Which Road Would You Choose?

Graduating from a four-year college is an important goal, but should it be the only goal?

The Nellie Mae Education Foundation is investigating this and other questions through our Pathways to Higher Learning initiative. We're exploring the creation of multiple pathways to a variety of postsecondary options, and examining how it may help learners achieve success in ways that work best for them. We're also focusing on reducing dropout rates by improving student retention. By exploring different routes to success, and by plugging the leaks in our educational pipeline, we hope to increase the likelihood that all learners reach their desired destination.

Aetna Student Health is helping me manage my health

Keep your students healthy so they can stay in school. Even with an ongoing health condition, students can reach their own level of good health. Our disease management program complements the services provided at your campus health services and can help your students:

- Identify the treatment and preventive care they need
- Understand and follow their doctor's treatment plan
- Better manage their ongoing conditions
- Make changes to reach their personal health goals
- Identify and manage their risks for other conditions
- Access information about conditions and lifestyle and receive support every step of the way.

LET UNCONVENTIONAL THINKING HELP YOU SUCCEED.

With more than 51 years of experience in the financial aid community, American Student Assistance® is the nation's first student loan guarantor. Since the beginning, we have remained focused on assisting students and families to successfully complete a program of student loan repayment.

COHORT DEFAULT RATE

ASA has achieved the lowest 2006 CDR among all national guarantors, proving once again that our default prevention methods work. Our rate of 1.4 percent is more than 70 percent lower than the national rate—which increased this year from 4.6 percent to 5.2 percent—and 40 percent lower than the next-best national guarantor.

Mount Ida College's new residence hall, set to open later this summer, was financed with a $26.8 million tax-exempt bond issue through HEFA. The college needed a quick and seamless transaction to complete the project, and HEFA helped to make that happen. Come September, this new energy-efficient dorm will provide housing and all the technology needs of the twenty-first century student.

HEFA, the Massachusetts Health and Educational Facilities Authority, is one of the largest issuers of tax-exempt revenue bonds in the country. Last year HEFA provided $1.2 billion in financing to higher education institutions for building projects, equipment, and other important capital needs. HEFA is fully self-funded and receives no taxpayer dollars. Our sole mission is to strengthen Massachusetts' important not-for-profit sector. Our results are proven by the savings we provide to institutions like Mount Ida College.

New England is the World's Destination for Higher Education

MICHAEL K. THOMAS

No place on earth has the dynamic relationship between education and prosperity been as well developed than in the tiny but brainy corner of the United States called New England.

It's New England where world-class and up-and-coming colleges alike prepare students for occupations that may not have existed when those students first stepped on campus, where university research labs spin off new companies and whole new industries, and where vibrant campuses energize host cities and villages.

New England is where American higher education began and where students and leaders from around the globe continue to look for opportunity, creativity, innovation and direction. Many of the visitors who travel to New England arrive knowing just a handful of famous New England colleges and universities, but leave awed by the breadth of the region's higher education offerings and with a new understanding of the relationship between education and quality of life. Indeed, it is the diversity of New England's 270-plus campuses—public and private, two-year and four-year, religious and secular, professional and liberal arts—that makes the region truly world-class.

The New England Association of Schools and Colleges reveals that the region's campuses:

- Educate 887,000 students annually from around the globe, sending them forth as teachers, skilled medical technicians, entrepreneurs, engineers, poets and future Nobel laureates;
- Contribute nearly $100 billion annually in economic impact;
- Accounts for $28.7 billion in direct expenditures annually;

- Generate more than $9.5 billion in collective revenue, topping many of the region's largest companies;

- Employ more than 187,000 people (greater than the number of current New England doctors, police officers, construction laborers, dentists, pharmacists and computer programmers combined).

In addition, the New England region completed more than $1 billion worth of construction in 2007, according to the 2008 Annual College Construction Report. This included $556 million in new construction, $235 million in additions to existing buildings and $228 million in renovation/retrofitting existing buildings.

In short, higher education is a critical engine that drives our interconnected regional, national and global economies. If New England is to provide a ladder to success for its own people and the world, the colleges and universities in this directory must innovate and collaborate.

Collaboration and innovation are the primary roles of the New England Board of Higher Education. Created in 1955, the mission of NEBHE is to expand, through collaboration, the education opportunities and services available to the residents of New England. NEBHE accomplishes this mission through programs and services focused on cost savings, affordability and college access and success.

One excellent example is NEBHE's tuition-saving Regional Student Program. This "Tuition Break" program provides a discount on the out-of-state tuition students pay at public colleges and universities in the other New England states if they pursue approved majors that are not offered by the public campuses in their home state. Since it was established in 1957, this NEBHE program has provided New England students and families with significant savings on more than 200,000 annual college tuition bills. And the six states have saved untold millions of dollars by avoiding duplication of programs already available in other New England states.

NEBHE also provides policy leadership on issues related to education and the economy. NEBHE's NEW ENGLAND JOURNAL OF HIGHER EDUCATION offers leaders a forum to share best practices and current thinking on key higher education issues. The online NEJHE's Newslink provides news, events and comings and goings from the region's campuses and beyond.

We trust you will find this edition of NEJHE's Annual Directory of New England Colleges and Universities to be invaluable in connecting you with the region's vast academic expertise and the countless education programs that open doors for continued learning, postsecondary certificates and degrees, career advancement and intellectual enrichment.

With such a rich variety of institutions, people and opportunities, it's no wonder New England is the world's destination for higher education.

NEW ENGLAND BOARD OF HIGHER EDUCATION— Six States, Countless Opportunities for College

The New England Board of Higher Education (NEBHE) was founded in 1955, when six visionary New England governors realized that the future prosperity of the region rested upon higher education—and that their six small states could do more working together than working alone. The six committed their states to the shared pursuit of academic excellence. Soon thereafter, NEBHE was approved by all of New England's state legislatures and authorized by the U.S. Congress. Today, New England's future is inextricably linked to the innovation emanating from the region's approximately 270 colleges and universities and the intellectual potential of its people. NEBHE's capacity to expand educational opportunity and strengthen the relationship between higher education and the region's economic and civic development is more critical than ever.

NEBHE Programs

NEBHE's Regional Student Program (RSP) Tuition Break helps New England residents when they enroll in approved degree programs at out-of-state public colleges and universities in Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Vermont. The 50-year-old program has provided New England residents with discounts on more than 200,000 annual tuition bills.

In academic year 2007-08, nearly 8,000 New England students went to college through the RSP Tuition Break and saved $45 million on their annual tuition bills. Full-time students enrolled in the RSP Tuition Break program saved an average of $7,000 each on their annual tuition bills. All of New England's public colleges and universities participate in the RSP Tuition Break Program.

In addition to helping New England students and families pay for college, the RSP Tuition Break enables the New England states to avoid spending billions of dollars in capital and operating expenditures for academic programs already offered in other New England states.

For more information, see www.nebhe.org/tuitionbreak

Get Ready ... College Ready New England

The New England states boast one of the world's largest concentrations of postsecondary institutions and rank high in levels of educational attainment. Yet increasing numbers of New Englanders, many of them immigrants or minorities, fail to complete high school and pursue postsecondary education.

NEBHE's College Ready New England initiative is focused on helping the six states develop strategies to increase the economic competitiveness and well-being of the region and its residents through expanded college participation and success.

Its mission is two-fold: to ensure that all New England's students leave high school well-prepared for postsecondary success and to improve college attendance and completion rates—particularly for underserved and underrepresented populations, including low-income and minority students and first-generation college-goers.

College Ready New England functions as a regional network through which the six-states share resources, best practices, cutting-edge policies, program innovations and research.

For more information, see www.nebhe.org/crne

The mission of the New England Board of Higher Education is to promote greater educational opportunities and services for the residents of New England.

Readiness, Access and Success

Critical Analysis, Expert Commentaries, Tomorrow's News ... THE NEW ENGLAND JOURNAL OF HIGHER EDUCATION

For more than two decades, CONNECTION: THE JOURNAL OF THE NEW ENGLAND BOARD OF HIGHER EDUCATION provided a forum for educators, elected officials, CEOs and others to share new thinking and best practices on topics ranging from college access and affordability to “town-gown” relations to New England’s changing demography. In 2007 CONNECTION was rebranded as THE NEW ENGLAND JOURNAL OF HIGHER EDUCATION—America’s only regional journal on higher education.

Each quarter, THE NEW ENGLAND JOURNAL OF HIGHER EDUCATION features expert commentaries and analysis on key issues in higher education and economic development. Articles explore topics ranging from the education of America’s future engineers to immigration in the global economy to new measures of learning. Our authors include national leaders such as Ted Kennedy ... noted educational commentators like Century Foundation senior fellow Richard Kahlenberg and College Board economist Sandy Baum ... and gadflies including higher education analyst Cliff Adelman and author Peter Sacks.

THE NEW ENGLAND JOURNAL OF HIGHER EDUCATION’s annual “Trends and Indicators” issue features a rich collection of figures and expert perspectives on trends in enrollment, financing of higher education, student aid, research and development and more.

The journal’s “Annual Directory of New England Colleges and Universities” provides vital information on each of New England’s colleges and universities, including data on enrollment, tuition, fees, room and board charges and campus employment.

Journal subscribers also receive NEJHE’s Newstink—a biweekly email bulletin of news, events, comings and goings and important deadlines from New England campuses and beyond.

To subscribe to THE NEW ENGLAND JOURNAL OF HIGHER EDUCATION, enroll as a Friend of NEBHE at www.nebhe.org/friends.

NEBHE’s STEM Initiatives

New England’s job market demands skills in science, technology, engineering and math (STEM). NEBHE develops curriculum and teaches teachers about emerging technology fields with support from the Advanced Technological Education program of the National Science Foundation and industry associations.

NEBHE’s PHOTON projects prepare high school and college science and technology educators to introduce students to the field of photonics. Photonics—the practical application of light and optics—is one of the most pervasive new technologies of the 21st century. As this technology weaves itself through the fabric of our economy, the demand for highly skilled scientists and photonics technicians and engineers will continue to grow.

NEBHE’s newest project, PHOTON Problem Based Learning (PBL), is developing a series of eight photonics industry-based multimedia “Challenges” for use in high school, college and university classrooms. For more information visit:

www.nebhe.org/photonpbl

Honoring Excellence

The New England Higher Education Excellence Awards, established in 2003, recognize individuals and institutions that have made substantive contributions to improving higher education opportunities for New England students. Each spring hundreds of education, business and government leaders gather to honor award winners at the annual awards dinner. Four regional Excellence Awards are presented for lifetime achievement, trusteeship, leadership and program excellence. State Merit Awards are presented to individuals or organizations for higher education excellence within each of the New England states.

For more information, see www.nebhe.org/excellence

More from NEBHE

Regional Conferences bring together hundreds of opinion leaders and practitioners for focused and insightful programs on critical education issues. These events regularly feature addresses by national and international authorities as well as opportunities for networking. NEBHE’s event calendar is online at www.nebhe.org.

International Exchange Programs offer affordable study-abroad opportunities at colleges and universities in Quebec and Nova Scotia.

Join New England leaders of education, business and government for two exciting events on getting students *College Ready.

Bridging the Gap to Promote High School & College Alignment

Thursday, January 29, 2009
Beechwood Hotel in Worcester, Massachusetts

This conference will aim to supplement the ongoing conversation of “college readiness” to identify key partnerships and best practices between higher education institutions and K-12 throughout New England. Experts in the field will share deliberate actions leaders in both “segments” are taking in an effort to reduce mediation, and formalize curriculum and assessment alignment to create seamless transitions to college and career.

Innovation Lab: College Ready New England Annual Conference

Friday, March 27, 2009
Campus Center at the University of Massachusetts Boston

In this highly interactive “laboratory” of innovations and best practices, regional and national experts will showcase model programs and leading strategies to increase college readiness and attainment for underrepresented students. Throughout the day, participants will have the opportunity to visit model programs and speak with exhibitors in a “market-style” sharing of college readiness strategies.

The New England Regional Student Program (RSP), established in 1958 by the New England Board of Higher Education (NEBHE), provides a significant tuition break to New England residents when they pursue approved majors at out-of-state public colleges and universities in the region.

Over the last 50 years the RSP has saved New England residents an estimated $1 billion on more than 200,000 annual tuition bills. The RSP has also helped the individual New England states avoid spending billions of dollars in capital and operating expenditures for academic programs already offered in other New England states.

Over 700 Degree Programs at 82 Public Institutions in New England

All of New England's 82 public two-year and four-year colleges and universities participate in the RSP. They offer more than 700 undergraduate and graduate degree programs with the tuition break to eligible New England residents. The approved programs are available in all fields of study, including art, business, communications, education, engineering, health professions, languages, legal studies, natural resources and the sciences.

Eligibility for the Tuition Break

New England residents are eligible for the RSP Tuition Break when enrolled at out-of-state New England public colleges or universities in approved degree programs – programs not offered by public institutions in their home state. In some cases students are also eligible if an out-of-state college is closer to home.

Eligibility is explained in detail in the annual RSP catalog and online at www.nebhe.org/tuitionbreak.

A Discount on Out-of-State Tuition

The RSP Tuition Break allows eligible students to pay a regional rate, which is significantly less than the regular out-of-state tuition rate. The RSP rate is based on a percentage (up to 175 percent) of the college's in-state rate.

Example
In-State Tuition =	$3,000
Out-of-State Tuition =	$12,000
RSP Tuition =	$5,250
Tuition Break Savings =	$6,750

FAQ

Is the RSP Tuition Break for New England only?

Yes. The program is only for permanent New England residents attending out-of-state public colleges and universities in the six New England states—Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Vermont.

How much of a discount is the RSP Tuition Break?

The Tuition Break allows an eligible student to pay a regional rate, which is significantly less than out-of-state tuition. The rate is based on a percentage (up to 175 percent) of the out-of-state college's in-state rate. Example: In-state tuition = $3,000; Out-of-state tuition = $12,000; Regional tuition = $5,250 (discount of $6,750).

Is the RSP Tuition Break a scholarship?

No. It is a discount on the regular out-of-state tuition rate that a student pays when attending a state college or university in another New England state.

How does a student qualify for the RSP Tuition Break?

As a permanent resident of a New England state, a student is eligible for the RSP Tuition Break when enrolled in an approved degree program offered by a specific public college or university in another New England state. Approved majors (associate, bachelor's and graduate) for residents of each New England state are listed at www.nebhe.org/tuition-break. For a list of programs, search our online database of programs or download the annual catalog.

How does a student apply for the RSP Tuition Break?

A student must declare an approved Tuition Break major that is offered by that college and indicate, "applying for NEBHE RSP Tuition Break" on the college's application for admission.

Is a student in the RSP Tuition Break program eligible to apply for financial aid?

Yes. A student should complete the FAFSA federal application and any financial aid applications required by the college(s). For more information, check Financial Aid Resources on page 18.

If an out-of-state college is closer to a student's permanent home, is the student eligible for the RSP Tuition Break?

Sometimes. A student who lives closer to an out-of-state college than an in-state college offering the same program, is eligible for the RSP Tuition Break in some cases. Most community colleges (and some four-year campuses) allow this eligibility. Refer to RSP Policies: Proximity Policy for details at www.nebhe.org/tuitionbreak and contact an RSP campus representative to find out if a particular college allows this eligibility.

Are graduate programs available with the RSP Tuition Break?

Yes. Hundreds of approved master's, doctoral and graduate certificate programs are available. In certain cases, graduate students may petition for eligibility for other unique programs. Refer to RSP Policies: Highly Specialized Graduate programs. Details are available at www.nebhe.org/tuitionbreak.

Financial Aid Resources for New England College Students

Meeting College Costs Using Financial Aid

Wendy A. Lindsay

At least half of all students receive financial aid to help pay for college, which costs on average about $19,000 a year for a student attending a public college in state or double that for a private college (according to College Board 2007-08 data).

What are students expected to pay each year towards their college expenses? Colleges make that determination based on personal finance information provided by students and their parents on their financial aid applications.

For starters, students (and parents of dependent students*) need to complete the federal government's FAFSA (Free Application for Federal Student Aid) to be considered for most kinds of financial aid, including loans. Students also need to complete additional financial aid application forms required by the colleges they wish to attend.

The FAFSA asks students (and parents of dependent students*) to report family income, assets and benefits, and other information such as size of family and number of family members in college. Based on this information, the federal government calculates a student's Expected Family Contribution (EFC) and reports the EFC to colleges listed by the student on the FAFSA and on a Student Aid Report provided to the student.

Colleges often use additional criteria to determine a student's EFC based on the other applications they require. The colleges identify the student's eligibility for financial aid by subtracting the EFC from the Cost of Attendance.

What is the Cost of Attendance? The colleges determine the estimated full cost of attendance for their students, which includes not only tuition, fees, room and board, or the costs of off-campus living, but also books and supplies, transportation and personal expenses.

Financial aid is available from four basic sources: the federal government, state government (see agencies listed on page 21), colleges and universities, and private sources (including foundations, community organizations and corporations).

Federal Aid

The federal government awards three major types of financial aid: Grants (gift aid, based on financial need); Work-Study (an award based on financial need, providing part-time employment arranged by the college); and Loans (borrowed money which must be repaid).

Grants

Federal Pell Grants and Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants (FSEOG) are awarded by the colleges to undergraduate students who are identified as eligible by the federal government, based on information provided in the FAFSA.

Work-Study

Work-study money is awarded by the colleges to students identified as eligible by the federal government, based on information provided in the FAFSA. The students earn the award amount through part-time employment provided or arranged by the college.

Federal Perkins Loans

Federal Perkins Loans are very low-interest loans administered by participating colleges for undergraduate, graduate and professional students with exceptional financial need who are enrolled part-time or full-time. Priority is given to Pell Grant recipients. Students repay their loan to the college where they received it.

Federal Stafford Loans

Federal Stafford Loans are for undergraduate, graduate and professional students enrolled at least half time. Students can borrow up to a maximum loan amount each year they are enrolled and pay back the loan after leaving college. Financial need is not a requirement, but loans are subsidized for students demonstrating financial need (the interest on their loan is forgiven while they are enrolled in college).

Federal PLUS Loans

Federal PLUS Loans are for parents of dependent* undergraduate students enrolled at least half time. The maximum amount to be borrowed equals the cost of attendance minus any other financial aid received by the student. Repayment generally begins within 60 days after the loan has been disbursed.

Where to Obtain Stafford and PLUS Loans

If the college participates as a lender in the William D. Ford Federal Direct Loan Program, students/parents borrow directly from the federal government by applying through the college's financial aid office. Otherwise, students/parents borrow from a bank, credit union or private lender that participates in the Federal Family Education Loan program (FFELP).

Consolidation Loans

Multiple Stafford or Plus loans can be combined into one loan for easier repayment. Information on Direct Loan consolidation is available from www.loanconsolidation.ed.gov or 800-557-7392. For FFELP consolidation, contact the lender or loan service agent.

Non-Federal Aid

Scholarship, grant and loan programs are administered by agencies, foundations and loan authorities in each New England state. (See detailed list starting on page 21.)

Scholarships and grants (gift aid) are awarded based on financial need and other criteria, such as academic and personal achievement, religious affiliation, ethnicity, memberships, hobbies or special interests. Scholarships and grants are offered by state financial aid agencies, colleges and universities, private businesses, foundations, community organizations, veterans' groups, etc. To research scholarship opportunities, conduct free searches online using sites such as www.fastweb.com (see other web site resources on pages 20 and 21). Also check with the colleges, high school guidance offices, public libraries, chambers of commerce and community organizations for scholarship directories and lists.

*Independent students report only their own income and assets (and their spouse's, if married). A student is considered independent if one of the following applies: Born before Jan. 1, 1985 (for 2008-09 academic year), married, enrolled in a graduate program (beyond bachelor's degree), has legal dependent(s), is an orphan or ward of the court, or a veteran of the U.S. Armed Forces.

CALCULATING ELIGIBILITY

Cost of Attendance

Tuition, fees, room and board, books and supplies, transportation, personal expenses.

Expected Family Contribution

Determined from the FAFSA and/or the College Board's Profile and any other financial aid application required by the college.

Eligibility for Financial Aid

The maximum amount of money students can expect to receive in financial aid.

FREE INFORMATION

Free financial aid information and free scholarship searches are readily available from several sources including the federal government, state financial aid agencies, college financial aid offices, high school guidance counselors, libraries and the Internet.

Watch out for scholarship scams! Explore all free sources before considering any private, fee-based scholarship service. Make sure a private service is reputable. Information is available from the Federal Trade Commission at www.ftc.gov or telephone 1-877-FTC-HELP.

MEET DEADLINES

Students need to check with the college financial aid office to find out which application forms are required and what the deadlines are. Financial aid applications must be completed on time, and early is better. Note: Students can apply for financial aid before they have been accepted by the colleges where they have applied for admission.

The FAFSA should be completed as soon as possible after January 1. Students and families can choose to estimate their income for the previous year and verify it later, instead of delaying their application until after filing taxes.

File the FAFSA electronically at www.fafsa.ed.gov. Obtain an electronic PIN to "sign" the FAFSA at www.pin.ed.gov.

A paper FAFSA is available from local libraries, high schools, colleges and from:

Expected Family Contribution (EFC) is determined by "federal methodology" and/or "institutional methodology."

Federal methodology is a calculation, according to a formula specified in federal law, of information provided in the FAFSA, based on the student's income and assets, and in the case of dependent students, also the parents' income, assets and number of dependents. Detailed information available at: www.ifap.ed.gov.

Institutional methodology is a calculation conducted by colleges and universities who require other financial aid applications.

FINANCIAL AID RESOURCES, CONTINUED

Other Ways to Meet College Costs

- Use a tuition payment plan arranged through the college's financial aid office.
- Get an out-of-state tuition break: The New England Board of Higher Education's Regional Student Program provides New England residents with a tuition break when they study approved majors at public colleges and universities in other New England states. Eligibility is explained at www.nebhe.org/tuitionbreak. Or call 617-357-9620.
- Participate in community service: Americorps is a national program that allows college-age students to earn education awards in return for national service. Visit www.americorps.gov or telephone 800-942-2677.
- Attend college half-time or part-time and take longer to complete a degree, but still remain eligible for some financial aid (attending at least half-time is required for federal Stafford and Plus loan programs).
- Attend a lower-cost, two-year community college then transfer to a four-year college to earn a bachelor's degree.
- Commute to college instead of living on campus.
- Work for a company or organization that provides tuition assistance.
- The U.S. Armed Forces offer various college financing options to students who meet eligibility requirements. Information is available at the U.S. Department of Defense's career guide site: www.myfuture.com.

How to Use NEJHE's

1. The higher education institutions listed in NEJHE's 2009 DIRECTORY OF NEW ENGLAND COLLEGES & UNIVERSITIES are authorized to grant academic degrees at certificate, associate, bachelor's, master's or doctoral levels. Colleges and universities are listed alphabetically by state with public institutions appearing first, followed by independent institutions. Independent institutions listed are nonprofit except for the following for-profit institutions: Briarwood College, Clemens College, Paier College of Art, Inc. and Post University in Connecticut; Andover College and Beal College in Maine; Bay State College, FINE Mortuary College, New England College of Finance, New England Institute of Art in Massachusetts; Hesser College in New Hampshire; and New England Culinary Institute in Vermont. Information in the institutional listings is derived from a New England Board of Higher Education (NEBHE) survey conducted in the fall and winter of 2008. Participation in NEBHE's survey is voluntary. Institutional respondents may elect not to supply all requested information.
2. Institutions generally provide their main telephone number, admissions office telephone number and email address, and the institution's main website address.
3. Institutions generally provide brief descriptions noting history and background, areas of distinction, types of programs offered, degrees awarded and whether the institution carries New England Association of Schools and Colleges (NEASC) accreditation. Most New England colleges and universities are accredited by NEASC, a regional accrediting body based in Bedford, Massachusetts. NEASC accreditation indicates that a college has purposes appropriate to higher education, has the necessary resources to achieve its stated purposes through educational programs, is substantially doing so, and gives reasonable evidence that it will continue to do so in the foreseeable future. Accreditation by NEASC applies to the institution as a whole; therefore it is not a guarantee of the quality of every course offered. Some New England institutions and/or their individual programs are accredited by other agencies. Those interested should contact the institution directly for further information.

2009 Directory

4. The NEBHE survey asks campuses to provide the names and titles of the following campus officials, if applicable to their institution: president or CEO, executive vice president, assistant to the president, chief academic officer, chief admissions officer, chief international recruitment officer, chief institutional research officer, chief business officer, chief public relations or communications officer, chief financial aid officer, dean of international students, dean of undergraduate programs, dean of graduate programs, dean of continuing education and dean of online learning. Listings are not intended to provide a comprehensive roster of officials at a given institution.
5. In a semester system, the academic year is divided into two equal units. In a trimester system, the year is divided into three units. In a quarter system, the year is divided into four units. Other calendar systems include 4-1-4, which features two terms of four months each and a one-month intersession intended for experimental or intensive study, and variations such as 4-4-1 or 4-1-4-1.
6. An institution's student body is classified as men for men only, women for women only or coed for men and women.
7. Degrees offered by an institution are classified by C for certificates, A for associate degrees, B for bachelor's degrees, M for master's degrees and D for doctorates.
8. Fields of Study—the survey asks campuses to indicate if academic programs in certain fields of study are available on their campus. Fields of study available at institutions offering programs at both the undergraduate and graduate levels are listed alphabetically with levels classified as U for undergraduate and G for graduate. In the case of institutions that are exclusively undergraduate or graduate-level, fields of study are listed alphabetically.
9. Listing indicates whether online courses and/or online degrees are offered. Hybrid refers to programs that combine traditional classroom and online instruction. Low-Residency refers to programs of study that combine short sessions on campus and online instruction.
10. The survey asks whether intensive English programs are available for international students.
11. Listings show the total number of full-time faculty and part-time faculty, in most cases as of Nov. 1, 2007. Faculty counts may include adjuncts.
12. Admissions—Fall application deadlines, early action or early decision application deadlines, application fees and required admissions exams are indicated. Information generally refers to undergraduate admissions unless an institution does not offer undergraduate programs. Generally listed admissions examinations are indicated as follows: ACT American College Testing Program, SAT Scholastic Aptitude Reasoning Test, SAT Subject Tests and TOEFL, the Test of English as a Foreign Language, required by most institutions for students for whom English is a second language.
13. Annual Costs—Tuition/Fees generally refers to annual tuition and mandatory fees, if reported, for a typical undergraduate (except in the case of institutions that enroll only graduate students). Institutions listing tuition per credit hour are footnoted as such. For public institutions, in-state tuition and mandatory fees are listed first; followed by out-of-state tuition and mandatory fees. Tuition and fees are current for the 2008-2009 academic year. Fees may include the cost of health insurance required by some institutions if students are not covered by comparable health insurance. Fees may also vary according to program of study. The figures listed do not include room and board charges unless otherwise indicated, most often referred to as Comprehensive Fee. Room & Board refers to average annual charges for students living on campus and participating in a standard meal plan (unless otherwise noted) during the 2008-2009 academic year.
14. Fall 2007 International Enrollment—figures are reported by institutions based on a headcount of full and part-time degree seeking and non-degree seeking international students enrolled in undergraduate and graduate degree programs.
15. Fall 2007 Enrollment—figures are reported by institutions based on a headcount of full and part-time degree seeking and non-degree seeking enrollment in undergraduate and graduate degree programs. These figures include international enrollment figures.
16. Footnotes—provide additional detail if needed.

Founded in 1876, the United States Coast Guard Academy has a proud tradition as one of the finest colleges in the country and is currently ranked among the best baccalaureate colleges in the region. Core values of honor, respect, and devotion to duty provide the bedrock for the Academy's goals to develop leaders of character, groom fleet ready ensigns, and create lifelong learners. Cadets build lasting friendships, study with inspiring teachers in small classes, and train aboard America's Tall Ship EAGLE and on the most sophisticated ships and aircraft available. We offer 23 varsity NCAA Division II sports. All graduates serve in the US Coast Guard upon graduation. Admission to Academy comes with a salary paid as a member of the Coast Guard. Accredited by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges.

300 Boston Post Road	ADM: 203/932-7319
West Haven, CT 06516	adminfo@newhaven.edu

Founded in 1920, the university offers more than 80 undergraduate degree programs and more than 25 graduate degree programs. Many degrees are available through part-time, evening, and executive programs. The university also offers more than fifty graduate and undergraduate certificates for those not ready to commit to a degree program. The university stands apart from other institutions of higher learning because of its commitment to the concept of experiential learning—bringing practice into the classroom to educate its students and show them the world ahead. With the skills we teach and the foundation we build, our students go on to excellent jobs in their field or to further study in business, law, education, and more. Accredited by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges.

Kennebec Valley Community College, one of seven colleges in the Maine Community College System, is a commuter school located on a sixty-four acre campus in central Maine. Organized in 1969 by the Maine Legislature, the first classes began there in 1970. KVCC has since become a leader in working with area employers to develop cutting-edge programs to meet the challenges of a changing local job market. Enrollment has grown to 2,184 full and part-time students for the fall of 2008. KVCC now offers continuing education courses, distance-learning opportunities, and has emerged as an affordable first-step to four-year colleges and universities. Accredited by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges.

Since its beginning in 1946 as the Maine Vocational Technical Institute in Augusta, Southern Maine Community College has had one basic guiding principle that to this day serves as its foundation—to provide quality education and, consequently, to strengthen Maine's economy by providing a highly trained and educated work force. In 1998, the college added the associate in arts degree, formalizing the trend for students to transfer to four-year colleges and universities to pursue a baccalaureate degree. The college has five major academic divisions: applied technology; arts and science; health science; information technology, mathematics and business; and public service. Accredited by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges.

The Colby experience is challenging and uplifting, enlightening and provocative, dynamic and focused. It is relationships between professors and students that transform both. Colby fosters intellectual and personal growth, with graduates emerging as conscientious, committed leaders ready to make a profound impact on their world. Through a rigorous academic program leading to bachelor's degrees, transformative relationships, and activities outside the classroom, students learn to embrace opportunities, to see connections across disciplines, and to regard education as a civic resource. Colby is international, and students develop a mature curiosity and an appetite for engaged global citizenship. A Colby education is distinctly inspired. Since its founding in 1969, College of the Atlantic has offered a curriculum with a conscience. Classes focus on understanding the relationships between humans and our environment—and improving those relationships through policy, art, science and other category-defying fields. We call this Human Ecology.<sup>1</sup> Classes are interdisciplinary, learning is hands-on and active, relationships are emphasized. Students are encouraged to go to the source and do their own creative thinking. Ultimately, students fashion their own course of study, combining classes in all fields with a dose of independent work, off-campus internships and a capstone project. Our intent is to make a difference. Accredited by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges.

New England Bible College<sup>1</sup> was founded in 1980 to train men and women for Christian ministry. Our graduates often pursue careers as local church pastors, missionaries, or with a variety of para-church organizations. Our small classes and high faculty to student ratio allow us to meet a variety of needs for both full and part-time students. Classes are offered in block schedule format to accommodate our largely commuter-based student body. Although a non-residential college, we help out-of-area students find accommodations.

Founded in 1894, Fitchburg State College is an institution of higher education that integrates an interdisciplinary, multicultural liberal arts and sciences core with all professional and arts and sciences majors. In 1997, the Board of Higher Education designated the college as the site of the Leadership Academy. The college emphasizes the importance of leadership studies, service learning, civic responsibilities, ethical development, and international education. It is this central theme that animates the mission statement: the establishment of a leadership honors program, extensive course work and extracurricular emphasis, and a commitment to exploring leadership for the twenty-first century. Accredited by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges.

Northern Essex Community College was founded in 1961 to meet the educational needs of the residents of the Merrimack Valley. It is a public, comprehensive community college that provides educational opportunities for interested members of the community—those pursuing traditional associate degrees and transfer to four-year institutions, those seeking career and technical training for certification of job competency, and those needing increased exposure to fundamental skill areas in order to overcome prior inadequate educational experiences or other barriers to higher education. The college's main campus is in Haverhill; its Lawrence campus consists of two buildings; and expansion of a third Lawrence site for an allied health and technology center is planned. The college also has a third site located in North Andover that is focused on workforce development and non-credit activity. Accredited by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges.

The mission of the University of Massachusetts Lowell is to enhance the intellectual, personal and cultural development of its students through excellent, affordable educational programs.

The university seeks to meet the needs of the Commonwealth today and into the future and supports the development of sustainable technologies and communities through its teaching, research, scholarship and engagement. The university began as the Lowell Normal School, founded in 1894 to prepare students to become teachers, and the Lowell Textile School, founded in 1895 to train technicians and managers for the textile industry. Over the next 75 years, both institutions extended their offerings to meet the growing needs of the region. Lowell State and Lowell Tech, as they were then known, merged in 1975 to form the University of Lowell. In 1991, the campus became part of the University of Massachusetts system. Accredited by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges.

Amherst College, founded in 1821, educates men and women of exceptional potential from all backgrounds so that they may seek, value, and advance knowledge, engage the world around them, and lead principled lives of consequence. The college brings together the most promising students, whatever their financial need, in order to promote diversity of experience and ideas within a purposefully small residential community. Working with faculty, staff, and administrators dedicated to intellectual freedom and the highest standards of instruction in the liberal arts, Amherst undergraduates assume substantial responsibility for undertaking inquiry and for shaping their education within and beyond the curriculum. Accredited by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges.

Blessed John XXIII National Seminary has long been acclaimed for offering a quality experience for men answering the call to priesthood in the Roman Catholic Church. The seminary is committed to its founding mission: the spiritual, academic and pastoral formation of candidates ranging between 30 and 60 years of age. Our unique institution, founded in 1964, remains the only American seminary for mature candidates that is administered by diocesan priests. During the 44-year history of Blessed John XXIII National Seminary, 120 dioceses and 21 religious orders have entrusted the formation of their candidates for priesthood to this seminary. Over 500 of our alumni serve throughout the world. Accredited by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges.

950 Metropolitan Avenue	ADM: 617/364-3510
Boston, MA 02136	kfox@boston.edu

Boston Baptist College is a distinctively Biblical training center located in a quiet residential neighborhood just seven miles from the heart of downtown Boston—America's greatest university city. Boston Baptist College (originally Baptist Bible Institute East and later Baptist Bible College East) was established in Shrub Oak, New York, in 1976. The five-acre campus is just minutes away from world renowned educational and cultural facilities, and yet is a quiet and attractive contrast to the rush of city life. The diverse natural beauty of New England's rocky Atlantic coastline, as well as the picturesque mountains just a short drive away, offers an unparalleled location for ministry preparation.

www.bc.edu	617/552-8000
140 Commonwealth Avenue	ADM: 617/552-3100
Chestnut Hill, MA 02467	ugadmis@bc.edu

Founded in 1863, Boston College commits itself to the highest standards of teaching and research in undergraduate, graduate, and professional programs and to the pursuit of a just society. As a Catholic and Jesuit university, it is rooted in a world view that encounters God in all creation and human activity, especially in the search for truth in every discipline and in the call to live justly together. Boston College pursues this distinctive mission by serving society in three ways: by fostering the rigorous intellectual development and the religious, ethical, and personal formation of its undergraduate, graduate, and professional students in order to prepare them for citizenship, service, and leadership in a global society; by producing nationally and internationally significant research that advances understanding, thereby enriching culture and addressing important societal needs; and by committing itself to advance the dialogue between religious belief and other formative elements of culture. Accredited by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges.

Dean College was founded as Dean Academy in 1865 as a preparatory school to send its graduates to Tufts University and other colleges in New England. The junior college and college curriculums evolved during the 1940's to the 1990's. The academic programs focus on liberal arts with associate degrees and two bachelor's degrees awarded in dance and arts & entertainment management. Most students live on the three city-block campus, using 25 buildings and an athletic complex. Dean's ability to integrate learning support to enhance the curriculum is often cited as making a life changing difference in the lives of its students. Accredited by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges.

Episcopal Divinity School is a respected center of study and spiritual formation. EDS, formed in 1974 with the merger of Philadelphia Divinity School (founded in 1857) and Episcopal Theological School (founded in 1867), offers doctor of ministry and master's degrees, as well as certificates in theological studies. Located on an eight-acre campus just a few blocks from Harvard Yard, EDS is a member of the Boston Theological Institute. The purpose of Episcopal Divinity School is to educate lay and ordained leaders for Christ's Church and for the world, who serve and advance God's mission of justice, compassion, and reconciliation. A seminary for the Episcopal Church, USA, Episcopal Divinity School is grounded in the Anglican tradition and committed to growing in relationship with other Christian and faith traditions. Episcopal Divinity School is an academic community of biblical, historical, and theological inquiry that respects students as responsible learners with valuable experience, supports spiritual and ministerial formation, and provides tools for the lifelong work of social and personal transformation.

South Hamilton, MA 01982

Gordon-Conwell Theological Seminary, founded in 1884, is a multi-denominational, educational institution serving the Lord and his Church. Our mission is to prepare men and women for ministry at home and abroad. The seminary undertakes this task as a training partner with the Church so that what is learned on campus may be complemented by the spiritual nurture and the exercise of ministry available through our mentoring programs in the Church. Those who work and study at Gordon-Conwell are united in the common belief that the abiding truth of God's written Word and the centrality of Christ's saving work are foundational to the seminary's mission. These principles structure the seminary's life and values, inform its curriculum and activities, and determine the evangelical perspective in which it sees its responsibilities in preparing students for ministry in the modern world. 36 1st Avenue ADM: 617/726-8439
Boston, MA 02129-4557 admissions@mghihp.edu

The MGH Institute was created over a quarter of a century ago to address the need for master clinicians, leaders in the health care professions molded by the integration of theory and clinical practice in an interdisciplinary environment. The Massachusetts General Hospital commitment to world-class patient care, education and research has long extended beyond their affiliation with the Harvard Medical School into the broader scope of other health professions. The MGH renamed its original educational division as the MGH Institute of Health Professions in 1980 and the first students were admitted. The first degree, a Master of Science in Physical Therapy, was granted in 1983. In 1982, the Institute admitted students to the direct-entry master's program in nursing, one of the first to enroll baccalaureate prepared individuals with no prior experience or education in nursing. Accredited by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges.

Montserrat College of Art was founded by practicing artists in the 1970's who, in establishing a school for professional visual arts education, were also committed to inspiring all emerging artists and fostering an appreciation of the arts in the larger community. They believed that involvement in the arts inspires creativity that transforms lives on every level. Today's mission reflects their ideals: "Montserrat College of Art provides an intensive visual arts education that enables students to sustain a lifelong involvement in art and design and to become informed, responsible members of society... Montserrat is committed to contributing to the cultural life of its surrounding communities." The vision of Montserrat College of Art is to be recognized as the nation's premier independent, small art college. Accredited by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges.

The New England School of Acupuncture (NESA) was founded in 1975 and is the oldest college of Oriental medicine in the United States. NESA's master's degree programs in acupuncture and acupuncture with Chinese herbal medicine, are taught by experienced practitioners, emphasize hands-on clinical instruction and include an extensive clinical internship. NESA also offers the first joint-program in pain management with Tufts University School of Medicine. The programs give students the tools they need to become skilled and caring practitioners, and the credentials necessary for licensure at the state level. During clinical internship, students treat patients under close supervision in the NESA teaching clinic and at satellite clinics, including hospital-affiliated clinics and community health centers. The rich clinical experience offered at NESA prepares students to treat a diverse patient population and a variety of conditions.

School of The Museum of Fine Arts

 230 The Fenway ADM: 800/643-6087
 Boston, MA 02115 admissions@smfa.edu

Located in Boston's Fenway cultural district, the School of the Museum of Fine Arts (founded 1876), is a unique institution, dedicated to educating artists and focused on fostering creative investigation, risk-taking, and individual vision. We do this by emphasizing studio practice and by offering students an unusual amount of freedom in their coursework. The mission of the school is to provide an education in the fine arts for undergraduate and graduate artists—inexperienced and advanced artists of widely ranging age groupings — that is interdisciplinary, self-directed, always evolving. The school has special features: it values cultural, artistic, and intellectual diversity; it must include a wide range of media; it stresses the development of individual vision; it values art making more than adherence to curricular rules; it stays deeply in touch with the external world of art. If the mission is constant, its practice is always emerging.

WPI was founded in 1865 to create and convey the latest science and engineering knowledge in ways that would be most useful to the society from which its students came. WPI educates talented men and women in engineering, science, management, and humanities in preparation for careers of professional practice, civic contribution, and leadership, facilitated by active lifelong learning. This educational process is true to the founders' directive to create, to discover, and to convey knowledge at the frontiers of academic inquiry for the betterment of society. Knowledge is created and discovered in the scholarly activities of faculty and students ranging across educational methodology, professional practice, and basic research. Knowledge is conveyed through scholarly publication and instruction. Accredited by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges.

We're not only proud of our history, we're making it.

In New England, we are the only public institution that offers a Bachelor of Science degree in Regional Planning, are one of the largest producers of new teachers and now offer a Master's of Public Administration with concentrations in either Regional Planning, Criminal Justice, or Nonprofit Administration.

We are a comprehensive residential liberal arts college of 5,000 students. See what else we've been up to since 1838 by visiting www.wsc.ma.edu.

Introducing NHTransfer.org Connecting New Hampshire's Colleges and Universities

www.nhtransfer.org is a free online database enabling prospective and current students to obtain detailed information about transferring between participating two- and four-year colleges and universities. The database provides an accurate and current profile of the transfer credit practices among the seven New Hampshire community colleges, the four USNH institutions (University of New Hampshire, Plymouth State University, Keene State College, and Granite State College), and two private institutions (Southern New Hampshire University and Franklin Pierce University).

This new service can be accessed for free at www.NHTransfer.org

Chester College is situated in Chester, New Hampshire, a beautiful New England town that offers the aspiring artist a variety of natural landscapes as well as easy access to the seacoast and vibrant metropolitan cities such as Boston and Manchester, N.H. Our faculty are practicing poets, reporters, authors, and editors who pass on to students the benefits of their extensive experience in the field. Class size is limited to be certain our students get the faculty contact and personal attention they need to be successful. Our students are not in lecture halls of 200, but in classrooms of 10 or 12—a setting where individual attention and learning are the rule, not the exception. Accredited by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges.

THERE'S NOT ENOUGH ART IN OUR SCHOOLS.

NO WONDER PEOPLE THINK
CARAVAGGIO
IS A GUY ON THE SOPRANOS.

It's hard to believe. Here's a 16th-century Baroque master whose bold naturalistic painting style first created a sensation, then a movement. A guy whose life was filled with the turbulence and excess of more than a dozen Mario Puzo novels.

This guy who, while troubled, ultimately found redemption and immortality in his art. But does the average kid on the street even know who Caravaggio is?

Fuhgedaboutit.

Too bad. Especially when you consider how much our children can learn from the conflicted life of a great artist like Michelangelo Caravaggio.

He grew up in less than ideal circumstances. Most of his family died in the plague. Much of his youth was misspent on the mean streets of Rome. And as a young artist he struggled for years to make a living. He was angry. Yet the angry contrast between light and darkness in his work is the very reason why it now hangs in countless museums around the world.

If nothing else, it's a case study of the importance of having art as an outlet. Unfortunately, one we're fast removing from our kids' lives.

If the arts are indeed a vital part of your child's education (and studies show you believe they are), then you should demand his or her fair share. To find out how to help, or for more information about the benefits of arts education, please visit us at AmericansForTheArts.org. Because, as Caravaggio would tell you, life without art is torture.

ART. ASK FOR MORE.

Lyndon State College, founded in 1911, has a rich history. From the one-year Normal School to Lyndon Teachers College to the current 1,400 student Lyndon State College, the focus has remained not only on the academic dimension of the student, but also on the total experiential growth of the student. From our education major that services the public education communities throughout Vermont and our neighboring New England states, to the nationally recognized meteorology, television studies and recreation programs, the primary focus is the success of the individual student while attending this small, comprehensive liberal arts college in the great Northeast Kingdom of Vermont.
