CURRENT EDUCATIONAL PUBLICATIONS.

In the introduction, Dr. Butler commends a careful reading of these papers “not only to the great army of college teachers and college students, but to that still greater army of those who, whether as alumni or as parent or as citizen, are deeply concerned with the preservation of the influence and character of the American college for its effect upon our national standards of thought and action.”

Says “Humanisation, in fact, is what the American college most greatly needs. In technical equipment it stands, on the whole, head and shoulders above the English university. But there is not the personal relation between student and teacher, the eager desire to understand the universe.”

Does not agree with the theory that private benefactions can not or should not be made to state universities. Gives a concrete example showing how private benefactions have broadened the scope of the University of Missouri and enriched its facilities.
