Written Texts
- advertisements

Sample Independent Study Agreement

Name: ___________________________  Grade: ___________________________  Date: ___________________________

This is a contract between you and your teacher. By writing your initials on each of the blanks beside the statements, you agree to follow these conditions. If you do not meet the conditions set in this contract, you will have to return to the class and your project will be discontinued immediately.

Read each statement below and write your initials beside it to show your understanding and agreement.

Learning Conditions

_______ I will complete all alternative learning activities in my Independent Study Agreement by _________________________________ (date).

_______ I will prepare for and complete the unit’s assessment at the same time as the rest of the class.

_______ I will participate in whole-class activities as the teacher assigns them.

_______ I will keep a daily log of my progress in my Learning Log.

_______ I will share what I have learned from my independent study with the class in an interesting way. I will prepare a brief presentation of five to seven minutes and make sure that I include some kind of a visual aid; e.g., poster, picture, digital slide show.

Working Conditions

_______ I will check in with the teacher at the beginning and end of each class period.

_______ I will work on my chosen topic for the entire class period on the days my teacher assigns.

_______ I will not bother anyone or call attention to the fact that I am doing different work than others in the class.

Sample List of Learning Strategies

Language Learning Strategies

Cognitive Language Learning Strategies

- listen attentively
- perform actions to match the words of a song, story or rhyme
- learn short rhymes or songs, incorporating new vocabulary or sentence patterns
- imitate sounds and intonation patterns
- memorize new words by repeating them silently or aloud
- seek the precise term to express meaning
- repeat words or phrases in the course of performing a language task
- make personal dictionaries
- experiment with various elements of the language
- use mental images to remember new information
- group together sets of things—vocabulary, structures—with similar characteristics
- identify similarities and differences between aspects of Cree and your own language(s)
- look for patterns and relationships
- use previously acquired knowledge to facilitate a learning task
- associate new words or expressions with familiar ones, either in Cree or in your own language(s)
- find information, using reference materials such as dictionaries, textbooks and grammars
- use available technological aids to support language learning
- use word maps, mind maps, diagrams, charts or other graphic representations to make information easier to understand and remember
- place new words or expressions in a context to make them easier to remember
- use induction to generate rules governing language use
- seek opportunities outside of class to practise and observe
- perceive and note down unknown words and expressions, noting also their context and function

Metacognitive Language Learning Strategies

- check copied writing for accuracy
- make choices about how you learn
- rehearse or role-play language
- decide in advance to attend to the learning task
- reflect on learning tasks with the guidance of the teacher
- make a plan in advance about how to approach a language learning task
- reflect on the listening, speaking, reading and writing process
- decide in advance to attend to specific aspects of input
- listen or read for key words
- evaluate your performance or comprehension at the end of a task
- keep a learning log experience various methods of language acquisition and identify one or more considered to be particularly useful personally be aware of the potential of learning through direct exposure to the language know how strategies may enable coping with texts containing unknown elements identify problems that might hinder successful completion of a task and seek solutions monitor your speech and writing to check for persistent errors be aware of your strengths and weaknesses, identify your needs and goals, and organize strategies and procedures accordingly

Social/Affective Language Learning Strategies initiate or maintain interaction with others participate in shared reading experiences seek the assistance of a friend to interpret a text reread familiar self-chosen texts to enhance understanding and enjoyment work cooperatively with peers in small groups understand that making mistakes is a natural part of language learning experiment with various forms of expression and note their acceptance or nonacceptance by more experienced speakers participate actively in brainstorming and conferencing as prewriting and postwriting exercises use self-talk to feel competent to do the task

be willing to take risks and to try unfamiliar tasks and approaches repeat new words and expressions occurring in your conversations, and make use of these new words and expressions as soon as appropriate reduce anxiety by using mental techniques such as positive self-talk or humour work with others to solve problems and get feedback on tasks provide personal motivation by arranging your own rewards when successful

Language Use Strategies

Interactive Language Use Strategies

use words from your first language to get meaning across; e.g., use a literal translation of a phrase in the first language, use a first language word but pronounce it as in Cree acknowledge being spoken to interpret and use a variety of nonverbal cues to communicate indicate lack of understanding verbally or nonverbally ask for clarification or repetition when you do not understand use other speakers' words in subsequent conversations assess feedback from a conversation partner to recognize when a message has not been understood start again, using a different tactic, when communication breaks down use a simple word similar to the concept to convey and invite correction invite others into the discussion ask for confirmation that a form used is correct use a range of fillers, hesitation devices and gambits to sustain conversations use circumlocution to compensate for lack of vocabulary repeat part of what someone has said to confirm mutual understanding summarize the point reached in a discussion to help focus the talk ask follow-up questions to check for understanding use suitable phrases to intervene in a discussion

self-correct if errors lead to misunderstandings

Interpretive Language Use Strategies

use gestures, intonation and visual supports to aid comprehension make connections between texts on the one hand and prior knowledge and personal experience on the other use illustrations to aid reading comprehension determine the purpose of listening listen or look for key words listen selectively based on purpose make predictions about what you expect to hear or read based on prior knowledge and personal experience use knowledge of the sound-symbol system to aid reading comprehension infer probable meanings of unknown words or expressions from contextual clues prepare questions or a guide to note information found in a text use key content words or discourse markers to follow an extended text reread several times to understand complex ideas summarize information gathered assess your information needs before listening, viewing or reading use skimming and scanning to locate key information in texts

Productive Language Use Strategies

mimic what the teacher says

use nonverbal means to communicate copy what others say or write use words that are visible in the immediate environment

use resources to increase vocabulary use familiar repetitive patterns from stories, songs, rhymes or media use illustrations to provide detail when producing your own texts use various techniques to explore ideas at the planning stage, such as brainstorming or keeping a notebook or log of ideas use knowledge of sentence patterns to form new sentences be aware of and use the steps of the writing process: prewriting (gathering ideas, planning the text, researching, organizing the text), writing, revision (rereading, moving pieces of text, rewriting pieces of text), correction (grammar, spelling, punctuation), publication (reprinting, adding illustrations, binding)

use a variety of resources to correct texts take notes when reading or listening to assist in producing your own text proofread and edit the final version of a text use circumlocution and definition to compensate for gaps in vocabulary apply grammar rules to improve accuracy at the correction stage compensate for avoiding difficult structures by rephrasing

General Learning Strategies

Cognitive General Learning Strategies classify objects and ideas according to their attributes; e.g., red objects and blue objects, or animals that eat meat and animals that eat plants use models

connect what is already known with what is being learned experiment with, and concentrate on, one thing at a time focus on and complete learning tasks write down key words and concepts in abbreviated form
use mental images to remember new information distinguish between fact and opinion when using a variety of sources of information formulate key questions to guide research make inferences, and identify and justify the evidence on which these inferences are based use word maps, mind maps, diagrams, charts or other graphic representations to make information easier to understand and remember seek information through a network of sources, including libraries, the Internet, individuals and agencies use previously acquired knowledge or skills to assist with a new learning task

Metacognitive General Learning Strategies

reflect on learning tasks with the guidance of the teacher choose from among learning options discover how your efforts can affect learning reflect upon your thinking processes and how you learn decide in advance to attend to the learning task divide an overall learning task into a number of subtasks make a plan in advance about how to approach a task identify your needs and interests manage your physical working environment keep a learning journal, such as a diary or a log develop criteria for evaluating your work work with others to monitor your learning take responsibility for planning, monitoring and evaluating learning experiences
Social/Affective General Learning Strategies

- watch others' actions and copy them
- seek help from others
- follow your natural curiosity and intrinsic motivation to learn
- participate in cooperative group learning tasks
- choose learning activities that enhance understanding and enjoyment
- be encouraged to try, even though mistakes might be made
- take part in group decision-making processes
- use support strategies to help peers persevere at learning tasks
- take part in group problem-solving processes
- use self-talk to feel competent to do the task
- be willing to take risks and to try unfamiliar tasks and approaches
- monitor your level of anxiety about learning tasks and take measures to lower it if necessary
- use social interaction skills to enhance group learning activities
Origami Finger Game Folding Directions

1. Fold color side down on both diagonals. Unfold

2. Fold all four corners to center

3. Turn paper over

4. Again, fold all corners to center

5. Fold paper in half and unfold

6. Fold in half from top to bottom. Do not unfold.

7. Slide thumbs and forefingers under the squares and move the Origami Finger Game back and forth to play.

How to Use KWL Charts

Step 1

Think about what you already KNOW about your topic. List those facts in the first column.

For example, if your topic is “How I Talk to Others in a New Language,” you may come up with these ideas.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>What I know</th>
<th>What I want to find out</th>
<th>What I have learned</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>• Can use hand gestures and facial expressions to help the other person understand.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• Don’t be afraid to make mistakes!</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Step 2

Think of the kinds of information you WANT to find out. List specific questions in the second column.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>What I know</th>
<th>What I want to find out</th>
<th>What I have learned</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>• Can use hand gestures and facial expressions to help the other person understand.</td>
<td>• What do I do if I don’t know how to say a word?</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• Don’t be afraid to make mistakes!</td>
<td>• What do I do if I don’t understand what the other person is saying?</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Step 3

LEARN the answers to your questions. List that information, and anything else that you learn about your topic, in the third column.

MS Word allows you to create your own chart electronically using the options in the Table menu.

How to Use a Brainstorming Web

Step 1 Identify your topic and use it as the title. Write it in the centre of your web.

Step 2 Identify categories of information and label each of the outer bubbles.

Step 3 Brainstorm and jot down ideas in each category.
How to Create a Mind Map

What are mind maps?

Mind maps are diagrams that show related ideas and information on a topic. They are used to note and organize ideas and information in a way that is meaningful to you.

How do I create a mind map?

Step 1 Identify your topic and write it in the centre of the page. This is the centre of your mind map.

Step 2 As you think of a subtopic related to your main topic, write it next to the centre and connect it with a line. Use different colours or styles of writing for your different subtopics.

Step 3 Add information and ideas to the subtopics as you think of them and connect them in meaningful ways. Include ideas and information, such as:

- examples from your own experience
- things you have read or heard
- questions you want to answer
- feelings you have
- sketches.

Step 4 Review the ideas and information you have written down and use circles, other shapes and/or colours to connect or group things.

You can use mind maps for many things, such as:

- collecting ideas, information and questions to guide your research
- reflecting on a presentation, group discussion, story, movie or television show
- collecting ideas for a story, poem, role-play or skit.
In this sample, the student circled all the questions she had so that she could use them in an inquiry; e.g., “What I want to find out” in a KWL chart.
How to Use Venn Diagrams

Label each side of the diagram with the name of each item you are comparing.

Step 2
Think about all the unique features or characteristics of the first item and write your ideas in the left part of the diagram.

Step 3
Think about all the unique features or characteristics of the second item and write your ideas in the right part of the diagram.

Step 4
Think about all the features the items share and write your ideas in the middle of the diagram.

Kêkwaya tâki tôtaman: check your spelling using a dictionary or our vocabulary lists. We wrote lots of these words down in our learning logs so they might be there.

Note: This Peer-assessment Checklist allows students to give each other feedback about particular aspects of their work. Comments written should be constructive and specific.

Long-term Goal Setting

| Niwîhowin: | Cheyenne | Nitakihtâson: | 4 | Akinkëshkwân: | Mâta kimâw Mikisiwpîsim |

Goal #1:

By the end of this term, I would like to: know what to say to ask for directions in Cree.

To achieve this goal, I will: look up the words I need to know and write a role-play to perform with a friend.

My teacher can help me: with my pronunciation and by making sure I am saying things properly. Maybe there’s a video I can watch.

My parents can help me by: practising my role-play with me at home.

Goal #2:

By the end of this term, I would like to: learn more about what it’s like to live in Edmonton.

To achieve this goal, I will: research Edmonton on the Internet and ask my neighbour, Mrs. Twin, what it’s like to live there.

My teacher can help me by: bringing in books and pictures of Edmonton and, maybe, showing a movie.

My parents can help me by: buying me a book on Edmonton for my birthday and taking me to Edmonton for a weekend!

Note: This Long-term Goal Setting sheet allows students to set long-term goals for their own learning and could be included in students’ learning logs.

Note: This form of Anecdotal Notes allows teachers to gather information about several different students as their performance relates to different outcomes at different times. In this sample, wherever an unsatisfactory performance was observed, the teacher planned another opportunity to observe the same student complete an activity in which the same outcome is addressed. The information provided by using this type of tool can be used to modify future instruction or to discuss students’ learning.

Notes for future planning: do a role-play activity in which we talk about productive strategies students can use when speaking Cree; e.g., use nonverbal means to communicate, use familiar repetitive patterns from stories, songs and rhymes, compensate for avoiding difficult structures by rephrasing. Students then record the ideas in their learning logs and set goals for using them.

Note: This Checklist and Comments tool demonstrates how a teacher can gather information on several students’ performances as they relate to one outcome. The teacher can also use this information to plan for future instruction.

Checklist and Comments 2

| Grade: 4 | Date: October 5 | Activity: Telephone conversations (invitations) |

Specific Outcome(s):
- A–3.2a respond to offers, invitations and instructions;
- LC–1.1b pronounce common words and phrases correctly;
- LC–1.1c recognize intonation common to Cree;
- LC–1.3a use a repertoire of words and phrases in familiar contexts, within a variety of lexical fields.

Lance can:

(Student name)

- invite a friend to do something
- accept and decline an invitation
- pronounce words comprehensibly
- use intonation to express inquiry
- use appropriate vocabulary related to hobbies and invitations

Done well: Seems to have a good understanding of the vocabulary.

Could improve: Seems not to understand intonation and how it can affect meaning.

Note: This Checklist and Comments tool demonstrates how a teacher can record information about student performance against several criteria. In this sample, the student is being assessed against the same criteria found in the sample rubric. The teacher could use a checklist to check student performance partway through a task, such as a telephone conversation.

- [ ] required constant supervision and assistance

Note: This Rubric and Checklist demonstrates how a teacher can perform assessment of learning and assessment for learning at the same time, using the same assessment tool. This combination of rubric and checklist records information about a student’s performance according to specific outcomes, as well as information about a student’s work habits. When a student demonstrates a performance that is below the acceptable level, the checklist allows the teacher to record a reason why the student did not perform at an acceptable standard and provide a plan for future improvement.
