Behavioral Interventions to Advance Self-Sufficiency (BIAS) Project

Behavioral Intervention Materials Compendium

OPRE REPORT 2018-08
MARCH 2018
Funders

MDRC conducted the Behavioral Interventions to Advance Self-Sufficiency (BIAS) project under a contract with the Office of Planning, Research and Evaluation, Administration for Children and Families, in the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), funded by HHS under a competitive award, Contract No. HHS-P23320095644WC-23337002T. The project officers are Victoria Kabak and Kimberly Clum.

The findings and conclusions in this report do not necessarily represent the official positions or policies of HHS.

Introduction

BIAS PROJECT OVERVIEW

The Behavioral Interventions to Advance Self-Sufficiency (BIAS) project, launched in 2010, was the first major initiative to apply behavioral insights to human services programs that serve poor and vulnerable families in the United States. The project was led by MDRC and sponsored by the Office of Planning, Research and Evaluation of the Administration for Children and Families in the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. The BIAS project built knowledge about how tools from behavioral science could be used to deliver program services more effectively, targeting three human services domains: child support, child care, and work support.

The BIAS team partnered with eight state and local agencies to design and implement 15 randomized controlled trials that incorporated behavioral insights. Each site had at least one intervention with a statistically significant impact on a primary outcome of interest. The magnitude of the improvements typically ranged from 2 to 4 percentage points (in line with other behavioral research findings) — and, in several cases, impacts were much larger. These positive impacts may be considered large relative to the costs for the interventions, which were typically around $4.00 or less per person. For more background on the project, view the BIAS Infographic and the BIAS final report.

DEVELOPING BEHAVIORAL INTERVENTIONS

The BIAS team used a systematic approach called “behavioral diagnosis and design” to develop interventions. This process consisted of identifying problems that were appropriate for behavioral interventions, diagnosing the underlying behavioral reasons for each problem, designing interventions, and conducting rigorous tests to determine whether the interventions improved outcomes. Each intervention was customized to fit its context, but all involved at least one of the behavioral principles described by the SIMPLER framework. Created by MDRC for the BIAS project, SIMPLER stands for social influence, implementation prompts, making deadlines, personalization, loss aversion, ease, and reminders.

PURPOSE OF THIS COMPENDIUM

The BIAS team implemented 15 behavioral interventions, involving close to 100,000 clients. This compendium contains all the printed materials that were designed as part of those interventions. (Some interventions included nonprinted components, like robocalls and personal phone calls, which are not reflected in this document.) The interventions contribute to a body of knowledge about what works in human services settings. The BIAS team’s objective in sharing these materials is to assist practitioners and program designers in developing future behavioral interventions and, more specifically, in crafting written materials that are informed by behavioral science.

In sharing these intervention materials, the team hopes that others can learn how specific behavioral concepts were operationalized in different settings and formats (that is, mail, text messages, and email). The team also aims to spark future innovative interventions and help scale behavioral interventions where evidence has already been built.

HOW TO READ THIS COMPRENDIUM

The compendium is arranged by program area domain, state or local agency, and type of intervention. Each section begins with a summary of the particular intervention that was implemented, followed by a list of the printed materials for that intervention and copies of the materials themselves.

 DEFINE.
Low-income parents who are working or attending school can apply for a Child Care and Development Fund (CCDF) subsidy to offset some of their child care costs. To assist parents in selecting a provider, Indiana created a voluntary Quality Rating and Improvement System called Paths to QUALITY (PTQ). PTQ ranks providers on a four-point scale based on their achievement of standards related to health and safety, staff qualifications, parental engagement, and curriculum development. However, not all child care providers that are eligible to receive CCDF subsidies participate in PTQ. About one-third of CCDF parents in Indiana do not choose PTQ providers. The BIAS study aimed to increase the percentage of CCDF parents who selected a PTQ provider at the time of enrollment, and to increase selection of the highest-rated providers within this group.

DIAGNOSE & DESIGN.
The team examined the process of choosing a child care provider among parents who were placed on a waiting list for the CCDF subsidy. The team identified several bottlenecks: (1) parents may not be aware of, or understand, the quality-ratings program; (2) they may not begin their search for a child care provider while still on the waiting list, when they likely have more time to consider options; and (3) when parents are called off the waiting list, they have limited time to choose a provider.

The BIAS team, assisted by the Indiana Association for Child Care Resource and Referral (IACCR), replaced a letter and brochure that the state routinely sent to parents on the CCDF waiting list with a new, behaviorally informed mailing. The new mailing included individualized referrals to child care providers near the parent’s home, shown on a map, along with graphics displaying the levels of quality and the benefits of choosing a PTQ provider. Some parents also received a proactive phone call from an IACCR agent to explain the PTQ program and provide additional referrals.

TEST & FINDINGS.
Participants were randomly assigned to one of three groups: (1) a program group that was sent the new mailing and received a proactive phone call (n = 2,415); (2) a program group that was sent the new mailing only (n = 3,580); or (3) a control group that was sent the agency’s existing marketing materials (n = 6,657). The interventions did not increase the overall percentage of CCDF families who chose any quality-rated provider. However, the new packet combined with a phone call increased the percentage of families who chose a highly rated provider (Level 3 or 4) by 2.1 percentage points, from 12.6 percent to 14.7 percent (a statistically significant difference). There was also evidence that this intervention was more effective when parents received the referrals and phone call closer to the time when they signed up for the CCDF waiting list rather than closer to the time when they actually received their subsidies, which could be months later.

CONCLUSION.
The findings from this study of child care provider choice offer some support for the conclusion that parents who are making complex child care decisions with limited time may benefit from personal assistance delivered at a time when they are open to considering new child care arrangements. In this case, that time seems to be when parents sign up for a subsidy rather than closer to the time when they receive the subsidy.

  Behaviorally informed informational packet sent to parents on the Child Care and Development Fund (CCDF) waiting list to encourage them to select a quality-rated provider.
KEEP THIS LETTER!

Dear

The Child Care Development Fund (CCDF) helps parents like you who are supporting their families by working or going to school. Now is a great time to start looking for child care because you’ll need to have a provider selected when your name is called off the waitlist. Paths to QUALITY™ was created to help Indiana parents select child care. Most parents use their valuable CCDF vouchers to pay for the high quality care you can get from a Paths to QUALITY provider.

WHY CHOOSE A PATHS TO QUALITY PROVIDER?

You want the very BEST for your child and so do Paths to QUALITY programs!
- Meets highest level of health and safety standards
- Always eligible to accept CCDF vouchers
- Demonstrates a commitment to quality

WHAT TO DO NOW

1. Turn the page, and discover the benefits of Paths to QUALITY. Paths to QUALITY providers meet health and safety standards, and show a commitment to quality.

2. Check out the list of providers located near your home. We have included a list of providers that serve your child’s age group to help you start your search. Learn more on Page 3!

3. Visit 3 child care providers. We have included a checklist on the last page to help you ask the right questions. Need more information about providers in your area? Call us at 1-800-299-1627 or go online to www.childcareindiana.org for more referrals.

4. Choose your provider and look out for CCDF appointment information from the Intake Agent. When your name is called off the waitlist, you will only have a couple of days to prepare for your CCDF appointment. Write the name of your preferred provider below! That way you can just drop by this provider to have a form filled out before your CCDF appointment.

Child Care

INDIANA — REDETERMINATION
Child Care: Indiana—Redetermination

DEFINE.
Indiana requires parents to periodically document their continued eligibility for child care subsidies. The goal of the BIAS intervention, designed in collaboration with the Indiana Office of Early Childhood and Out of School Learning, was to reduce the number of appointments needed to complete the subsidy redetermination process and increase the number of parents renewing on time.

DIAGNOSE & DESIGN.
Collecting the right documentation to complete redetermination can be difficult, and proof of employment can be especially hard to establish because of state verification requirements. In addition, the state did not send a reminder to parents about their upcoming renewal appointment, so they may have forgotten to attend.

The BIAS team launched two rounds of evaluation. The first round assessed an intervention focused on simplifying the renewal letter and checklist that the state normally sent to parents, along with mailing a reminder about their upcoming appointment date. A second intervention, which was informed by data from the first round of evaluation, focused on providing parents with more detailed information and forms explaining how to show that they were meeting their work requirement, in addition to providing a more personalized reminder.

TEST & FINDINGS.
Participants were randomly assigned either to the program group, which received new, behaviorally informed, simplified materials and a reminder (n = 2,666, Round 1; n = 2,365, Round 2), or to the control group, which received the state’s standard materials (n = 2,666, Round 1; n = 2,367, Round 2).

In Round 1, parents who received simplified renewal instructions were 2.6 percentage points more likely to attend their first scheduled renewal appointment (52.6 percent vs. 50.0 percent), and 3.2 percentage points more likely to complete the process in one appointment (62.5 percent versus 59.3 percent). The intervention did not produce a statistically significant change in the number of parents renewing by the deadline. In Round 2, the redesigned intervention materials increased the percentage of parents who attended their first scheduled appointment by 10.6 percentage points (from 44.1 percent to 54.7 percent). It did not change the likelihood that parents completed redetermination in one appointment, but it did increase the percentage of parents who renewed on time by 2.7 percentage points (from 76.4 percent to 79.1 percent).

CONCLUSION.
Behavioral interventions can increase the number of eligible parents who renew their child care subsidies on time or meet other renewal milestones. The study findings may also point to a tension between getting parents to complete the process in one appointment, and reaching parents who may need more help gathering the complete documentation and renewing on time. In Round 2, behavioral messaging increased the percentage of parents who attended at least one appointment, but not the percentage who completed the process in one appointment, as happened in Round 1.

Your CCDF voucher provides you with affordable child care that meets your needs. But your voucher will expire soon.

To avoid losing your CCDF, you need to:

1. Gather just a few documents to show that you are still eligible for the voucher.
2. Bring these documents to an appointment.

If you need to reschedule, call the Children’s Bureau Inc. at 1-866-287-2420 x204 or email us at CCDFscheduling@childrensbureau.org

Checklist, Round 1

4 Easy Steps to Reauthorizing Your Voucher

Check off what you will bring to the appointment.

☐ 1. Proof of Current Address
   Check off the one document listing your current address that you will bring:
   - Driver’s license
   - Utility bill - current at time of appointment
   - Envelope postmarked in the 30 days prior to your appointment (no window envelopes)
   - Letter from State or Federal Government agency dated in the 30 days prior to your appointment

☐ 2. Proof of Identity
   Check off the one picture ID that you will bring:
   - Driver’s license
   - Passport
   - Other government-issued ID
   - Military ID
   - School ID
   - Work ID

☐ 3. Provider Information Page
   This is the attached YELLOW form. You must have your CCDF eligible provider fill it out even if you are keeping the same provider. Bring this form the next time you visit your provider.

☐ 4. Proof of Work or School
   Check off all of the situations that apply to you and what you need to bring.
   - Do you go to school or attend training?
     BRING A CURRENT SCHEDULE that shows your name, school name, credit hours taken and/or hours of participation, and semester dates or begin and end dates, if applicable.
   - Do you work?
     BRING PAY STUBS for all of your jobs for the 30 days prior to your appointment.
   - Do you have any other forms of income in the last 30 days, aside from work?
     BRING PROOF OF ALL OTHER INCOME, for example:
     - Unemployment printout (see Pg. 3 for instructions)
     - All benefit letters from the Social Security Administration
     - Current TANF benefit letter

Remember to bring your swipe card!

Helpful Hints

SCHEDULING OR GENERAL QUESTIONS
Can I reschedule my appointment, change my appointment to a different office location, or contact you with general questions?
Yes, call 1-866-287-2420 ext. 204 or email CCFscheduling@childrensbureau.org with your request.

FOSTER PARENT PROOF OF IDENTITY
I am a foster parent. Do I need to bring in anything extra?
Yes, you must bring in a Valid Foster Parent License that matches where you live AND verification the child is a ward of the State from a CPS caseworker, or current per diem documentation with child(ren)’s name on it.

PROVIDER INFORMATION FORM
I have not changed providers. Do I need to have my provider complete this form again?
Yes, you need to complete this form every time you reauthorize.

I am thinking about switching providers. Can I provide new information?
Yes, but the new provider must be eligible to accept CCDF vouchers. If you have questions, call:
• Indiana Association for Child Care Resource & Referral – 1-800-299-1627

Note: All Paths to Quality providers are eligible to accept CCDF vouchers.

I work for the provider where my child attends daycare. Is this okay?
Yes, but only if you work for a licensed center or registered ministry and you provide a statement signed by the provider stating that you do not take care of your own children. You must also sign this statement.

PROOF OF WORK, SCHOOL, OR OTHER INCOME
I am working, but I receive personal checks. Can I use those as proof of work?
Yes, but you must bring the fronts and backs of enough cancelled checks to show the 30 days of work prior to your appointment date. Cancelled checks are those that have been fully processed and cleared. Go to your financial institution to get your cancelled checks. You must also bring a wage detail form filled out by your employer.

I am starting a new job and do not have 30 days of employment history. Can I still reauthorize?
Yes, use the “New Job” form on Pg. 6.
We also accept a statement signed by your employer that shows the date hired and anticipated work hours per week. The statement must:
• Be printed on company letterhead
  OR
• Include the employer’s Tax Identification Number (EIN)
  OR
• Include the manager’s business card

I am receiving unemployment benefits. How do I get the printout?
Go to the following website: https://uplink.in.gov/CSS/CSSLogon.htm

Child Care

Oklahoma
DEFINE.

Oklahoma requires that families receiving child care subsidies document their continued eligibility periodically. Only about one-third of child care subsidy cases that are eligible for renewal each year in Oklahoma are renewed by the state’s deadline. This intervention was designed in partnership with the Oklahoma Department of Human Services to increase the number of clients who renew their child care subsidies on time.

DIAGNOSE & DESIGN.

The BIAS team identified four potential factors that could hinder on-time renewal rates: (1) the renewal process and deadline are unclear to clients; (2) clients face challenges submitting the required documentation; (3) the renewal deadline is not reinforced; and (4) the renewal process does not communicate a sense of urgency.

The team designed three interventions to improve outcomes: (1) a “provider intervention,” which gave child care providers more information about their clients’ renewal deadlines and prompted them to send reminders about and help clients with renewal; (2) a “client intervention,” which used early and clear communication to clarify the renewal process and continual reminders to parents; and (3) a “combined intervention,” which included both the client and provider interventions.

TEST & FINDINGS.

Clients were randomly assigned to one of four groups: (1) a provider-only group that did not receive the client intervention but whose providers received the provider intervention \( n = 2,261 \); (2) a client-only group that received the client intervention but whose providers did not receive the provider intervention \( n = 2,393 \); (3) a combined intervention group that received the client intervention and whose providers received the provider intervention \( n = 2,283 \); or (4) a control group that was not exposed to any intervention on either the client or provider side \( n = 2,411 \).

The provider intervention increased the client renewal rate before the renewal deadline to 36.7 percent, a statistically significant increase of 2.4 percentage points over the control group’s 34.4 percent, at an estimated cost of $1.10 per provider per month. The client intervention, which cost about $1.00 per client, did not appear to improve on-time renewal, but it may have helped clients renew by the end of a 30-day grace period following the renewal deadline. Clients receiving the intervention showed a statistically significant 2.4 percentage point increase in renewals by the end of this grace period. Combining the client and provider interventions did not appear to be more effective than either intervention alone.

CONCLUSION.

This study demonstrates that child care agencies can use behavioral insights to improve renewal process outcomes. The findings also suggest that behavioral strategies designed for staff and other service providers who work directly with clients sometimes produce greater impacts than focusing interventions directly on program participants. In this case, child care providers regularly interact with families at times when the benefits of the child care subsidy are likely to be most salient, making them a potentially powerful channel for improving child care subsidy system outcomes.

</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Note: If the lists you receive in future mailings do not include clients of one of these colors, this means that none of your clients fall into that category at that time.
Based on feedback we have received from child care providers, the Oklahoma Department of Human Services (DHS) is providing you with ongoing reminders about clients who are approaching the renewal deadlines. This is to help facilitate on-time renewal for child care benefits.

When your DHS clients do not complete their renewals on time, this can cause a delay in your payments, or even cause you to not receive payments for your services.

We have attached GREEN and/or YELLOW lists of clients coming up for renewal to this letter. Here is what you can do to help ensure you are paid on time:

<table>

</tbody>
</table>

Note: If the lists you received in this mailing do not include clients on either of these color coded lists, this means that none of your clients fall into that category at this time.

Instruct clients to call (877) 653-4798 if they have any questions about their case. If possible, provide access to a phone to do so.

Thank you for partnering with us on this new initiative.

Sincerely,

Child Care Subsidy Program Manager

Please see the back of this letter for an overview of how you can help in the renewal process.
DHS clients who receive subsidized child care are required to renew their benefits every 6 months. To renew, clients must access www.okdhslive.org and complete the online process. Clients must also submit supporting documentation that proves they are still eligible for benefits.

4 Easy Steps to Benefit Renewal – How Can You Help?

1. Remind clients to collect the documents that prove they are eligible.
   These documents include school, training, or work schedules, pay stubs, and documents that show other sources of income.
   For clients on the green list: Provide them with one of the envelopes enclosed in your initial packet and a reminder to collect these documents early. This will help to speed up the renewal process.

2. Direct clients to complete the renewal process at www.okdhslive.org.
   The renewal process requires clients to answer a set of questions.
   For clients on the yellow list: If you have a computer available to clients, please allow them to use it for easy access to the renewal website.

3. Direct clients to submit the documents that prove they are eligible.
   Clients can submit these documents in one of the following ways:
   a. Scan and upload to www.okdhslive.org
   b. Fax to (405) 325-7155
   c. Mail to OKDHS Live Customer Service Center, PO Box 2700, Norman, OK 73070
   d. Submit in person at a local county DHS Human Services Center
   For clients on the yellow list: If you have a fax machine or scanner available, please allow them to use it to submit their documents.

4. Remind clients to monitor the status of their renewal.
   For clients on the yellow list: After they complete the online process and submit the documents that prove they are eligible, remind them to monitor the status of their renewal at www.okdhslive.org.

If you have any questions about this process, please contact DHS at (877) 653-4784.
The following clients are coming up for renewal soon. In order to facilitate the renewal process, please do the following:

- Clients on the yellow list are coming up for renewal in the NEXT MONTH. Please direct them to www.okdhslive.org to complete the renewal process.
- Clients on the green list are coming up for renewal in TWO MONTHS. Please remind them to collect all of the necessary documentation in the envelope that you hand to them.

If either a green or yellow list is not printed below, you do not have any clients that fall into that category at this time.

Remember, please do not post these lists publicly as doing so would violate confidentiality.

Reminder Letter for Clients with Deadlines in 1-2 Months, Provider Intervention

[OKDHS logo and letterhead here]

Dear [name of contact(s) at provider],

Based on feedback we have received from providers, the Oklahoma Department of Human Services (DHS) is providing you with ongoing reminders about clients who are approaching the renewal deadlines to help facilitate on-time renewal for child care benefits.

This notice includes a RED list of your DHS clients whose benefits will end the last day of this month.

In Order to Ensure That You Do Not Lose Payments, Direct These Clients to Call DHS at (877) 653-4798 As Soon As Possible.

If you have any questions about this process, please contact DHS at (877) 653-4784.

Sincerely,

Child Care Subsidy Program Manager

Child Support

TEXAS
DEFINE.
When parents who owe child support are incarcerated, they have limited ability to make payments, which can lead to the accumulation of significant child support debt. In Texas, these parents can apply for a modification to their child support order, which may reduce the amount they owe. The Texas Office of the Attorney General (OAG) Child Support Division had previously mailed information about this option to parents, but less than a third of them applied for a modification. The goal of the BIAS intervention was to increase the number of incarcerated parents owing child support who applied for a modification.

DIAGNOSE & DESIGN.
In order to successfully apply for a modification, parents need to open and understand the letter from the OAG, fill out an application and get it notarized by the law librarian, and submit the application. Participation can drop off at every step of the way. The BIAS team focused on several key bottlenecks early in the process: parents may avoid materials from the agency, believing they contain negative information; may be overwhelmed by the complexity of the information; or may intend to respond but forget.

In order to address the identified bottlenecks, the team designed several changes to Texas's outreach. First, the OAG mailed a postcard to parents to increase their awareness about modifications, before they received the full packet of information. Second, the existing packet of information was drastically simplified and pre-populated with information the OAG had on file. Third, the OAG sent another postcard a few weeks after the packet was sent to remind those who had not yet responded.

TEST & FINDINGS.
Participants were randomly assigned to either the program group, which was sent the packet of behaviorally informed materials (n = 941), or to the control group, which was sent the standard OAG materials (n = 963).

The redesigned outreach increased the application completion rate to 38.7 percent, a statistically significant 11 percentage point increase over the control group's completion rate of 27.7 percent. The added behavioral components cost less than $2 per program group member.

CONCLUSION.
The redesigned materials produced a statistically significant increase in the number of completed applications at relatively low cost. Program administrators hope that this is an important first step in a causal chain hypothesized to increase the likelihood that, on release, formerly incarcerated parents will resume supporting their children financially. A later BIAS study in Washington was conducted to partially replicate and build upon these findings.

You Could Lower Your Child Support Payments!

We will send you important information soon on how you could lower your child support payments if your income has gone down due to incarceration.

For example, a parent with a monthly order of $300 could reduce the amount of child support owed by $3,600 in just one year.

In a few weeks we will send you everything you need to complete and submit an application.

Other parents have had courts lower their child support by $200 to $500 per month.

Completing the application is easy. You can do it during a brief meeting with the law librarian.

NOTE: These postcards were printed on blue paper to make them stand out from other mail.
Apply For a Lower Child Support Payment in Four Easy Steps

John Doe
TDCJ No. 12345678 / OAG No. 00000000
Pam Lychnie State Jail
Humble, TX 77390

Dear Mr. John Doe,

Did you know that you might be able to lower your monthly child support payment if your income has gone down due to incarceration?

Even though your child support order didn’t change automatically when you became incarcerated, you can request that a court consider lowering your order. Other parents have already gotten their monthly orders reduced to as low as zero! In your case, this could mean reducing the child support you owe by $3468 over one year.

FOUR SIMPLE STEPS

Here’s what you need to do to take advantage of this opportunity:

STEP ONE: Request a Meeting with the Law Librarian
Make an appointment with the law librarian.

STEP TWO: Review and Complete the Application
Complete the attached application. We’ve already started filling it in for you!

STEP THREE: Get it Notarized
During your meeting have the law librarian notarize your application.

STEP FOUR: Mail it Back
Mail the application back to us in the postage paid envelope provided in the packet.

As soon as we receive your application, our office will start the process of reviewing your case. Your child support debt grows every day you wait to modify your order – so act now!

Sincerely,

[OAG staff member’s name]
Incarcerated Parents Program Specialist
REQUEST TO MODIFY OR LOWER CHILD SUPPORT

Your monthly child support obligation (how much you are court ordered to pay) does not stop when you become incarcerated. You continue to owe child support whether you are able to pay or not.

If you want the court to consider lowering your child support, complete and mail these forms to the Office of the Attorney General Child Support Division. A postage-paid envelope is included for mailing.

Please initial the statement below if it is true for you.

☐ I CANNOT PAY my child support order while I am incarcerated. I would like my child support order to be reviewed for a modification. I have completed the attached Affidavit of Income and Assets.

Please read the following choices carefully and choose the one that most closely describes your situation. Check only one box.

☐ I have no contact with the other parent and/or don’t believe that she/he will agree to lower the child support amount.

☐ I have contact with the other parent and I believe she/he will agree to lower the current child support amount.

Please read carefully and write your initials on the line next to each statement to show that you read it.

☐ I understand that completing and submitting these forms DOES NOT guarantee that my child support will be lowered. The submitted forms will be used to review my child support case for modification.

☐ I understand that I cannot appear in court due to my incarceration, and that the notarized Affidavit of Income and Assets may be submitted into court evidence. Please note that if your affidavit is not notarized, your application is incomplete and it will be returned to you.

☐ I understand that if my request for a modification is granted, my current child support obligation may be lowered.

☐ I understand that I must contact the Attorney General’s Office Child Support Division within 30 days after my release from prison.

☐ I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of Texas that the foregoing is true and correct.

You Could Lower Your Child Support Payments!

Your child support debt gets bigger every month you don’t take action!

A PARENT WITH AN ORDER OF $350 PER MONTH COULD REDUCE HIS OR HER CHILD SUPPORT DEBT BY $4,200 IN ONE YEAR. MANY OTHER PARENTS IN TDCJ HAVE ALREADY HAD THEIR CHILD SUPPORT REDUCED.

A few weeks ago, we sent you a letter letting you know that you might be eligible to have your child support payments lowered if your income has gone down due to incarceration. We haven’t received your application, but you still have time to send it to us.

Make an appointment with the law librarian today, and complete the blue application we sent you. As soon as we receive your completed application, we’ll start reviewing your case to see if your support can be lowered.

Act now! You could lower your child support payments!

NOTE: These postcards were printed on blue paper to make them stand out from other mail.
Child Support

WASHINGTON
DEFINE.
When parents who owe child support are incarcerated, they have limited ability to make payments, which can lead to significant accumulation of child support debt. In Washington, these parents can apply for a modification to their child support order, which may reduce the amount they owe. However, the state does not have a systematic, agency-wide policy to inform incarcerated parents that they may be eligible for a modification. In collaboration with the Washington State Division of Child Support (DCS), this intervention aimed to increase the number of incarcerated parents owing child support who applied for and received modifications to their child support orders.

DIAGNOSE & DESIGN.
In order to successfully receive a modification, parents need to request the paperwork from DCS, fill out the application correctly, and submit the application to DCS. The BIAS team identified a few potential factors preventing a successful application: (1) parents may not know that a modification is possible; (2) parents may not understand the costs of inaction and thus consider the request for a modification a low priority; and (3) they may struggle to complete and submit the required paperwork, given the complexity of the forms and up-front costs in money and effort.

The team designed a sequence of behaviorally informed materials that provided incarcerated parents with a series of supports at different points in time to make them aware that they may be eligible for an order modification and to move them from intention to action. The materials included notifications and reminders through electronic messages, all the paperwork and a postage-paid return envelope needed to request a modification, and a tip sheet providing clear and succinct guidance on how to fill out the modification request.

TEST & FINDINGS.
Participants were randomly assigned to either the program group, which was sent the sequence of behaviorally informed materials (n = 411), or the control group, which continued receiving the status quo level of sporadic outreach (n = 416).

The intervention increased the percentage of parents requesting a modification from 9.4 percent to 41.3 percent, a statistically significant 31.9 percentage points. The intervention also resulted in a statistically significant 16 percentage point increase, from 2.3 percent to 18.3 percent, in the number of incarcerated parents actually receiving a modification to their child support orders within a three-month observation period. The estimated cost of sending the BIAS materials to the program group was $10.46 per program group member.

CONCLUSION.
The statistically significant impact on requests for modifications echoes the results of a prior BIAS child support study in Texas, which also found impacts on requests for modifications. Furthermore, it builds on those results by demonstrating that behaviorally informed messaging can also increase the percentage of parents who actually receive modifications to their child support orders.

SUBJECT: ACT NOW! INTERESTED IN POSSIBLY LOWERING YOUR MONTHLY CHILD SUPPORT PAYMENT?

Hello,

Are you interested in possibly lowering the amount of child support you owe each month? For example, your monthly support order could be lowered to $50 or less. That’s potentially hundreds to thousands of dollars of child support debt a year that you wouldn’t need to face when you’re released.

Other parents in prison have had their child support lowered by hundreds of dollars per month. Now it’s YOUR turn to take action.

1. Read this email—you’ve already done this
2. Get the application—it’s already on its way to you, check your mail
3. Complete the application—use the sheet included with the application to help you fill it out

You can respond to this email with any questions. Just use the prepaid stamp attached to this message.

I look forward to getting your application.

ACT NOW! Interested in Possibly Lowering Your Child Support Payment?

Hello,

A few days ago we sent you a JPAY message letting you know that you can ask to have your monthly child support lowered. The forms you need are already on their way, including information to help you fill them out.

Hundreds of parents in prison have already had their child support lowered. One parent told us, "If I hadn't asked for a change in my payment schedule I would have been over $30,000 in the hole when I got out. And on top of that I would still need to be making my monthly child support payment. Don't get buried in debt. Don't lose your driver's license."

Now it's YOUR turn to take action.

You can respond to the email with any questions. Just use the prepaid stamp attached to the message.

Child Support Payments Can Be Lowered!

Don’t let child support debt weigh you down!

All you have to do is fill out the forms and mail them back to DCS to have your case reviewed.

Forms need to have:

1. A signature every place that asks for it.
2. A date next to every signature.
3. It’s ok if you don’t know the answer to every question. For example, you can write “I don’t know” for anything you don’t know the answer to.

   Child’s Present Address or Whereabouts

   I DO NOT KNOW

4. If you don’t know the answer, just tell us why. For example you can write “I am incarcerated.”

SUBJECT LINE: ACT NOW! Submit your application to possibly lower your child support order

Hello,

We sent you a packet on [XXDATE] to help you apply to get your child support order possibly lowered. If you haven’t sent it in yet there’s still time. But remember that every month you don’t take action, your child support debt may get bigger.

We’ve already received applications from other parents in prison and have reduced some orders.

I look forward to seeing your application.

Child Support

CUYAHOGA COUNTY, OHIO
DEFINE.
For some parents who owe child support, a portion of their employment income is withheld automatically to cover part or all of those payments. But when income is not withheld, some parents do not make regular payments. The BIAS team, in partnership with the Cuyahoga County Office of Child Support Services (Cleveland, OH), evaluated four interventions designed to increase the percentage of parents who made a payment (among those whose income was not withheld), and to increase the dollar amount of total collections per parent.

DIAGNOSE & DESIGN.
The BIAS team confirmed that the diagnosis from the BIAS study in Franklin County also applied in Cuyahoga County. The major bottlenecks were: (1) parents may not be sent a reminder to pay; (2) if they are, they may not open or understand it; (3) they may decide not to pay; or (4) they may decide to pay but fail to budget well, forget to pay, or encounter other obstacles.

The team developed a variety of notices and text messages that incorporated behavioral insights.

TEST & FINDINGS.
The team conducted four random assignment evaluations, each lasting four or five months. First, parents without a cell phone number on file were either mailed a payment reminder notice (program group; n = 5,224) or continued to receive no reminder (control group; n = 5,180). Second, parents with cell phone numbers on file were sent text message reminders (program group; n = 3,156) or were mailed reminders (program group; n = 1,562), or received no reminder (control group; n = 1,604). The third evaluation targeted parents who were already being mailed monthly reminder notices. Parents were sent a new, behaviorally informed notice (program group; n = 4,668) or the state’s existing notice (control group; n = 4,649). In the fourth evaluation, parents with newly established child support orders were sent a behaviorally informed welcome letter and payment reminders (program group; n = 536) or the county’s existing materials (control group; n = 542).

In the first evaluation, reminders increased the number of parents who made a payment to 40.7 percent, a statistically significant increase of 2.4 percentage points over the control group’s 38.2 percent. In the second evaluation, text messages increased the number of parents who made a payment to 49.8 percent, a statistically significant increase of 2.5 percentage points over the control group’s 47.3 percent, and were just as effective as the more costly reminders. But there was no significant increase in total collections per parent for either evaluation, and the interventions in the third and fourth evaluations had no significant impacts. All the interventions were low cost.

CONCLUSION.
Low-cost reminders produced statistically significant increases in the percentage of parents making a child support payment, but the extra payment amounts were not statistically significant. There were no significant differences in impacts from using different reminders, although the optimal method may be text messages since they are the lowest cost. The findings reinforce those from the BIAS evaluation in Franklin County. While low-cost behavioral interventions such as reminders can improve some child support outcomes, more intensive interventions may be necessary to increase overall collections, perhaps because some parents have a limited ability to pay.

Your child support payment is due in 3 days. Pay on time to avoid penalties. Call us at XXX-XXX-XXXX if you can't pay in full. Thank you for supporting your child.
Child Support Welcome Letter, Round 4

Dear «Obligor_First_Name» «Obligor_Last_Name»: Welcome to the Cuyahoga County Job and Family Services, Office of Child Support Services (OCSS)! We look forward to working with you to make the child support process as easy as possible.

Supporting Your Child

- Making regular, on-time payments will provide «Child_Name» with greater stability. If you miss a payment, you will accumulate past due support, owe a higher monthly amount, and face possible penalties. This is why it is so important for you to make on-time payments starting now.
- We can link you to additional services such as parenting and job readiness programs and assistance with parenting time/visitation orders. Contact us or call 211 for more information about these services.

Important Message for Parents

NOW
- Make sure OCSS has your up-to-date employment information so income withholding can be arranged.
- Make your first payment using the included payment notice. Withholding may not start for 1-2 months.

IN 1-2 MONTHS
- Withholding paperwork is likely being processed. This typically takes 1-2 months.
- Continue to make your monthly payment using the notices or another method.

AFTER 2 MONTHS
- Look at your paystub to confirm withholding has begun. Contact OCSS if it has not.
- If you don’t have income withholding, continue to make payments using the notices or another method.

Child Support

FRANKLIN COUNTY, OHIO
DEFINE.

For some parents who owe child support, a portion of their employment income is withheld automatically to cover part or all of those payments. But among parents whose income is not withheld, some do not make regular payments. The BIAS team, in collaboration with the Franklin County Child Support Enforcement Agency (Columbus, OH), evaluated interventions that aimed to increase the percentage of parents who made a payment on their own (among those whose income was not withheld), and to increase the dollar amount of total collections per parent.

DIAGNOSE & DESIGN.

The BIAS team identified several major bottlenecks that were potentially limiting payments: (1) parents may not be sent a reminder to pay; (2) if they are, they may not open or understand the reminder; (3) they may decide not to pay; and (4) they may decide to pay but fail to budget effectively, forget to pay, or encounter other obstacles.

The team developed a variety of payment reminders that incorporated behavioral principles, including mailed notices and robocalls.

TEST & FINDINGS.

The team conducted two random assignment evaluations, of four months each. First, parents not already being sent reminders were split into five program groups, each given different combinations of reminders (total n = 13,095), and a control group that received no reminder (n = 2,620). The second evaluation targeted parents who were already being mailed monthly payment reminders. A new, behaviorally informed notice was sent to parents in a program group (n = 1,460), and the state’s existing notice was sent to parents in a control group (n = 9,261).

The reminders in the first evaluation, on average, increased the number of parents who made at least one payment to 51.5 percent, a statistically significant increase of 2.9 percentage points over the 48.5 percent rate of the control group. However, there was no significant increase in total collections per person, suggesting that these additional payments were small. There were also no significant differences in the effectiveness of the various reminders that were evaluated. In the second evaluation, the redesigned payment reminder notice did not significantly increase the number of parents paying or the dollar amount of payments, compared with the existing state reminder notice. All of the reminders were low cost.

CONCLUSION.

Low-cost reminders produced a statistically significant increase in the percentage of parents making a child support payment. However, the additional payment amounts were not statistically significant, perhaps because some parents have a limited ability to pay and as a result would need more intensive interventions. Each reminder produced a similarly sized impact, suggesting that the form of the reminder in this case had little or no effect. A later BIAS study in Cuyahoga County, OH, was conducted to partially replicate and build upon these findings.

Work Support

LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA — TANF
Work Support:
Los Angeles, California — TANF

DEFINE.
Some Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) recipients with young children in Los Angeles had previously been exempt from participating in the county’s welfare-to-work program but lost this exemption in 2013 when state policy changed. The Los Angeles County Department of Public Social Services began scheduling appointments with formerly exempt parents to reengage them in the program. The county made at least four attempts via mail and phone to contact participants and inform them of the new requirements before the appointment, but many participants were still not attending the scheduled mandatory appointment. The goal of the BIAS intervention was to increase the number of TANF recipients who reengaged in the county’s welfare-to-work program.

DIAGNOSE & DESIGN.
The team identified a number of barriers in the reengagement process: (1) reengagement notices may be complex and hard to understand; (2) recipients were used to receiving benefits without program participation requirements; (3) recipients may plan to attend a reengagement meeting and then forget or have trouble showing up for the meeting; (4) recipients may prioritize other needs; or (5) recipients may be concerned about succeeding in a program emphasizing work.

The team designed two different notices: one highlighted the losses participants might experience by not attending the reengagement appointment and the other highlighted the benefits they might receive by attending. Both notices also identically incorporated other behavioral techniques, including simplification, personalization, and implementation prompting. A sticky note with a personalized message to the participant was also attached to the notices.

TEST & FINDINGS.
Participants were randomly assigned to one of three groups: (1) a control group that received only the county’s standard outreach (n = 814); (2) a program group that received the notice emphasizing the benefits of attending, plus the standard outreach (n = 814); or (3) a program group that received the notice emphasizing potential losses, plus the standard outreach (n = 814).

The evaluation found that sending an additional behavioral message increased the percentage of program group members who engaged in the program within 30 days of their scheduled appointment to 29.2 percent, a statistically significant increase of 3.6 percentage points over the control group’s rate of 25.6 percent. This increase was largely driven by the notice that highlighted potential losses, which showed a statistically significant 4.4 percentage point increase in engagement at 30 days, while the notice emphasizing potential gains, when compared with the control condition, did not produce a statistically significant impact at 30 days. No impacts were found for either group after 60 and 90 days. The additional outreach cost less than $2 per person.

CONCLUSION.
This intervention was added to a fairly intensive campaign to increase engagement among the target population. Given that this was one additional piece of mail on top of at least four other attempts to reach participants and convey the importance of participating, it is notable that it helped participants to engage earlier than they would have otherwise. Further research with larger samples in different contexts is needed to explore whether “loss messaging” is consistently more effective than “gain messaging” in encouraging participants to engage in activities.

NEW YORK, NEW YORK — PAYCHECK PLUS
DEFINE.
The Paycheck Plus Demonstration is evaluating whether offering single New Yorkers an earnings supplement on top of the existing earned income tax credit improves their economic well-being and encourages employment. Demonstration participants were given an invitation and an offer of $50 to attend an optional informational meeting about Paycheck Plus. The BIAS interventions aimed to increase the number of participants who attended.

DIAGNOSE & DESIGN.
The BIAS team identified three potential bottlenecks affecting attendance: (1) participants may mistrust or not understand materials explaining the meeting; (2) they may understand but decide not to attend; or (3) they may decide to attend, but forget or have trouble getting to the meeting because of “hassle factors.”

The team designed messaging for meeting invitations and reminders that incorporated behavioral concepts including implementation prompting, loss aversion, prominent deadlines, simplification, and the endowed progress effect (when people feel they have made progress toward their goals, they are more committed to achieving those goals). After the first round of meetings, the team designed a version of the informational meeting that could be delivered over the phone.

TEST & FINDINGS.
The team evaluated these interventions in two rounds. In Round 1, participants were randomly assigned to four groups: a control group that only received postcards with standard (not behavioral) messaging (n = 756); a program group that received postcards and text messages with standard messaging (n = 745); a program group that only received postcards with behavioral messaging (n = 740); and a program group that received postcards and text messages with behavioral messaging (n = 737).

Round 2 included participants who did not attend a meeting during Round 1. All participants in Round 2 received behaviorally informed communications, but they were randomly assigned either to be invited to attend the meeting in person (n = 1,169) or to attend the meeting by phone (n = 1,162).

This round assessed whether changing the format of the meeting increased participation.

In the first evaluation, the combination of behavioral postcards and text messaging produced the biggest impact and increased meeting attendance by 12 percentage points, a statistically significant change from 16.5 percent to 28.5 percent, compared with the lightest-touch approach of sending standard postcards alone (the control group). Both behavioral messaging compared with standard messaging, and adding text messages compared with postcards alone, produced statistically significant increases. In Round 2, participants in the phone group responded to the marketing materials more quickly than those in the in-person group, but in the end there was no statistically significant difference in response rates between the groups.

CONCLUSION.
Behaviorally informed messaging produced a statistically significant increase in the percentage of participants who attended meetings in Round 1 and was most effective when a postcard was combined with text messaging. This finding reinforces the value of considering both the content and the delivery mode of outreach. The failure to find statistically significant impacts at the end of Round 2 when the meeting was offered by phone demonstrates the essential role of evaluation to determine the best ways of engaging various populations.
