Graduation rates are six-year rates for the 2011 cohort of first-time, full-time undergraduates. Pell grant recipients are students in the fall 2011 analysis cohort who received Pell at any time during the 2011-2012 academic year.

University of Maryland, Baltimore is excluded because it does not enroll first-time freshmen.

University of Maryland University College (UMUC) is excluded because it primarily serves the adult, part-time population. UMUC is included in statewide figures.

"College ready" are students who were assessed to need remediation in any area.

"Developmental completers" are students who were assessed to need remediation in at least one subject area and completed all required remedial coursework.

"Developmental non-completers" are students who were assessed to need remediation in at least one subject area and did not complete all required remedial coursework.

"Successful persisters" are students who, within four years after initial enrollment, have completed at least 30 credit hours with a GPA of 2.00 or better, have graduated and/or transferred, or are still enrolled at the institution.

Totals reflect summation of cohort data as reported by the colleges, and derived percentages based solely on the reporting institutions.

Note:

In FY 2016, the Maryland Community College Research Group adopted a standard reporting method for all institutions. Data since FY 2016 are based on dividing what a full-time student taking 30 credits in an academic year would pay on a "per credit" basis. Tuition and fee charges at some institutions may vary based upon a student's enrollment, so the actual "per-credit" tuition and fees for an individual student may vary slightly from these institutional data. Prior to FY 2016, institutions utilized different methods of incorporating fees into reporting of their tuition and fee data.
